U. S. Ships Aid Greek Quake Rescue Work

Panic Grips Survivors; 1,000 Feared Dead

ATHENS, Greece, Aug. 13 (AP)—Three idyllic Ionia islands looked like a hell on earth today. Americans and Britons toiled beside Greeks to relieve the effects of five days of earthquakes that have left hundreds dead, hundreds injured and almost all the 120,000 survivors homeless.

The death toll, by observers' reckoning, may be more than 1,000.

Violent new shocks accompanied by fires and landslides ripped at the three small islands tonight adding to the toll from the worst disaster in this area's history.

U. S. officials on Kefallinia, largest of the stricken group, notified the U. S. Embassy in Athens that there are 400 known dead in the island's two biggest towns, Argostolion and Lexourion, and countless others are buried under the debris.

Cliffs Slide Into Sea

The fire-charred ruins of those two towns represent but a fragment of the desolation spread across Kefallinia and the neighboring islands of Ithaca and Zakinthos.

Pillars of awesome smoke and the dust of landslides rose hundreds of feet in the air. Cliffs crumbled and slid into the sea. Terror-stricken inhabitants, many thousands of them without food or water, huddled in the hills.

Fires had completed the destruction that the quakes wrought in Zakinthos, a city of 15,000 on the island of Zakinthos, and Argostolion, with a population of 10,000, the chief port of Kefallinia.

U. S., British and Greek ships and planes rushed rescue work. Hundreds of injured were brought to hospitals in Patrai, the nearest large Greek city.

Survivors In Panic

U. S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg, Germany, released 6,000 pounds of blood plasma for the relief work.

The U. S. cruiser Salem, flagship of the U. S. 7th Fleet, raced from Naples around the toe of Italy to the disaster area with relief supplies and radioed naval headquarters in London upon arrival:

"All villages on the island of Kefallinia leveled except for reinforced concrete construction, which shows serious cracks.

"People in panic and fear island will sink. They refuse to enter buildings to obtain available equipment and are gathered in groups near each town."

All three U. S. missions to Greece—diplomatic, economic and military—were ordered "to put aside all other work" and concentrate all efforts on plans to assist the greek government and Red Cross in coping with the disaster.

U. S. And Britain Split On Seating India At Parley

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y., Aug. 13 (AP)—The United States brought out into the open tonight a growing U. S.-British split over the proposed seating of India at the forthcoming Korean political conference.

Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U. S. delegate to the U. N., said the United States favored limiting the representatives of the U. N. at the conference to countries which fought for the world organization in Korea.

This would eliminate India.

Britain's Position

The British declined to comment, but it was understood they still are firmly insisting that both Russia and India be included in the conference.

The British position is that the exclusion of Russia would be "unrealistic." As for India, they feel that Prime Minister Nehru's representative would be a constructive force in the parley.

Lodge said he had no objection to Russia's inclusion on the side of the Communist belligerents — Red North Korea and China — but saw no reason why the Russians should be selected to represent the U. N. side.

Canada Backs Britain

Canada has joined Britain in supporting India's inclusion.

In Ottawa today Canada's Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said he believed India should sit in the conference because it may have far-reaching effects on the Far East in general. Pearson is president of the U. N. General Assembly which meets Monday to choose representatives for the Korean conference.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon told newsmen India is no candidate for membership in the conference.

"This is not like a race for office," Menon said.

Anti-Discrimination Committee Set Up

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP)—A new government committee, whose work will be to prevent discrimination in hiring and firing on federal contract jobs, was created today by President Eisenhower.

The 14-member committee, which will replace one named by former President Truman, will include eight representatives of the public and six from government agencies.

STEPS UP — Dave Beck (above), president of the AFL Teamsters Union, yesterday was chosen an AFL vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of the AFL carpenters' Union.

French Strike Fever Mounting; 4,000,000 Idle

PARIS, Aug. 13 (AP)—With four million workers already off the job, strike fever mounted in France today. Newspaper workers and civilians employed in national military installations were called out for 24-hour protests.

Everyone was getting into the act. Postal, telephone and telegraph workers were the first to quit and employees in nationalized industries followed suit to express disapproval of government plans to lop off excess help and boost the retirement age.

The Socialist Workers Union got the strikes under way last week. But more and more the Communist General Federation of Labor (CGT) is taking the lead in calling out more workers and insisting that they prolong the strikes.

No end is in sight. Premier Joseph Laniel said last night his government would hold firm. The unions have given no signs of relaxing. Each seems to be in a mood to outwait the other—with millions of Frenchmen and thousands of foreign tourists caught in the squeeze.

The 24-hour strike of newspaper workers is to affect all France Monday. The government subsidized French Press Agency said it expects a strike tomorrow and all supervisory personnel on vacation were asked to return immediately.

The strike of civilians in the arsenals and other military installations was called for tomorrow by the Socialist Union.

The effectiveness of the day's new walkouts was generally hard to gauge.

Union leaders declared that a strike in the metal working industry was almost 100 per cent effective. Employer sources said not more than 50 per cent of the workers stayed away. Most of the big automobile factories already were closed for annual vacations.

The scheduled walkout of bank and insurance company personnel was pretty much a flop. Thousands stayed away from their jobs, but those who were left generally were able to carry on with the reduced business. The stoppage of mail services has sharply curtailed the amount of work in the offices.

500 Battle Forest Fire

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 13 (AP)—The worst forest fire of the year in Lewis and Clark National Forest raged out of control today 80 airline miles northwest of Montana's capital city. Up to 500 men were called into the primitive area from all parts of the state.

Two Youths Die In "Experiment"

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13 (AP)—A 19-year-old University of Pittsburgh sophomore and his 17-year-old friend were found dead from cyanide gas today and police said the Pitt student left a note saying he regarded mixing the deadly potion as "a scientific experiment."

Bodies of the two boys were found in a parked auto at Calvary Cemetery. They had been missing since last night.

Homicide detectives identified the victims as Robert Lutsky, the Pitt student, and John A. MacArthur, a close friend.

Deputy Coroner Fred Wiehagen, said Lutsky's death "is definitely suicide." He added that officials have been unable to determine if young MacArthur entered into a suicide pact with Lutsky.

Dulles Is Given Final Word On "Security Risk" Firing

retary of State Dulles has the final word on the firing of State Department employes found to be "security risks," under a new set of rules disclosed today.

Just what constitutes a security risk in the State Department has been the subject of fierce controversy for years among congressmen, commentator and experts on the dangers of communism.

State Department officials said the policy will now be to fire any employe "if there is a reasonable doubt ... whether ... employment is clearly consistent with the interest of national security."

The new rules end the provision for another look at cases by the Loyalty Review Board set up outside the State Department by President Truman. Critics of earlier programs fought for outside review as a protection for employes who might be accused unjustly.

"Security risks" now get a broader and more detailed definition. One factor in assessing the loyalty of employes is "any behavior, activities, or association which tend to show that the individual is not reliable or trustworthy," another is "any criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral or notoriously disgraceful conduct," habitual drunkenness, drug addiction or sexual perversion.

Also frowned on is "sympathetic association with a saboteur, spy, traitor, seditionist, anarchist or revolutionist, or with an espionage or other secret agent ... of a foreign nation." Security would be affected under the rules by membership or "sympathetic association" with any Fascist, Communist, totalitarian or subversive group.

The rules can be applied with a view to the actual effect of the circumstances on U. S. Security.

"That means," one State Department official said, "that we won't take the same attitude toward a scared little secretary who fibs about her age and a high-ranking official who lies in our faces and knows what he is doing."

POW Holdback Debate Rages

Reds Charge U. S. Detains 120; More Captives Return

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Aug. 14 (AP)—More Allied captives, some ailing, came back today on the 10th day of the big prisoner of war exchange that has unfolded stories of favoritism and mistreatment in the bleak Communist Korean stockades.

They came back amid a furious debate between Washington and Peiping over the withholding of captives from repatriation.

The United States said it would withhold some Communist prisoners to make sure the Reds returned Allied POWs sentenced to jail terms. Peiping said it had the right to keep some Allied captives but went on to charge that the United States was illegally holding back at least 120 Chinese Red captives.

Returnees Quiet, Subdued

Crossing through the gate to freedom at Panmunjom in the first group today were 34 Americans, 24 British, 1 Canadian and 48 South Koreans.

Eight of the Americans and the Canadians were classed as sick and injured. None was a litter case, however.

Most were quiet and subdued.

The furor over withholding POWs erupted after Allied repatriates told how some of their comrades had been jailed in Re- prison camps on trumped up charges. The exact number is not known.

Even so, the United Nations Command announced that it had returned Thursday the last Chinese prisoner willing to go back to Red rule. Presumably, if any were withheld they would be among the 50,000 North Korean Reds awaiting exchange.

303 GIs Board Transport

The Reds promised to return 409 men today, including besides the 84 Americans, 250 South Koreans, 74 British and 1 Canadian.

At the South Korean port of Inchon, 303 repatriated Americans boarded the transport Gen. W. F. Hase for San Francisco or Seattle. The trip takes two weeks. The first group of 328 men left Tuesday aboard the transport Gen. Nelson M. Walker bound for San Francisco.

A plane with 10 liberated U. S. prisoners aboard left Tokyo early Friday for the United States. It was the second homeward bound plane load of disabled men returned in the current prisoner exchange. The first one arrived at Travis Air Force Base, near San Francisco, Wednesday morning (U. S. time).

Pella Makes Bid In Italian Crisis

ROME, Aug. 13 (AP)—A financial expert agreed tonight to try forming a cabinet of technicians to govern until the deepening Italian politician crisis can be solved.

He is Giuseppe Pella, 51, Christian Democrat and the financial brain of five Italian cabinets. He is known as a friend of the United States.

A usually reliable Christian Democrat source said ex-Premier Alcide de Gasperi, who headed eight postwar Italian governments, has agreed to serve as foreign minister under Pella. Attilio Piccioni, deputy prime minister under De Gasperi, will hold the same post under Pella, the informant said.

President Luigi Einaudi asked Pella in a long meeting today to create a "business government."

Pella agreed, with reservations, saying he would return Saturday and tell the President whether he has succeeded.

Seven Negroes Held In Fatal Beating Case

SAVAGE, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—Preliminary hearing was waived tonight by seven Negroes accused in the fatal beating of a Laurel carpenter and they were held for the grand jury on $2,500 bail each.

The seven were arrested in connection with the death of 37-year-old E. G. Padgett. He was found unconscious July 27 at a swimming spot on the Patuxent River near Spencerville in Howard County.

Padgett died three days later in the Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale. Dr. Russell Fisher, state medical examiner, said death was due to a fractured skull and called it homicide.

Miners Cripple Coal Production In East Germany

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Communists said today that rebellious miners are seriously crippling production in East Germany's only hard coal field, the foundation for its strategic industry.

The field, located in the Chemnitz area, regularly produces three million tons a year.

Walter Buchheim, first secretary of the party in the area, said "in all mines there has been an important drop in daily output and none is filling its quota." He charged that slackness among Communist union officials was playing into the hands of the class enemy, meaning the West.

"The enemy not only has placed its agents and helpers in the hard coal industry," Buchheim continued, "but they are actively carrying on their disruptive tasks.

"Making use of miners' discontent, they are operating rumor mines, spreading provocative slogans and instigating the miners to walk out during their shifts—that is, to strike."

The Communist admission of mine strikes was made at a meeting of party leaders in Karl Marx Stadt (Chemnitz) and published in the local party newspaper.

Buchheim said that "not a single miner laid down his tools" in the June 17 revolt of two million East German workers, "but since that event, output has steadily dropped."

He denounced Communist union officials in the mines for "lack of control and failure to exercise personal responsibility, thereby aiding the work of the class enemy."

Sues Dance Studio After 260 Lessons

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Murrell Selby Collins, 52, a widow, sued Budd and Mary Howard, operators of the Arthur Murray Dance Studio in Denver, today for breach of contract. She charged that after 260 lessons an instructor called her "a silly old fool who would never learn to dance."

Mrs. Collins asked return of $2,610 of $3,000 which she said she paid to the studio Nov. 10, 1950, for 600 dance lessons.

A 6-man jury was summoned to hear the case in District Court.

Worst Typhoon Nears Okinawa

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 14 (AP)—The big U. S. base at Okinawa prepared today for the bludgeoning of a typhoon expected Sunday or Monday and said by the Tokyo weather bureau to be the worst ever recorded.

A spokesman for the Ryukyus Command headquarters at Okinawa said late Thursday the typhoon, with winds of 173 miles per hour reported near its center, was 695 miles southeast of Okinawa.

Okinawa, key base for U. S. fighter planes and B29 bombers, is well prepared to meet the storm, said Maj. M. R. Fowler, public information officer.

Fowler said the typhoon was moving in a northwesterly direction 11 miles an hour. The Tokyo weather bureau said it may hit Japan if it swerves from its course.

Cat And Dog Motel

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 13 (AP)—A permit was granted today for construction of a 20-room motel for dogs and cats.

Each guest will have his own room measuring 4 by 6 feet with private entrance and windows. The windows will be low enough to afford the clientele a view of the countryside—even dachshunds.

Teamster Boss Chosen As AFL Vice President

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Dave Beck, colorful 55-year-old president of the AFL Teamsters Union, today was chosen an AFL vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the sudden secession of the AFL Carpenters Union.

Beck, one of the nation's fastest rising labor leaders, was named to succeed William (Big Bill) Hutcheson as an AFL vice president and member of the federation's Executive Council also voted to recommend that the AFL convention next month add two more vice president positions for a total of 15.

The carpenters quit the AFL suddenly yesterday in anger after the AFL council okayed an agreement with the CIO to stop "raiding" each other's organizations of members. The carpenters claimed the AFL has done little to settle squabbles between its own AFL unions and seemed "more concerned with the affairs of the CIO than with those of the federation."

Withdrawal of the carpenters fired renewed speculation that John L. Lewis may be cooking up a new bloc of labor unions.

There was no evidence of any kind that Lewis had any part in the action of the 822,000-member carpenters group. In fact, Maurice Hutcheson, carpenters' president and son of Big Bill Hutcheson, flatly denied to reporters that Lewis figured in it at all.

But rumors have been kicking around in labor circles for weeks that Lewis is trying to win allies into a new labor federation. The United Mine Workers chief has done nothing to discourage the gossip. He has had no part in AFL-CIO negotiations for a merger into a single big labor federation.

U. S. Prisoners "Celebrated" Armistice By Beating Up "Progressive" Americans

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Friday, Aug. 14 (AP)—Some U. S. prisoners "celebrated" the signing of the armistice by beating up turncoat Americans in Red prison camps and got sentences of up to three years.

That was the word brought back yesterday by returning Americans, who reported that as a result of the beatings seven "progressives" went to hospitals. "Progressives" is the contemptuous label hung on prisoners who turned pro-Communist.

Other Americans, cursing the turncoats, said the "progressives" lived high in camp, never had to work, and frequently got drunk with their Communist captors.

These were among the first prisoners returned from Camp No. 1 at Chongsong, and they told the same story of brutality, indoctrination, and deaths from medical neglect and hunger. Other prisoners who told such stories previously were from Pyoktong, farther north on the Manchurian border.

Some estimated 100 or more U. S. prisoners were serving jail sentences at Chongsong for various offenses. These are the men that the Peiping radio insists the Communists have a right to hold until their sentences are served.

Sgt. Harry E. Borie of Philadelphia told about the "celebration" on armistice day that sent seven "progressives" to hospitals.

He said eight Americans were sentenced to terms of one to three years "mostly for slugging progressives." He knew of 34 other Americans taken away somewhere two days before the armistice was signed for "being instigators."

Sgt. Perry F. Woodley of Jasper, Ala. said some of the "progressives" were slugged before the armistice signing. He knew of eight men given the one to three-year sentences just before the signing, mostly for "slugging progressives."

Estimates of the number of "progressives" at Chongsong were 10 per cent. But Sgt. Reginald Smith of Macon, Ga., declared a sixth of the 300 men in his company at Pyoktong were "pros" adding: "It got where you could not trust your best friend."

Cpl. Harry J. Fichtner of Hyndman, Pa., and Cpl. Joseph E. Ford of Rutherfordton, N. C. reported five or six Americans had been given prison sentences the day the armistice was signed. They knew of eight men who decided to stay behind with the Communists.

95-Mile Winds Topple Roofs, Uproot Trees

Power Lines Down Man Blown Off Pier, Carried Out To Sea

MOOREHEAD CITY, N. C., Aug. 13 (AP)—A raging hurricane, carrying winds estimated at 95 miles an hour, struck this coastal vacationland tonight.

Trees were uprooted and signs and roofs blown away. Power and communication lines were down in many places making difficult any assessment of damage. Residents had ample warning, however, and everything that could be was battened down.

One man was blown off a fishing pier at Wrightsville Beach and carried out to sea.

The center of the storm was reported in this area shortly before 9 p.m., EST.

High winds and torrential rains struck inland ahead of the storm center. High water poured across some roads and through houses in low areas.

Fear For Disabled Tanker

The 398-foot Norwegian tanker, Marna, reported it was out of control and directly in the path of the storm some 22 miles southeast of Cape Lookout, N. C. A Coast Guard officer said the vessel was unable to steer, and put oil on the water to try to calm the churning sea, but apparently rode out the worst of the storm.

The hurricane was moving northward at about 15 miles an hour. Gales extended out for 150 miles from the center.

The whole capes area of North Carolina was endangered by the storm, which was expected to cross the capes and reach the Atlantic again in the Virginia Beach area late tonight or tomorrow morning.

Hurricane warnings now are displayed from Morehead City to Manteo and Nags Head and storm warnings elsewhere from Myrtle Beach, S. C., to Block Island.

Wind velocity here had reached 70 miles an hour by 6 p.m.

Vacationists Flee

Although no general evacuation was ordered, except for outposts along the outer banks, thousands of vacationists raced ahead of the storm to safer areas.

The first victim of the storm was Huston Jernigan, 46, Dunn, N. C., department store owner. Fringe winds carried him off a fishing pier at Wrightsville Beach. A Coast Guard boat searched fruitlessly for an hour for his body.

As the heavy winds in advance of the center brought blackened skies and rising winds and tides to North Carolina, military aircraft were flown to inland refuges and Coast Guard planes flew through gusty weather to drop warning messages to isolated coastal residents and about 100 vessels in the area.

The Coast Guard canceled all leave and liberty for its men on duty along the North Carolina and Virginia coasts. Its lifeboat crews were ordered to evacuate the Atlantic and Cape Hatteras bases after helping residents of exposed areas to prepare for the blow.

Wheat Farmers Vote On Quotas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Farmers will vote in a nationwide referendum tomorrow on the question of whether they approve rigid government marketing quotas on next year's wheat crop.

In advance of the voting, wheat futures tumbled to the lowest prices in more than six years under a heavy barrage of selling on the Chicago Board of Trade. However, a subsequent rally recovered practically all the early loss.

Reports circulated in the wheat pit that private polls of farmers indicated the quotas might be beaten. In that case government price supports would be lowered drastically.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson proposed the quotas to hold down wheat production at a time when he said the nation has too much of it.

At least two-thirds of those voting must mark "yes" on secret ballots to make the controls effective. This is the first time since 1942 that quotas have been proposed for wheat. They were approved by a majority of 82.4 per cent in the 1942 referendum.

The quotas would call for roughly a 20 per cent reduction in plantings and marketings from this year's 10 per cent above-average crop.

The effectiveness of the day's new walkouts was generally hard to gauge.

Union leaders declared that a strike in the metal working industry was almost 100 per cent effective. Employer sources said not more than 50 per cent of the workers stayed away. Most of the big automobile factories already were closed for annual vacations.

The scheduled walkout of bank and insurance company personnel was pretty much a flop. Thousands stayed away from their jobs, but those who were left generally were able to carry on with the reduced business. The stoppage of mail services has sharply curtailed the amount of work in the offices.

500 Battle Forest Fire

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 13 (AP)—The worst forest fire of the year in Lewis and Clark National Forest raged out of control today 80 airline miles northwest of Montana's capital city. Up to 500 men were called into the primitive area from all parts of the state.

Two Youths Die In "Experiment"

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13 (AP)—A 19-year-old University of Pittsburgh sophomore and his 17-year-old friend were found dead from cyanide gas today and police said the Pitt student left a note saying he regarded mixing the deadly potion as "a scientific experiment."

Bodies of the two boys were found in a parked auto at Calvary Cemetery. They had been missing since last night.

Homicide detectives identified the victims as Robert Lutsky, the Pitt student, and John A. MacArthur, a close friend.

Deputy Coroner Fred Wiehagen, said Lutsky's death "is definitely suicide." He added that officials have been unable to determine if young MacArthur entered into a suicide pact with Lutsky.

Dulles Is Given Final Word On "Security Risk" Firing

retary of State Dulles has the final word on the firing of State Department employes found to be "security risks," under a new set of rules disclosed today.

Just what constitutes a security risk in the State Department has been the subject of fierce controversy for years among congressmen, commentator and experts on the dangers of communism.

State Department officials said the policy will now be to fire any employe "if there is a reasonable doubt ... whether ... employment is clearly consistent with the interest of national security."

The new rules end the provision for another look at cases by the Loyalty Review Board set up outside the State Department by President Truman. Critics of earlier programs fought for outside review as a protection for employes who might be accused unjustly.

"Security risks" now get a broader and more detailed definition. One factor in assessing the loyalty of employes is "any behavior, activities, or association which tend to show that the individual is not reliable or trustworthy," another is "any criminal, infamous, dishonest, immoral or notoriously disgraceful conduct," habitual drunkenness, drug addiction or sexual perversion.

Also frowned on is "sympathetic association with a saboteur, spy, traitor, seditionist, anarchist or revolutionist, or with an espionage or other secret agent ... of a foreign nation." Security would be affected under the rules by membership or "sympathetic association" with any Fascist, Communist, totalitarian or subversive group.

The rules can be applied with a view to the actual effect of the circumstances on U. S. Security.

"That means," one State Department official said, "that we won't take the same attitude toward a scared little secretary who fibs about her age and a high-ranking official who lies in our faces and knows what he is doing."

POW Holdback Debate Rages

Reds Charge U. S. Detains 120; More Captives Return

PANMUNJOM, Friday, Aug. 14 (AP)—More Allied captives, some ailing, came back today on the 10th day of the big prisoner of war exchange that has unfolded stories of favoritism and mistreatment in the bleak Communist Korean stockades.

They came back amid a furious debate between Washington and Peiping over the withholding of captives from repatriation.

The United States said it would withhold some Communist prisoners to make sure the Reds returned Allied POWs sentenced to jail terms. Peiping said it had the right to keep some Allied captives but went on to charge that the United States was illegally holding back at least 120 Chinese Red captives.

Returnees Quiet, Subdued

Crossing through the gate to freedom at Panmunjom in the first group today were 34 Americans, 24 British, 1 Canadian and 48 South Koreans.

Eight of the Americans and the Canadians were classed as sick and injured. None was a litter case, however.

Most were quiet and subdued.

The furor over withholding POWs erupted after Allied repatriates told how some of their comrades had been jailed in Re- prison camps on trumped up charges. The exact number is not known.

Even so, the United Nations Command announced that it had returned Thursday the last Chinese prisoner willing to go back to Red rule. Presumably, if any were withheld they would be among the 50,000 North Korean Reds awaiting exchange.

303 GIs Board Transport

The Reds promised to return 409 men today, including besides the 84 Americans, 250 South Koreans, 74 British and 1 Canadian.

At the South Korean port of Inchon, 303 repatriated Americans boarded the transport Gen. W. F. Hase for San Francisco or Seattle. The trip takes two weeks. The first group of 328 men left Tuesday aboard the transport Gen. Nelson M. Walker bound for San Francisco.

A plane with 10 liberated U. S. prisoners aboard left Tokyo early Friday for the United States. It was the second homeward bound plane load of disabled men returned in the current prisoner exchange. The first one arrived at Travis Air Force Base, near San Francisco, Wednesday morning (U. S. time).

Pella Makes Bid In Italian Crisis

ROME, Aug. 13 (AP)—A financial expert agreed tonight to try forming a cabinet of technicians to govern until the deepening Italian politician crisis can be solved.

He is Giuseppe Pella, 51, Christian Democrat and the financial brain of five Italian cabinets. He is known as a friend of the United States.

A usually reliable Christian Democrat source said ex-Premier Alcide de Gasperi, who headed eight postwar Italian governments, has agreed to serve as foreign minister under Pella. Attilio Piccioni, deputy prime minister under De Gasperi, will hold the same post under Pella, the informant said.

President Luigi Einaudi asked Pella in a long meeting today to create a "business government."

Pella agreed, with reservations, saying he would return Saturday and tell the President whether he has succeeded.

Seven Negroes Held In Fatal Beating Case

SAVAGE, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—Preliminary hearing was waived tonight by seven Negroes accused in the fatal beating of a Laurel carpenter and they were held for the grand jury on $2,500 bail each.

The seven were arrested in connection with the death of 37-year-old E. G. Padgett. He was found unconscious July 27 at a swimming spot on the Patuxent River near Spencerville in Howard County.

Padgett died three days later in the Leland Memorial Hospital in Riverdale. Dr. Russell Fisher, state medical examiner, said death was due to a fractured skull and called it homicide.

Miners Cripple Coal Production In East Germany

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Communists said today that rebellious miners are seriously crippling production in East Germany's only hard coal field, the foundation for its strategic industry.

The field, located in the Chemnitz area, regularly produces three million tons a year.

Walter Buchheim, first secretary of the party in the area, said "in all mines there has been an important drop in daily output and none is filling its quota." He charged that slackness among Communist union officials was playing into the hands of the class enemy, meaning the West.

"The enemy not only has placed its agents and helpers in the hard coal industry," Buchheim continued, "but they are actively carrying on their disruptive tasks.

"Making use of miners' discontent, they are operating rumor mines, spreading provocative slogans and instigating the miners to walk out during their shifts—that is, to strike."

The Communist admission of mine strikes was made at a meeting of party leaders in Karl Marx Stadt (Chemnitz) and published in the local party newspaper.

Buchheim said that "not a single miner laid down his tools" in the June 17 revolt of two million East German workers, "but since that event, output has steadily dropped."

He denounced Communist union officials in the mines for "lack of control and failure to exercise personal responsibility, thereby aiding the work of the class enemy."

Sues Dance Studio After 260 Lessons

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP)—Mrs. Murrell Selby Collins, 52, a widow, sued Budd and Mary Howard, operators of the Arthur Murray Dance Studio in Denver, today for breach of contract. She charged that after 260 lessons an instructor called her "a silly old fool who would never learn to dance."

Mrs. Collins asked return of $2,610 of $3,000 which she said she paid to the studio Nov. 10, 1950, for 600 dance lessons.

A 6-man jury was summoned to hear the case in District Court.

Worst Typhoon Nears Okinawa

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 14 (AP)—The big U. S. base at Okinawa prepared today for the bludgeoning of a typhoon expected Sunday or Monday and said by the Tokyo weather bureau to be the worst ever recorded.

A spokesman for the Ryukyus Command headquarters at Okinawa said late Thursday the typhoon, with winds of 173 miles per hour reported near its center, was 695 miles southeast of Okinawa.

Okinawa, key base for U. S. fighter planes and B29 bombers, is well prepared to meet the storm, said Maj. M. R. Fowler, public information officer.

Fowler said the typhoon was moving in a northwesterly direction 11 miles an hour. The Tokyo weather bureau said it may hit Japan if it swerves from its course.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 13 (AP)—A permit was granted today for construction of a 20-room motel for dogs and cats.

Each guest will have his own room measuring 4 by 6 feet with private entrance and windows. The windows will be low enough to afford the clientele a view of the countryside—even dachshunds.

Teamster Boss Chosen As AFL Vice President

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—Dave Beck, colorful 55-year-old president of the AFL Teamsters Union, today was chosen an AFL vice president to fill the vacancy caused by the sudden secession of the AFL Carpenters Union.

Beck, one of the nation's fastest rising labor leaders, was named to succeed William (Big Bill) Hutcheson as an AFL vice president and member of the federation's Executive Council also voted to recommend that the AFL convention next month add two more vice president positions for a total of 15.

The carpenters quit the AFL suddenly yesterday in anger after the AFL council okayed an agreement with the CIO to stop "raiding" each other's organizations of members. The carpenters claimed the AFL has done little to settle squabbles between its own AFL unions and seemed "more concerned with the affairs of the CIO than with those of the federation."

Withdrawal of the carpenters fired renewed speculation that John L. Lewis may be cooking up a new bloc of labor unions.

There was no evidence of any kind that Lewis had any part in the action of the 822,000-member carpenters group. In fact, Maurice Hutcheson, carpenters' president and son of Big Bill Hutcheson, flatly denied to reporters that Lewis figured in it at all.

But rumors have been kicking around in labor circles for weeks that Lewis is trying to win allies into a new labor federation. The United Mine Workers chief has done nothing to discourage the gossip. He has had no part in AFL-CIO negotiations for a merger into a single big labor federation.

95-Mile Winds Topple Roofs, Uproot Trees

Power Lines Down Man Blown Off Pier, Carried Out To Sea

MOOREHEAD CITY, N. C., Aug. 13 (AP)—A raging hurricane, carrying winds estimated at 95 miles an hour, struck this coastal vacationland tonight.

Trees were uprooted and signs and roofs blown away. Power and communication lines were down in many places making difficult any assessment of damage. Residents had ample warning, however, and everything that could be was battened down.

One man was blown off a fishing pier at Wrightsville Beach and carried out to sea.

The center of the storm was reported in this area shortly before 9 p.m., EST.

Fear For Disabled Tanker

The 398-foot Norwegian tanker, Marna, reported it was out of control and directly in the path of the storm some 22 miles southeast of Cape Lookout, N. C. A Coast Guard officer said the vessel was unable to steer, and put oil on the water to try to calm the churning sea, but apparently rode out the worst of the storm.

The hurricane was moving northward at about 15 miles an hour. Gales extended out for 150 miles from the center.

The whole capes area of North Carolina was endangered by the storm, which was expected to cross the capes and reach the Atlantic again in the Virginia Beach area late tonight or tomorrow morning.

Hurricane warnings now are displayed from Morehead City to Manteo and Nags Head and storm warnings elsewhere from Myrtle Beach, S. C., to Block Island.

Wind velocity here had reached 70 miles an hour by 6 p.m.

Vacationists Flee

Although no general evacuation was ordered, except for outposts along the outer banks, thousands of vacationists raced ahead of the storm to safer areas.

The first victim of the storm was Huston Jernigan, 46, Dunn, N. C., department store owner. Fringe winds carried him off a fishing pier at Wrightsville Beach. A Coast Guard boat searched fruitlessly for an hour for his body.

As the heavy winds in advance of the center brought blackened skies and rising winds and tides to North Carolina, military aircraft were flown to inland refuges and Coast Guard planes flew through gusty weather to drop warning messages to isolated coastal residents and about 100 vessels in the area.

The Coast Guard canceled all leave and liberty for its men on duty along the North Carolina and Virginia coasts. Its lifeboat crews were ordered to evacuate the Atlantic and Cape Hatteras bases after helping residents of exposed areas to prepare for the blow.

Wheat Farmers Vote On Quotas

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12 (AP) — Farmers will vote in a nationwide referendum tomorrow on the question of whether they approve rigid government marketing quotas on next year's wheat crop.

In advance of the voting, wheat futures tumbled to the lowest prices in more than six years under a heavy barrage of selling on the Chicago Board of Trade. However, a subsequent rally recovered practically all the early loss.

Reports circulated in the wheat pit that private polls of farmers indicated the quotas might be beaten. In that case government price supports would be lowered drastically.

Secretary of Agriculture Benson proposed the quotas to hold down wheat production at a time when he said the nation has too much of it.

At least two-thirds of those voting must mark "yes" on secret ballots to make the controls effective. This is the first time since 1942 that quotas have been proposed for wheat. They were approved by a majority of 82.4 per cent in the 1942 referendum.

The quotas would call for roughly a 20 per cent reduction in plantings and marketings from this year's 10 per cent above-average crop.

U. S. Prisoners "Celebrated" Armistice By Beating Up "Progressive" Americans

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Friday, Aug. 14 (AP)—Some U. S. prisoners "celebrated" the signing of the armistice by beating up turncoat Americans in Red prison camps and got sentences of up to three years.

That was the word brought back yesterday by returning Americans, who reported that as a result of the beatings seven "progressives" went to hospitals. "Progressives" is the contemptuous label hung on prisoners who turned pro-Communist.

Other Americans, cursing the turncoats, said the "progressives" lived high in camp, never had to work, and frequently got drunk with their Communist captors.

These were among the first prisoners returned from Camp No. 1 at Chongsong, and they told the same story of brutality, indoctrination, and deaths from medical neglect and hunger. Other prisoners who told such stories previously were from Pyoktong, farther north on the Manchurian border.

Some estimated 100 or more U. S. prisoners were serving jail sentences at Chongsong for various offenses. These are the men that the Peiping radio insists the Communists have a right to hold until their sentences are served.

Sgt. Harry E. Borie of Philadelphia told about the "celebration" on armistice day that sent seven "progressives" to hospitals.

He said eight Americans were sentenced to terms of one to three years "mostly for slugging progressives." He knew of 34 other Americans taken away somewhere two days before the armistice was signed for "being instigators."

Sgt. Perry F. Woodley of Jasper, Ala. said some of the "progressives" were slugged before the armistice signing. He knew of eight men given the one to three-year sentences just before the signing, mostly for "slugging progressives."

Estimates of the number of "progressives" at Chongsong were 10 per cent. But Sgt. Reginald Smith of Macon, Ga., declared a sixth of the 300 men in his company at Pyoktong were "pros" adding: "It got where you could not trust your best friend."

Cpl. Harry J. Fichtner of Hyndman, Pa., and Cpl. Joseph E. Ford of Rutherfordton, N. C. reported five or six Americans had been given prison sentences the day the armistice was signed. They knew of eight men who decided to stay behind with the Communists.

Unused Ice Boxes Yield Bodies Of Nine Youngsters

Four Suffocated At Richmond, Va., Five In Arkansas

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 13 (AP)—One of the consistent boobytrap killers of children—the old abandoned ice box—yielded the bodies of four little missing Richmond boys today.

Their death in an old 6-door ice chest in a storeroom at McGuire Veterans Administration Hospital brought the 2-day toll of such horrifying mishaps to nine. In a deadly parallel, five children were found in a refrigerator at Proctor, Ark., last night.

The Richmond boys—three 7 and one 5 years of age—were children of two hospital staff families. And as one of the Richmond area's most intensive searches got under way they lay dead in the airtight refrigerator in an unused hospital building only 60 feet or so away from the home of one boy's parents.

This building was one of the first slated for check when the hunt began Tuesday night after the children had been missing most of the day. But the main entrance was locked, the hospital reported, and the building was by-passed in favor of more likely hunting spots.

This morning with search planes and several helicopters droning over the southern suburban Richmond area and police and firemen along with Boy Scouts and other volunteer groups beating the woods near creek and quarry, Dr. J. Melvin Boykin, acting hospital manager, asked Engineer John Turner to make a closer check of the building. Dr. Boykin's son, Walter, one of the 7-year-olds, was one of the missing.

Within a few minutes Turner confirmed the Boykins' fears and those of Woodrow W. Blackstock, maintenance engineer, and his wife. The Boykins have two older daughters. The Blackstocks had only the three sons, Woodrow and Wilson, twins of 7, and George, 5.

The Arkansas tragedy took five children from one family—Edward Hallman, 9; his brothers, Wesley, 7, and twins Odie and Tommy, 4, and baby sister, Barbara Ann, 2.

Their tomb was an old refrigerator, long unused, that stood on a porch of the Hallman home. Mrs. Hallman returned from working in the fields with two older children late Wednesday. Distraught when she could find no trace of the five children she called for aid.

A deputy sheriff lifted the lid of the refrigerator that Mrs. Hallman had passed repeatedly in her searching and calling. Authorities said the children perished at about the time Mrs. Hallman returned home.

DEATH TRAP—Skeet Jackson looks at the old ice box in which five children, all members of the same family, suffocated. The youngsters were apparently playing in the box on the porch of their home near Proctor, Ark., when the lid slammed shut and latched. Jackson is a neighbor of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hallman.

Export Controls Bill Signed By President

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed a bill designed to strengthen controls over exports of atomic energy materials and other strategic goods which the law forbids sending abroad.

Under present law articles being exported illegally can be seized along with the vehicle, ship or airplane being used for the purpose. The new bill extends this authority so that a carrier used for an illegal exportation can be confiscated after the article has been smuggled out of the country. The article itself could be seized later upon return to this country if it should be brought back.

Mysterious Explosion Rocks Danish Island

ODENSE, Denmark, Aug. 13 (AP)—Authorities said a mysterious blast tonight shook the island of Funen—second largest in the Danish archipelago.

Police said the explosion came from "somewhere in the Baltic in the direction of the German town of Kiel."

A tremor could be felt over most of Funen. Windows rattled and pictures dropped from the walls.

Sabres Had Big Rooting Section

FREEDOM VILLAGE, Korea, Friday, Aug. 14 (AP)—When U. S. Sabres tangled with Red MIG jets during the war, the Sabres always had a big rooting section on the ground far below.

Pfc. Joseph P. Parman of London, Ky., who was returned yesterday in the prisoner exchange, said the Americans had a regular ring side seat for the sky battles in their prison camps near the Manchurian border.

Most of the dogfights took place along the border and Parman said the prisoners and their Communist guards would stop to watch.

"The guards would root for the MIGs and we would root for the Sabres," Parman said. "When a MIG was shot down we would all clap and cheer and the guards would get sore."

Costly GM Fire May Idle 50,000

DETROIT, Aug. 13 (AP) — The multi-million dollar General Motors transmission plant fire took its first big bite out of the company's vast auto production today almost before the heat-curled steel girders had cooled.

These were other developments as state investigators joined plant officials and employes in probing the ruins from yesterday's roaring blaze in suburban Livonia.

State Fire Marshal Arnold Renner, calling it Michigan's costliest fire in history and estimating loss at nearly 50 million dollars, said the huge, 4-year-old plant was inadequately protected with automatic sprinklers.

General Motors gave no estimate of loss but said it would "substantially exceed" the coverage by insurance.

Officials of the various General Motors divisions dependent on the plant for automatic transmissions called their production men into emergency huddles today to see what can be done.

Their estimates indicated that possibly 50,000 GM workers might be idled by the cutoff of transmissions. But the picture was confused as to when the layoffs would come and for how long.

Case Of Kidnaper Baby Monk Closed

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 13 (AP) — From the files of the Philadelphia zoo: the case of the kidnapped baby monkey.

The tiny anthropoid, about 9 inches tall, walked out through the bars of a cage where he lived with a family of seven. He wandered over to a cage occupied by a male and female gelada baboom.

The female baboon, with no offspring of her own, reached out and whisked the tiny monkey inside. She fed it and began to mother it tenderly. The male baboon began acting like a protective father.

Observing such domestic bliss, officials decided to take no action.

Case closed.

Former Local Man Is Killed In Mishap While Swimming

Paul Elwood Owens, 32, a former resident, was instantly killed Wednesday when he broke his neck while diving from a 30-foot high pier at Dewey Beach, south of Rehoboth Beach, Del.

A resident of Norwood, Pa., for eight years, Owens was employed as a foreman at the Philadelphia plant of the Westinghouse Corporation and was vacationing in Delaware.

Members of his family said Owens was an expert swimmer and diver and had told them to watch him do a "fancy" dive when the fatal injury occurred.

Born in this city September 22, 1920, he was a son of Mrs. Margaret (Wolfe) Owens Johnson, Cumberland, and the late Clarence W. Owens.

He graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1938, where he was active in sports, notably baseball. Owens also played softball for the Grace Church and Liberty Dairy teams in city leagues.

Owens served in the Navy during World War II and it was from training he received in the service that he qualified for his position with Westinghouse, which is supposed to have concerned jet engines. Owens was scheduled to be sent to England this fall by Westinghouse as an instructor of jet engines.

Besides his mother, he is survived by his widow, the former Miss Betty Poling of Grafton, W. Va.; three sons, Paul E. Owens Jr., 8, and Philip and Patton Owen, 7; five brothers, Clarence W. Owens Jr., Washington, and Charles R., Albert C., Leroy F. and Kenneth O. Owens, all of this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Hawse and Mrs. Virginia Wright, both of this city.

The body is expected to arrive here today and be taken to the Scarpelli Funeral Home.

Coroner Vollie C. G. Gray pronounced him dead of accidental drowning after an autopsy at Beebe Hospital at Lewes, Del.

Services will be conducted at Grace Methodist Church tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. by Rev. Adam E. Grim, pastor. Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, will accord military rites at the grave in Hillcrest Burial Park.

12 More Suits In Fatal Crash Now Settled

Twelve more of the 21 suits which grew out of the tragic accident of last August 31 which snuffed out the lives of five Tri-Towns men have been settled out of Allegany County Circuit Court.

Involved in the settlement were six suits brought by Mrs. Anna Virginia Michael, widowed mother of Richard A. Michael, one of the victims; three by James Thompson, the lone survivor among six pasengers in the ill-fated car, and three by Earl C. Kalbaugh, administrator of the estate of his son, Earl Kalbaugh, another victim. Horace P. Whitworth, Sr., and Horace P. Whitworth, Jr., were attorneys for all of the plaintiffs.

Although the amount of the settlements was not divulged it was indicated it was only a small portion of the sums asked for in the suits.

Only two of the suits still have not been cleared from the court docket. They both were brought by Elizabeth A. Gilmore, widow of Timothy Gilmore, who was driving the ill-fated car, against Lewis Howard Allwine and Lewis Thomas Allwine, driver and owner of the parked car involved in the fatal crash.

Joretta Proudfoot, Rowlesburg, W. Va., who was sitting in the parked Allwine car, won a jury verdict for $11,000 in Allegany County Circuit June 16.

However, Mrs. Genevieve Yvonne Kalbaugh, widow of Charles Lee Kaubaugh, lost out in her six suits for damages when a jury decided June 24 that her husband was guilty of contributory negligence in riding in a car while knowing the driver was under the influence of intoxicants.

Md. Income Tax Has Brought In Quarter-Billion

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 13 (AP)—Maryland has collected more than a quarter-billion dollars in income taxes since it initiated the levy in 1937.

In the 14 years the state has shared its receipts, counties and municipalities have received $54,873,118.

The balance of the total take of $268,056,266 has gone into the state treasury and out again for such services as education, health and welfare.

40 Times Initial Revenue

Comptroller J. Millard Tawes made the figures public today. They showed revenue from income has leaped 40 times from the slightly more than one million dollars collected on 1937 income.

The rate at the start was ½ of 1 per cent. It's now 2 per cent on earned and 5 per cent on most investment income, 4 per cent on corporation income. For the last two years the Legislature has allowed 15 per cent reduction on individual returns.

Over the 16 years Marylanders have chipped in $177,979,876 and corporations $87,151,190. The remainder has come from non-residents, fiduciaries, or trustees.

Of nearly 41 millions collected in the fiscal year that ended last June 30, the subdivisions received $9,667,625.

System Started In 1939

The share-the wealth plan began with 1939 earnings. It applies only to individual income. The counties and municipalities receive 1.7 per cent of the taxable investment income reported by their residents and .68 per cent of earned income.

At present rates this equals 34 per cent of the total tax paid by Maryland residents. It actually amounted to 40 per cent of 1951 and 1952 taxes because the state absorbed all the loss from the 15 per cent cut.

The melon is split between county and municipal governments if the taxpayer lives in an incorporated city or town. Otherwise county commissioners get the entire handout.

1953 Distribution

Benjamin F. Marsh, chief of the Income Tax Division, reported this county distribution during the 1953 fiscal year:

Allegany $182,788, of which the county commissioners received $112,782; Anne Arundel 338,266 (305,111); Baltimore 1,502,658; Calvert 14,398 (13,770); Caroline 30,217 (18,756); Carroll 90,916 (66,492); Cecil 93,869 (71,000); Charles 45,245 (36,855); Dorchester 52,414 (33,800); Frederick 146,810 (97,132); Garrett 15,278 (9,799); Harford 159,473 (124,061).

Howard 70,603; Kent 34,005 (23,920); Montgomery 1,473,202 (1,326,326); Prince George's 798,590 (571,711); Queen Anne's 43,650 (37,408); St. Mary's 36,804 (34,187); Somerset 23,738 (16,795); Talbot 82,315 (60,949) Washington 258,212 (160,891); Wicomico 109,105 (67,827); Worcester 43,803 (28,022).

Baltimore City received the largest share of all, $4,021,167.

Other municipalities which received more than $15,000:

Hagerstown 85,055; Hyattsville 66,952; CUMBERLAND 53,153; Frederick 37,538; Salisbury 35,149; Annapolis 33,154; Takoma Park 28,894 (Montgomery County) and 14,438 (Prince George's); Rockville 24,487; Mt. Ranier 23,172; College Park 21,117; Kensington 18,169; Cambridge 15,747; Easton 15,245.

Ohio ranks sixth among wheat producing states in the U. S. with an annual production of 47 million bushels.

ASSIGNED COOK—Cpl. Harry Beckward, son of Mrs. Laura Beckward, 314 Howard Place, has been assigned as first cook at Fort Cronkhite, Sausalito, Calif. Before his present assignment, he was stationed in San Luis Obispo, Calif. and Ford Ord. Completing his basic training at Fort Ord, Cpl. Beckward has service in the Army for one year and eight months. He expects to be home by December.

Condition Of Burned Child Improving

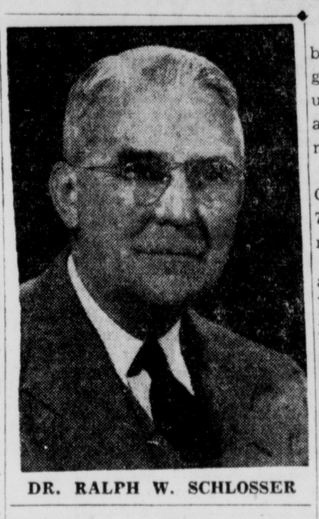

The condition of Shirley Brown, three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Brown, near Paw Paw, was reported improved last night at Memorial Hospital where she was admitted Wednesday with serious burns.

The girl suffered second degree burns of the face, arms and body Tuesday when she tipped over a kettle spilling boiling liquid over herself. The child's mother was making jelly.

Because the family lives quite a distance from Paw Paw and is without transportation, the child was not treated until Wednesday morning when she was taken to a Romney doctor. He said her condition was serious.

The Browns formerly resided near Springfield.

Locarno For Our Times?

Diplomats of Western nations are even now studying a joint reply to a Soviet note of August 4 on the German problem. A committee of British, French, and Americans goes to work shortly in Paris to draft a text.

The Western nations are expected to reject Soviet proposals that (1) Communist China should participate in a conference on Germany and (2) that the conference should deal first with unification of East and West Germany and a peace treaty rather than with free elections for the two divided sections of Germany. Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain may take this occasion to put forward again his vision of a "new Locarno."

In Commons debate on May 11, Churchill said that he saw the germ of an idea to satisfy the Soviet demand for security and the West's need for safety and freedom. The germ existed in the Locarno Treaty of 1925 in which Britain agreed to go to the aid of Germany if she were attacked by France, and vice versa. "A similar idea might well play its part between Germany and Russia in the minds of those whose prime ambition it is to consolidate the peace of Europe as the key to the peace of mankind," Churchill declared.

The Locarno Treaty, designed to strengthen the Treaty of Versailles which concluded World War I, was a security compact or treaty of mutual agreement. It guaranteed the inviolability of the frontiers between Germany and Belgium and between Germany and France, as fixed by the earlier treaty. Great Britain and Italy, in the event of unprovoked aggression, agreed to go to the assistance of the attacked nation.

This left continued uncertainty as to Germany's eastern borders, with the Polish Corridor a provocative danger spot. In the early 1930's, France and Soviet Russia put forward a proposal for an "Eastern Locarno" that would have strengthened the Western Locarno by having Russia join in the British and Italian guarantee. Much more important, it would have solidified the east border of Germany.

Germany, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and the Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and perhaps Finland, would have joined in a mutual assistance pact providing for joint guarantees of their respective borders. But Hitler refused to commit Germany to the agreement, and the plan collapsed.

In his speech before the Supreme Soviet on May 8, Premier Malenkov seemed to be hinting at a revival of the "Eastern Locarno" idea. He reminded the French that "We do not forget also that the Soviet Union and France have an agreement of alliance and mutual assistance, which could serve as a basis for the development and the strengthening of the relations between our two countries, and serve the cause of insuring European security."

Unless Malenkov is talking for the benefit of French neutralists, Russia could be turning the clock back to the days when Litvinov was foreign minister. It was he who said of the Eastern Locarno idea:

"Pacts of mutual assistance . . . must by no means be regarded as an attempt to encircle any one, since every state belonging to a given region may join in these pacts. Having equal rights and duties and an equal measure of security, not one signatory of such a pact should be considered encircled or subject to any danger if he shares the other signatories' desire for peace."

Red Treachery

A nation which rejoiced along with the families of the first American prisoners released also felt the first stirrings of anger and a clutch of gloom. For among the first prisoners to be released was an American major who told correspondents that a number of "high ranking" U. S. officers had been sentenced to long terms in Communist prisons for "instigating against peace."

The major was whisked under the protecting wing of Army authority before he could elaborate. Nevertheless, he had let go enough information to leave no doubt that there is treachery afoot.

According to the major, these officers were sentenced only two days before the switch took place. With this information at hand, what appeared earlier to be an unimportant event may be quite the contrary. It will be recalled that during the final sessions of the truce negotiations the American team tried in every way possible to hurry the actual date of the prisoner exchange. They proposed August 1, and the Reds tentatively agreed, then backtracked to August 5 and wouldn't retreat from this stand.

It could well be that they might have been setting up a drumhead court or were waiting for a pretext to carry out their plans of salting away a few U. S. officers to use as a future bargaining point.

Only the imbeciles believed that everything would go off smoothly and that the Reds would stick to the letter and the intent of the truce agreement.

'Taint So, He Says

Christian Dior, who has acquired money and fame telling women how to dress, says his words and gestures were misunderstood. He didn't say dresses would be knee-length, he expostulates. But he waited until he had obtained full value from the free advertising his original statement generated before expostulating.

Dior, whose fashions many normal American women regard as freaks, says that what he meant to imply was that skirts would be just a trifle shorter than the length most fashion designers had decided upon. They can even be longer, he now says, depending upon the general effect produced by she who wears 'em.

Apparently what happened is that he thought a word from him would upset the entire clothing industry and send the ladies to taking up hems, thus establishing the great Dior as the lad in the world of fashion. All this was to happen in the United States, from whence comes most of the money to keep the Diors in business.

When his brainstorm had the effect of a frog leaping into a mud puddle, he quickly backtracked. His artistic temperament, no doubt, has been wounded grievously, but when he discovers he is headed up a dead end street the boy knows how to reverse his gears.

Relief Of Rheumatoid Arthritis

ACTH, cortisone, and hydrocortisone are the best remedies for rheumatoid arthritis. When used properly, pain and swelling subside within a few days. But if the drugs are discontinued after months of treatment there is no guarantee that improvement will continue.

Rheumatoid arthritis varies in severity and we often are asked how bad it must be before ACTH, cortisone, or hydrocortisone is given. After all, these products are too potent to be prescribed for every ache and pain lest the treatment become worse than the disease. As a rule, the hormones are advised only after more simple methods fail and the disorder is not getting better or is worsening rapidly. In the circumstances the risk is justified provided the individual does not suffer also from severe diabetes, high blood pressure, or pulmonary tuberculosis. These hormonal agents aggravate such maladies and never are used when they coexist. Caution also is needed when peptic ulcer is or has been present because occasionally these lesions rupture during the administration of the hormones.

Little change has occurred in the way ACTH and cortisone are employed since their introduction four years ago. This means large doses for the first few days, with a gradual reduction until the maintenance dose is determined. At this level, the patient remains uncomfortable on the smallest amount of the remedy. Unless this is done, the effect on the system as a whole becomes evident. A dropsical condition causes the face to become puffy and moon shaped, the blood pressure rises, and sugar appears in the urine. There is muscular weakness along with marked euphoria. These symptoms disappear when the medication is stopped. Each case is an individual problem in that some develop these complications and others do not.

Rheumatoid arthritis is a generalized disease. Pain and swelling of joints are the external manifestations but unless the entire body is treated the disturbance is difficult to bring under control. Six weeks to a year of rest is essential not only of the inflamed joints but of the whole body. Some sufferers benefit from prolonged confinement in bed; others are able to maintain strength by obtaining eight to 10 hours of sleep at night and an afternoon nap. Absolute rest is inadvisable because this encourages stiffness and deformity of the joints. This is the reason why the victim is encouraged to bend the knees and elbows and to move the fingers and toes periodically. In this way the tone of the muscles and the circulation to the affected parts are improved.

The diet should be nourishing and high in vitamins and minerals. The importance of diet has led many individuals to believe that certain foods help or hinder arthritis. This is not true. Diet is stressed because most persons afflicted with this form of arthritis are underweight, undernourished, chronically ill, and in need of well balanced and appetizing meals.

We no longer remove teeth, tonsils, or other organs in a hit or miss fashion. If they are infected, their removal should increase strength and improve the feeling of well being. Numerous products are available to relieve pain. Heat and massage also help but inflamed joints never should be subjected to such treatment if it causes distress; this only adds insult to injury.

NEGLECT OF FISTULA

R. E. writes: What are the dangers of neglecting a fistula of the rectum?

REPLY

The chief complication is recurrence of infection, with a discharge of pus. Infection has a tendency to spread and occasionally leads to blood poisoning. In a few instances the fistula is tuberculous. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on rectal fistula.

STARS' BABIES

Mrs. J. T. writes: Why are the children of movie and television stars born by caesarean section?

REPLY

I question your statement because I doubt whether their obstetricians would recommend the added risk of caesarean section unless absolutely necessary. Furthermore, members of the theatrical profession avoid scarring when they can.

HEART AND SWIMMING

R. D. R., writes: I have one of those sound hearts that act up. When I'm swimming I'm afraid of a heart attack because I get extrasystoles, especially in deep water. Should I stop?

Why torture yourself? If swimming in deep water makes your heart jump all over the place, why do it? After all, you are not a fish and other forms of exercise are available.

U. S. Officials Skeptical Of Russian H-Bomb Claim; No Russian Plane Large Enough To Transport H-Bomb; Movie Moguls Claim Ike Let Them Down

WASHINGTON—One week after Premier Malenkov's surprise announcement that Russia has the hydrogen bomb, U. S. scientists and intelligence experts have come to the flat conclusion that this is not the case.

Russia, they conclude, simply does not have the H-bomb. Nor is there a scintilla of evidence to prove that an explosion faintly resembling a hydrogen blast has been touched off.

Reason for such a positive conclusion is that it is impossible to set off either a hydrogen or an atomic blast without filling the air with radiation. These particles drift great distances. Regardless of distance, however, Allied planes, policing the atmosphere around the Soviet Union, scoop up samples of the air which tell the complete story of how big an explosion is, when it took place, and its general location.

The height of the radiation tells the size of the explosion. The wind drift gives its location. The texture of the particles tells what kind of explosion it was—whether accidental, an A-bomb, or a hydrogen blast.

Four Russian Explosions

As it now stands, we have conclusive evidence that four atomic explosions have taken place inside the Soviet Union. And we know pretty well their nature.

On the other hand, and drawing a line between the explosion of an H-bomb and possession of a hydrogen device, our scientific agencies pretty well accept the fact that Russia probably has some kind of a hydrogen device which could be exploded. However, we are equally convinced that the Russians do not have a hydrogen bomb which could be put in a plane and carried to an enemy country.

Reason for this conclusion is that the hydrogen explosion which we touched off in the mid-Pacific last year and which blew up an entire island, was not a bomb. It was called a hydrogen house, and though it contained all the ingredients of a bomb, it was exploded from the land, not the air.

So far we have never dropped a hydrogen bomb, and probably won't even put one together until shortly before it is to be dropped.

Even if the Rusians have been able to squeeze the right ingredients into an actual H-bomb, however, they don't have the planes to carry it. Our H-bomb, when finally completed, will be so large it will require certain changes even of our biggest long-range bombers; and the Red air force has no planes, so far as we know, as big as our B-36.

Award To Italian

The assumption that Russia is almost certain to have a hydrogen device is based on the face that Bruno Pontecorvo, an Italian expert on the H-bomb, disappeared behind the iron curtain three years ago and undoubtedly is working for the Russians.

Pontecorvo was one of seven Italian scientists who were so much in the lead of other scientists in splitting the atom that the Atomic Energy Commission has just awarded them $300,000 for patent infringement. And though Pontecorvo is now in Russia, his share, one-eighth, is being set aside for him in the U. S. Treasury under U. S. patent law. He has assigned one-half his interest to Eugene Ghiron-Fubini of Glen Head, Long Island.

Leader of the Italian group is Dr. Enrico Fermi, now at Columbia, who was one of the chief contributors to the atom bomb in this country during the war. However, he actually began work on splitting the atom in the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Berlin many years ago. Others in the group include Oscar d'Agostino, Giulio Trabachi. And Dr. Edoardo Amaldi of Rome, with Dr. Emilio Segre of the University of California, and Dr. Franco Rasetti of Johns Hopkins.

The Atomic Energy Commission has now held that the U. S. Army infringed on their basic patent; all of which indicates how widely the secret of the atom has been known in various parts of the world.

Unhappy Hollywood

President Eisenhower's pocket veto of the movie theater tax has made some of his best friends most unhappy.

During last year's political campaign, the movie moguls were among the most enthusiastic of the Ike-rooters. Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox sold the charms and assets of Ike at every luncheon "on the lot" in Hollywood. George Skouras of the Skouras Theaters sported an Ike button almost as big as a barn door. The Warner Brothers all plugged for Ike. In fact, there was hardly one movie executive, except for Dore Schary, host to Adlai Stevenson when he came to Los Angeles, who did not contribute dollars, work, or enthusiasm to Ike.

Today some of them are disappointed, some sore, some even say Ike is an ingrate.

These Days

The President's Popularity

When the Congress reconvenes in January or earlier, should a special session be called, its members will have been home to visit with their constituents. They will have a closer appraisal of public opinion on the questions with which they have to deal. They will be able to measure the popularity of General Eisenhower which has been an important consideration in the halls of Congress.

I have been noting the returns on this subject by "Facts Forum." I select this study over some others because I like the method of gathering data. It seems to me to provide the possibility of a better cross-section of the country than some other polls of opinion.

The question asked was: "Do you favor Ike over the man likely to be the next Democratic nominee?" Frankly, this question bothers me because who knows who will be the next Democratic candidate? How can anyone have an opinion on that subject? I would have asked the question more simply, "Do you still like Ike?" Or, perhaps, "Do you like Ike as much as you did?" However, at this stage, I think the answers would be the same no matter how you ask the question: the President is a popular man.

In January, the President's popularity on this poll stood at 89 per cent; in March, it was 85 per cent; in April, 87 per cent; for July, 80 per cent. It is interesting that when these figures are broken down for the Solid South, they show the July figures break up as follows: 78 per cent for the North; 82 per cent for the Solid South.

I do not believe that there is enough accuracy in any polls for anyone to quarrel about exact figures. What this poll shows is that a continuing test taken of public opinion establishes the fact that the President is an exceedingly popular person.

Yet, this popularity is not reflected in the conversations of the politicians, even of his own party, who worry about their own prospects. For instance, two of the most important Republicans are up for re-election in 1954. They are Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan. Bridges is president pro tem of the Senate and chairman of the Appropriations Committee; Ferguson is chairman of the Republican Policy Committee. These senators are respected by their colleagues. Both are in danger.

The Bridges situation is almost without precedent. A man of his seniority and position is usually assured of renomination and, in his state, of re-election.

Yet, Bridges may have to put up a tremendous fight for renomination because the President's chief-of-staff, Sherman Adams, is reputed to desire his position. Those who like Adams say that now that he is ensconced in greatness, he will forego his senatorial ambitions. Those who dislike him say that he has caused the President considerable grief and that his best way out of the White House would be to run for the Senate. At any rate, as long as Sherman Adams is a prospective candidate for United States senator, he disturbs the relations between the President and those Republicans who feel that Bridges is about to get a raw deal.

In the case of Ferguson, the situation is more complicated. Here is a man of scholarly attainments, a great lawyer, a tremendous hard worker. He was elected chairman of the Republican Policy Committee by the colleagues, after the death of Senator Taft, because he is the most deserving man for the post.

However, Ferguson is quiet and studious and does most of his work in committee. He avoids sensationalism of any kind. His labors are constructive rather than didactic. His name does not appear in the newspapers every day cussing someone.

Yet Republican politicians, in his state, fear that he has not sufficiently grovelled in the dust before the lords of power in his particular state. They say that unless he is sure of re-election, they might get him a judgeship and put a more demogogic personality in his place. Should they do that, it would be a pity. The Senate has few men of Ferguson's ability; it already has too many empty-headed, blustering speech-makers who not only do not know what they say but do not know what they do. Republicans fear that Eisenhower's popularity will not be sufficient to save their party.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It's an ill wind that blows no good, and it may turn out that the episode in which James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Evening Post, was subjected to interrogation by a congressional committee will focus attention on the restraints which have already been placed on the press by law notwithstanding the First Amendment to the Constitution.

For when Mr. Wechsler was subjected to some questions he considered irrelevant and which he need not have answered, there was really no infringement of the press unless to be asked embarrassing questions constitutes an infringement of anybody's freedom.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors, however, responding to the special request of Mr. Wechsler, appointed a committee which now has reported its conclusions. The majority are noncommittal and recommend further study of the constitutional questions. The minority argues that freedom of the press is diminished when "a single newspaper, however worthy or unworthy, is subjected by one senator, however worthy or unworthy, to inconvenience, expense, humiliation, ridicule, abuse, condemnation and reproach, under the auspices of governmental power." The theory offered is that Congress allegedly can't interrogate anyone about anything it can't legislate about.

Works Both Ways

The fallacy in this is that Congress can constitutionally inquire into anything hypothetical on the remote theory that it might want to legislate on the subject some day. It can ask any questions it wishes on any subject at any time—though a witness, of course, doesn't have to answer and can challenge a committee's jurisdiction in a specific field if he likes.

Here are the laws now in existence which might be studied anew, since they plainly contravene the First Amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing freedom of the press:

1. A law has been upheld by the Supreme Court that penalizes newspapers and threatens them with the loss of second-class mail privileges if they do not reveal their private and personal affairs—namely, the exact amounts of stock, bonds or notes held by individual owners or their families. Despite the recent comment by two judges of the court in the Rumley case that "inquiry into private and personal affairs is precluded," no newspaper or magazine today can distribute economically without conforming to the rules laid down by the Post Office Department concerning this disclosure of ownership.

Lost Mail Privileges

2. A law that has taken away second-class mail privileges from a newspaper which editorially preached against the conduct of the war. The case arose during World War I against the editor of a Socialist newspaper in Milwaukee. The "U. S. Supreme Court Reports" summarized the majority opinion handed down in 1921, as follows: "Federal legislation conferring upon the postmaster general power to revoke the second-class mail privilege enjoyed by a newspaper which that official finds, after a hearing fairly conducted, systematically to have contained false reports and false statements published with intent to interfere with the success of the military operations of the federal government, to promote the success of its enemies, and to obstruct its recruiting and enlistment service, in violation of the Espionage Act of June 15, 1917, is not unconstitutional, either as not affording the publisher a trial in a court of competent jurisdiction, or as infringing the constitutional freedom of speech and press, or as taking property without due process of law." This is still the supreme law of the land, and a congressional committee concerned with the operations of governmental agencies, including the Post Office Department, can ask any question about any editorial policy expressed in a national emergency.

3. A law which has been upheld as constitutional compels an employer to fire any editorial employe who, having joined a union, wants to resign from it and yet keep his job. An employer also is compelled to dismiss any reporter who after 30 days of employment doesn't join the union. There are 118 or more such union contracts in existence today with newspapers. These contracts compel reporters to become members of a CIO union, even though they may have conscientious objections to membership in any CIO organization. If that isn't "thought control," then the words have lost their meaning.

But in 1937, when the Supreme Court upheld the Wagner Law as it applied to press association employes, no protest came from any society of newspaper editors or from any group of editors professing the "liberal" creed. Maybe times have changed and now that some "liberals" have been the victims of the governmental power of interrogation the whole subject of laws that violate the First Amendment to the Constitution will be reexamined. Perhaps the supporters of Mr. Wechsler's demands that editors be exempted from congressional interrogation on their policies now will join in a demand that Congress by statute exempt editorial employes from any labor laws that infringe freedom of the press.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

In A Garden, On A Train

LONDON

After a little while, when a junketing reporter has left one country for another, things which seemed important and vivid at the time tend to fade and blur, until only queer mixture of cities and people and plans and hotels and conversations and pleasures and discomforts is left.

Yet almost always, something sticks in the memory like a burr, still alive nad real, to remain there for years. These remembered moments rarely involve important personages, and they rarely seemed important at the time. Yet perhaps they remain vivid because they have a meaning, after all; and it may therefore be worth describing two such incidents, which occurred during the weeks this reporter spent in Germany.

The scene of the first is the garden of a very big, very ugly house in Berlin. There is a long table in the garden, with a dozen or more men seated or standing around it. The men are mostly in their twenties or early thirties. They wear open shirts and they have hard, tough faces.

They are filled with a nervous excitement. They smoke cigarets insatiably, and they tend all to talk at once.

Most of these men are factory workers. Many of them have been condemned to death in absentia. For all of them took a leading part in the uprisings which swept the Soviet zone of Germany in mid-June. They, and some 30 or 40 others who are billeted in the big, ugly house, eluded the police and escaped to the safe haven of West Berlin.

On occasions such as this, a reporter must wear a shield of skepticism. He must be alert for the concocted story, the boastful exaggeration, or the simple lie. And what these men describe sounds wildly improbable. They tell how, in city after city in the Soviet zone, the people spontaneously rose and seized power from the Kremlin's puppet police state.

You mean, one or another is asked, that you actually opened the prisons, and took over all the public buildings? But what happened to Communist officials? The young men laugh: "They ran away." Then how about the vopos, the Communist "Peoples Police?" One man says contemptuously, "our vopos threw their arms in the canal." Another says, "our vopos joined the uprising." Others nod their head in confirmation.

Then how about the people themselves? Surely there were some loyal to the regime? A small, thin, intense man shakes his head: "not one—no one, nowhere." Another says, "it was like a volksfest, a celebration of all the people, in the streets. They really thought they were free."

As the questioning continues, skepticism melts away. These men are obviously telling the simple truth, however incredible the truth may be. They and others like them, without arms, without prior organization, led a genuine workers' revolution, which within a few hours crumbled the puppet police state into nothing—until the Soviet tanks and troops arrived.

A contest between an unarmed people and a great army can have only one outcome — a fact worth bearing in mind. Yet as one looks around the table at the tough angry faces, one cannot help wondering how long the Kremlin, Red army and all, can hold its puppet empire together. The thought is quickly suppressed, as mere wishful thinking. But it keeps coming back.

The second incident was supremely unimportant — yet it too keeps coming back to mind. The scene is a dreary railroad station in the Soviet zone of Germany. The time is near midnight. For some mysterious reason, the American military train bound for Frankfort has stopped for a moment at this station. Across the platform, large numbers of young boys are piling into a battered train, on their way, no doubt to some Communist strength-through-joy festival.

A large, poorly dressed man is ambling along the platform, and he stops suddenly to stare stolidly at this reporter, who is leaning out of a corridor window. Seized with an unaccustomed impulse of good fellowship, this reporter waves at the large man, and shouts "Hi!" The large man grins broadly, and starts to wave back. Then his arm is arrested in midair, as by some solid object, and the smile leaves his face. He glances once, quickly, at the boys in the other train, and walks rapidly away.

As the American train pulls out, the memory of that suddenly arrested gesture takes on a meaning which, perhaps, it never had. As to many people with mild claustrophobia tendencies, a train has always seemed to this reporter a little like a prison — for the duration of a train journey, the traveller is trapped and held in a small space as surely as by a locked steel door. But now the train seems like a prison no longer. The prison, instead, is outside and all around.

Again, the fleeting, no doubt wishful thought occurs — can the Russians really keep half of Europe in a prison, forever? Somehow, in the long reach of history, it seems unlikely—although it is very hard to see how the prison can be opened.

Locarno For Our Times?

Diplomats of Western nations are even now studying a joint reply to a Soviet note of August 4 on the German problem. A committee of British, French, and Americans goes to work shortly in Paris to draft a text.

The Western nations are expected to reject Soviet proposals that (1) Communist China should participate in a conference on Germany and (2) that the conference should deal first with unification of East and West Germany and a peace treaty rather than with free elections for the two divided sections of Germany. Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain may take this occasion to put forward again his vision of a "new Locarno."

In Commons debate on May 11, Churchill said that he saw the germ of an idea to satisfy the Soviet demand for security and the West's need for safety and freedom. The germ existed in the Locarno Treaty of 1925 in which Britain agreed to go to the aid of Germany if she were attacked by France, and vice versa. "A similar idea might well play its part between Germany and Russia in the minds of those whose prime ambition it is to consolidate the peace of Europe as the key to the peace of mankind," Churchill declared.

The Locarno Treaty, designed to strengthen the Treaty of Versailles which concluded World War I, was a security compact or treaty of mutual agreement. It guaranteed the inviolability of the frontiers between Germany and Belgium and between Germany and France, as fixed by the earlier treaty. Great Britain and Italy, in the event of unprovoked aggression, agreed to go to the assistance of the attacked nation.

This left continued uncertainty as to Germany's eastern borders, with the Polish Corridor a provocative danger spot. In the early 1930's, France and Soviet Russia put forward a proposal for an "Eastern Locarno" that would have strengthened the Western Locarno by having Russia join in the British and Italian guarantee. Much more important, it would have solidified the east border of Germany.

Germany, Russia, Czechoslovakia, Poland, and the Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, and perhaps Finland, would have joined in a mutual assistance pact providing for joint guarantees of their respective borders. But Hitler refused to commit Germany to the agreement, and the plan collapsed.

In his speech before the Supreme Soviet on May 8, Premier Malenkov seemed to be hinting at a revival of the "Eastern Locarno" idea. He reminded the French that "We do not forget also that the Soviet Union and France have an agreement of alliance and mutual assistance, which could serve as a basis for the development and the strengthening of the relations between our two countries, and serve the cause of insuring European security."

Unless Malenkov is talking for the benefit of French neutralists, Russia could be turning the clock back to the days when Litvinov was foreign minister. It was he who said of the Eastern Locarno idea:

"Pacts of mutual assistance . . . must by no means be regarded as an attempt to encircle any one, since every state belonging to a given region may join in these pacts. Having equal rights and duties and an equal measure of security, not one signatory of such a pact should be considered encircled or subject to any danger if he shares the other signatories' desire for peace."

This means large doses for the first few days, with a gradual reduction until the maintenance dose is determined. At this level, the patient remains uncomfortable on the smallest amount of the remedy. Unless this is done, the effect on the system as a whole becomes evident. A dropsical condition causes the face to become puffy and moon shaped, the blood pressure rises, and sugar appears in the urine. There is muscular weakness along with marked euphoria. These symptoms disappear when the medication is stopped. Each case is an individual problem in that some develop these complications and others do not.

Rheumatoid arthritis is a generalized disease. Pain and swelling of joints are the external manifestations but unless the entire body is treated the disturbance is difficult to bring under control. Six weeks to a year of rest is essential not only of the inflamed joints but of the whole body. Some sufferers benefit from prolonged confinement in bed; others are able to maintain strength by obtaining eight to 10 hours of sleep at night and an afternoon nap. Absolute rest is inadvisable because this encourages stiffness and deformity of the joints. This is the reason why the victim is encouraged to bend the knees and elbows and to move the fingers and toes periodically. In this way the tone of the muscles and the circulation to the affected parts are improved.

The diet should be nourishing and high in vitamins and minerals. The importance of diet has led many individuals to believe that certain foods help or hinder arthritis. This is not true. Diet is stressed because most persons afflicted with this form of arthritis are underweight, undernourished, chronically ill, and in need of well balanced and appetizing meals.

We no longer remove teeth, tonsils, or other organs in a hit or miss fashion. If they are infected, their removal should increase strength and improve the feeling of well being. Numerous products are available to relieve pain. Heat and massage also help but inflamed joints never should be subjected to such treatment if it causes distress; this only adds insult to injury.

NEGLECT OF FISTULA

R. E. writes: What are the dangers of neglecting a fistula of the rectum?

REPLY

The chief complication is recurrence of infection, with a discharge of pus. Infection has a tendency to spread and occasionally leads to blood poisoning. In a few instances the fistula is tuberculous. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on rectal fistula.

STARS' BABIES

Mrs. J. T. writes: Why are the children of movie and television stars born by caesarean section?

REPLY

I question your statement because I doubt whether their obstetricians would recommend the added risk of caesarean section unless absolutely necessary. Furthermore, members of the theatrical profession avoid scarring when they can.

HEART AND SWIMMING

R. D. R., writes: I have one of those sound hearts that act up. When I'm swimming I'm afraid of a heart attack because I get extrasystoles, especially in deep water. Should I stop?

REPLY

Why torture yourself? If swimming in deep water makes your heart jump all over the place, why do it? After all, you are not a fish and other forms of exercise are available.

U. S. Officials Skeptical Of Russian H-Bomb Claim; No Russian Plane Large Enough To Transport H-Bomb; Movie Moguls Claim Ike Let Them Down

WASHINGTON—One week after Premier Malenkov's surprise announcement that Russia has the hydrogen bomb, U. S. scientists and intelligence experts have come to the flat conclusion that this is not the case.

Russia, they conclude, simply does not have the H-bomb. Nor is there a scintilla of evidence to prove that an explosion faintly resembling a hydrogen blast has been touched off.

Reason for such a positive conclusion is that it is impossible to set off either a hydrogen or an atomic blast without filling the air with radiation. These particles drift great distances. Regardless of distance, however, Allied planes, policing the atmosphere around the Soviet Union, scoop up samples of the air which tell the complete story of how big an explosion is, when it took place, and its general location.

The height of the radiation tells the size of the explosion. The wind drift gives its location. The texture of the particles tells what kind of explosion it was—whether accidental, an A-bomb, or a hydrogen blast.

Four Russian Explosions

As it now stands, we have conclusive evidence that four atomic explosions have taken place inside the Soviet Union. And we know pretty well their nature.

On the other hand, and drawing a line between the explosion of an H-bomb and possession of a hydrogen device, our scientific agencies pretty well accept the fact that Russia probably has some kind of a hydrogen device which could be exploded. However, we are equally convinced that the Russians do not have a hydrogen bomb which could be put in a plane and carried to an enemy country.

Reason for this conclusion is that the hydrogen explosion which we touched off in the mid-Pacific last year and which blew up an entire island, was not a bomb. It was called a hydrogen house, and though it contained all the ingredients of a bomb, it was exploded from the land, not the air.

So far we have never dropped a hydrogen bomb, and probably won't even put one together until shortly before it is to be dropped.

Even if the Rusians have been able to squeeze the right ingredients into an actual H-bomb, however, they don't have the planes to carry it. Our H-bomb, when finally completed, will be so large it will require certain changes even of our biggest long-range bombers; and the Red air force has no planes, so far as we know, as big as our B-36.

Award To Italian

The assumption that Russia is almost certain to have a hydrogen device is based on the face that Bruno Pontecorvo, an Italian expert on the H-bomb, disappeared behind the iron curtain three years ago and undoubtedly is working for the Russians.

Pontecorvo was one of seven Italian scientists who were so much in the lead of other scientists in splitting the atom that the Atomic Energy Commission has just awarded them $300,000 for patent infringement. And though Pontecorvo is now in Russia, his share, one-eighth, is being set aside for him in the U. S. Treasury under U. S. patent law. He has assigned one-half his interest to Eugene Ghiron-Fubini of Glen Head, Long Island.

Leader of the Italian group is Dr. Enrico Fermi, now at Columbia, who was one of the chief contributors to the atom bomb in this country during the war. However, he actually began work on splitting the atom in the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute in Berlin many years ago. Others in the group include Oscar d'Agostino, Giulio Trabachi. And Dr. Edoardo Amaldi of Rome, with Dr. Emilio Segre of the University of California, and Dr. Franco Rasetti of Johns Hopkins.

The Atomic Energy Commission has now held that the U. S. Army infringed on their basic patent; all of which indicates how widely the secret of the atom has been known in various parts of the world.

Unhappy Hollywood

President Eisenhower's pocket veto of the movie theater tax has made some of his best friends most unhappy.

During last year's political campaign, the movie moguls were among the most enthusiastic of the Ike-rooters. Darryl Zanuck of 20th Century-Fox sold the charms and assets of Ike at every luncheon "on the lot" in Hollywood. George Skouras of the Skouras Theaters sported an Ike button almost as big as a barn door. The Warner Brothers all plugged for Ike. In fact, there was hardly one movie executive, except for Dore Schary, host to Adlai Stevenson when he came to Los Angeles, who did not contribute dollars, work, or enthusiasm to Ike.

Today some of them are disappointed, some sore, some even say Ike is an ingrate.

These Days

The President's Popularity

When the Congress reconvenes in January or earlier, should a special session be called, its members will have been home to visit with their constituents. They will have a closer appraisal of public opinion on the questions with which they have to deal. They will be able to measure the popularity of General Eisenhower which has been an important consideration in the halls of Congress.

I have been noting the returns on this subject by "Facts Forum." I select this study over some others because I like the method of gathering data. It seems to me to provide the possibility of a better cross-section of the country than some other polls of opinion.

The question asked was: "Do you favor Ike over the man likely to be the next Democratic nominee?" Frankly, this question bothers me because who knows who will be the next Democratic candidate? How can anyone have an opinion on that subject? I would have asked the question more simply, "Do you still like Ike?" Or, perhaps, "Do you like Ike as much as you did?" However, at this stage, I think the answers would be the same no matter how you ask the question: the President is a popular man.

In January, the President's popularity on this poll stood at 89 per cent; in March, it was 85 per cent; in April, 87 per cent; for July, 80 per cent. It is interesting that when these figures are broken down for the Solid South, they show the July figures break up as follows: 78 per cent for the North; 82 per cent for the Solid South.

I do not believe that there is enough accuracy in any polls for anyone to quarrel about exact figures. What this poll shows is that a continuing test taken of public opinion establishes the fact that the President is an exceedingly popular person.

Yet, this popularity is not reflected in the conversations of the politicians, even of his own party, who worry about their own prospects. For instance, two of the most important Republicans are up for re-election in 1954. They are Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire and Senator Homer Ferguson of Michigan. Bridges is president pro tem of the Senate and chairman of the Appropriations Committee; Ferguson is chairman of the Republican Policy Committee. These senators are respected by their colleagues. Both are in danger.

The Bridges situation is almost without precedent. A man of his seniority and position is usually assured of renomination and, in his state, of re-election.

Yet, Bridges may have to put up a tremendous fight for renomination because the President's chief-of-staff, Sherman Adams, is reputed to desire his position. Those who like Adams say that now that he is ensconced in greatness, he will forego his senatorial ambitions. Those who dislike him say that he has caused the President considerable grief and that his best way out of the White House would be to run for the Senate. At any rate, as long as Sherman Adams is a prospective candidate for United States senator, he disturbs the relations between the President and those Republicans who feel that Bridges is about to get a raw deal.

In the case of Ferguson, the situation is more complicated. Here is a man of scholarly attainments, a great lawyer, a tremendous hard worker. He was elected chairman of the Republican Policy Committee by the colleagues, after the death of Senator Taft, because he is the most deserving man for the post.

However, Ferguson is quiet and studious and does most of his work in committee. He avoids sensationalism of any kind. His labors are constructive rather than didactic. His name does not appear in the newspapers every day cussing someone.

Yet Republican politicians, in his state, fear that he has not sufficiently grovelled in the dust before the lords of power in his particular state. They say that unless he is sure of re-election, they might get him a judgeship and put a more demogogic personality in his place. Should they do that, it would be a pity. The Senate has few men of Ferguson's ability; it already has too many empty-headed, blustering speech-makers who not only do not know what they say but do not know what they do. Republicans fear that Eisenhower's popularity will not be sufficient to save their party.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—It's an ill wind that blows no good, and it may turn out that the episode in which James A. Wechsler, editor of the New York Evening Post, was subjected to interrogation by a congressional committee will focus attention on the restraints which have already been placed on the press by law notwithstanding the First Amendment to the Constitution.

For when Mr. Wechsler was subjected to some questions he considered irrelevant and which he need not have answered, there was really no infringement of the press unless to be asked embarrassing questions constitutes an infringement of anybody's freedom.

The American Society of Newspaper Editors, however, responding to the special request of Mr. Wechsler, appointed a committee which now has reported its conclusions. The majority are noncommittal and recommend further study of the constitutional questions. The minority argues that freedom of the press is diminished when "a single newspaper, however worthy or unworthy, is subjected by one senator, however worthy or unworthy, to inconvenience, expense, humiliation, ridicule, abuse, condemnation and reproach, under the auspices of governmental power." The theory offered is that Congress allegedly can't interrogate anyone about anything it can't legislate about.

Works Both Ways

The fallacy in this is that Congress can constitutionally inquire into anything hypothetical on the remote theory that it might want to legislate on the subject some day. It can ask any questions it wishes on any subject at any time—though a witness, of course, doesn't have to answer and can challenge a committee's jurisdiction in a specific field if he likes.

Here are the laws now in existence which might be studied anew, since they plainly contravene the First Amendment to the Constitution guaranteeing freedom of the press:

1. A law has been upheld by the Supreme Court that penalizes newspapers and threatens them with the loss of second-class mail privileges if they do not reveal their private and personal affairs—namely, the exact amounts of stock, bonds or notes held by individual owners or their families. Despite the recent comment by two judges of the court in the Rumley case that "inquiry into private and personal affairs is precluded," no newspaper or magazine today can distribute economically without conforming to the rules laid down by the Post Office Department concerning this disclosure of ownership.

Lost Mail Privileges

2. A law that has taken away second-class mail privileges from a newspaper which editorially preached against the conduct of the war. The case arose during World War I against the editor of a Socialist newspaper in Milwaukee. The "U. S. Supreme Court Reports" summarized the majority opinion handed down in 1921, as follows: "Federal legislation conferring upon the postmaster general power to revoke the second-class mail privilege enjoyed by a newspaper which that official finds, after a hearing fairly conducted, systematically to have contained false reports and false statements published with intent to interfere with the success of the military operations of the federal government, to promote the success of its enemies, and to obstruct its recruiting and enlistment service, in violation of the Espionage Act of June 15, 1917, is not unconstitutional, either as not affording the publisher a trial in a court of competent jurisdiction, or as infringing the constitutional freedom of speech and press, or as taking property without due process of law." This is still the supreme law of the land, and a congressional committee concerned with the operations of governmental agencies, including the Post Office Department, can ask any question about any editorial policy expressed in a national emergency.

3. A law which has been upheld as constitutional compels an employer to fire any editorial employe who, having joined a union, wants to resign from it and yet keep his job. An employer also is compelled to dismiss any reporter who after 30 days of employment doesn't join the union. There are 118 or more such union contracts in existence today with newspapers. These contracts compel reporters to become members of a CIO union, even though they may have conscientious objections to membership in any CIO organization. If that isn't "thought control," then the words have lost their meaning.

But in 1937, when the Supreme Court upheld the Wagner Law as it applied to press association employes, no protest came from any society of newspaper editors or from any group of editors professing the "liberal" creed. Maybe times have changed and now that some "liberals" have been the victims of the governmental power of interrogation the whole subject of laws that violate the First Amendment to the Constitution will be reexamined. Perhaps the supporters of Mr. Wechsler's demands that editors be exempted from congressional interrogation on their policies now will join in a demand that Congress by statute exempt editorial employes from any labor laws that infringe freedom of the press.

Matter Of Fact

By JOSEPH ALSOP

LONDON

After a little while, when a junketing reporter has left one country for another, things which seemed important and vivid at the time tend to fade and blur, until only queer mixture of cities and people and plans and hotels and conversations and pleasures and discomforts is left.

Yet almost always, something sticks in the memory like a burr, still alive nad real, to remain there for years. These remembered moments rarely involve important personages, and they rarely seemed important at the time. Yet perhaps they remain vivid because they have a meaning, after all; and it may therefore be worth describing two such incidents, which occurred during the weeks this reporter spent in Germany.

The scene of the first is the garden of a very big, very ugly house in Berlin. There is a long table in the garden, with a dozen or more men seated or standing around it. The men are mostly in their twenties or early thirties. They wear open shirts and they have hard, tough faces.

They are filled with a nervous excitement. They smoke cigarets insatiably, and they tend all to talk at once.

Most of these men are factory workers. Many of them have been condemned to death in absentia. For all of them took a leading part in the uprisings which swept the Soviet zone of Germany in mid-June. They, and some 30 or 40 others who are billeted in the big, ugly house, eluded the police and escaped to the safe haven of West Berlin.

On occasions such as this, a reporter must wear a shield of skepticism. He must be alert for the concocted story, the boastful exaggeration, or the simple lie. And what these men describe sounds wildly improbable. They tell how, in city after city in the Soviet zone, the people spontaneously rose and seized power from the Kremlin's puppet police state.

You mean, one or another is asked, that you actually opened the prisons, and took over all the public buildings? But what happened to Communist officials? The young men laugh: "They ran away." Then how about the vopos, the Communist "Peoples Police?" One man says contemptuously, "our vopos threw their arms in the canal." Another says, "our vopos joined the uprising." Others nod their head in confirmation.

Then how about the people themselves? Surely there were some loyal to the regime? A small, thin, intense man shakes his head: "not one—no one, nowhere." Another says, "it was like a volksfest, a celebration of all the people, in the streets. They really thought they were free."

As the questioning continues, skepticism melts away. These men are obviously telling the simple truth, however incredible the truth may be. They and others like them, without arms, without prior organization, led a genuine workers' revolution, which within a few hours crumbled the puppet police state into nothing—until the Soviet tanks and troops arrived.

A contest between an unarmed people and a great army can have only one outcome — a fact worth bearing in mind. Yet as one looks around the table at the tough angry faces, one cannot help wondering how long the Kremlin, Red army and all, can hold its puppet empire together. The thought is quickly suppressed, as mere wishful thinking. But it keeps coming back.

The second incident was supremely unimportant — yet it too keeps coming back to mind. The scene is a dreary railroad station in the Soviet zone of Germany. The time is near midnight. For some mysterious reason, the American military train bound for Frankfort has stopped for a moment at this station. Across the platform, large numbers of young boys are piling into a battered train, on their way, no doubt to some Communist strength-through-joy festival.

A large, poorly dressed man is ambling along the platform, and he stops suddenly to stare stolidly at this reporter, who is leaning out of a corridor window. Seized with an unaccustomed impulse of good fellowship, this reporter waves at the large man, and shouts "Hi!" The large man grins broadly, and starts to wave back. Then his arm is arrested in midair, as by some solid object, and the smile leaves his face. He glances once, quickly, at the boys in the other train, and walks rapidly away.

As the American train pulls out, the memory of that suddenly arrested gesture takes on a meaning which, perhaps, it never had. As to many people with mild claustrophobia tendencies, a train has always seemed to this reporter a little like a prison — for the duration of a train journey, the traveller is trapped and held in a small space as surely as by a locked steel door. But now the train seems like a prison no longer. The prison, instead, is outside and all around.

Again, the fleeting, no doubt wishful thought occurs — can the Russians really keep half of Europe in a prison, forever? Somehow, in the long reach of history, it seems unlikely—although it is very hard to see how the prison can be opened.

There's No Closed Season On Popular Canned Salmon

It is many miles to the land of salmon, caught commercially in Alaska, the Puget Sound area and the Columbia River area, and the commercial salmon fishing season is short — sometimes as short as three weeks. But there's no closed season on canned salmon and you have to travel only as far as the grocery store to partake of its delicacy.

The salmon was the first fish to be canned in any quantity and since its early beginnings in 1864, the canned product has been a favorite throughout America.

The story of the salmon is romantic... how the fish are hatched in shallow headwaters, how they make their way down stream to the ocean, and how, at maturity, they fight their way back to their native stream or lake to spawn. At the start of the "run" back to the rivers and lakes, the salmon are at the peak of condition. While roaming the sea, they have stored up fats and proteins in their bodies to serve them on the entire trip upstream to the spawning grounds.

At this moment the fishermen make their catch—just when the nutritive values are most plentiful. Salmon is a complete protein food and therefore a nutritious and filling main dish. Calcium, iron, iodine and phosphorus abound in canned salmon, partially because the cooking process makes the bones as well as the meat an edible part of the fish. Canned salmon contains vitamins A, the B vitamins—especially riboflavin and niacin—and the sunshine vitamin D.

10 Minute Salmon Bake

⅓ cup milk; 1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup; 1 1-pound can salmon; 1 cup crushed potato chips.

Add milk to mushroom soup in saucepan; blend well. Drain salmon; flake. Add to soup; heat to serving temperature. Turn salmon mixture into 1 quart casserole. Top with potato chips. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400°F.) 10 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Sometimes you'll want to star the filling to make the sandwich in the special class. And then again, feature the bread—so delicious that only a butter or cream cheese filling is necessary.

Indians Dried Salmon

The sight of salmon coming upstream in early spring was a welcome one to our antecedents, the American Indians, who often felt the pinch of hunger after the long winter and greeted the fresh fish with rejoicing. The Indians believed that salmon had souls and that the bones must always be thrown back into the river so that the salmon could return to their chief in the West.

They dried the salmon so that it would keep for winter use. To this day the Alaskan Indians dry thousands of the fish for themselves and their dogs. Better eating though, is delicious canned salmon, cooked inside the can in its own juice, succulent, tender and ready for use in favorite salads and casseroles.

The population of the world is expected to rise from the current estimate of two and one-half billion to as much as four billion by the end of the century.

Canned Salmon Wonderful Summer Salad

SALAD is more than a salad in this beautiful array of ingredients. The hostess provides the fixings and each guest assembles his own salad by selecting favorites at the buffet table. Some will go for accent of cucumber or green pepper or hard cooked egg, but all will dip into the chilled and inviting canned salmon to highlight their personal creation. The recipe will be found elsewhere on this page.

Canned salmon makes a wonderful summer main dish salad. It's ready to use the instant the can is opened...so hostess-easy. The flavor of this fish is universally liked. It has been packed at the peak of perfection and cooked in a way that can't be matched at home. Ounce for ounce it is one of the most economical of canned fish. It combines well with vegetables. All in all a summer salad treasure.

Salmon Buffet Salad

1 1-pound can salmon; 1 large cucumber, scored and sliced; ½ bunch celery, cut in 2-inch pieces and fringed; 2 small green peppers, cut in rings; 1 bunch radishes, sliced; 1 bunch scallions; 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped; Barbecue relish; Salad greens; ½ cup mayonnaise; ½ cup chili sauce.

Drain salmon; flake, keeping pieces as large as possible; mound in center of serving platter. Surround salmon with scored cucumber slices, fringed celery and green pepper rings. Arrange radishes, scallions, chopped eggs and relish in separate dishes. Arrange crisp salad greens (lettuce, chicory and endive, or any other desired combination) in salad bowl. Combine mayonnaise and chili sauce, serve as dressing. Guests will select whichever ingredients they prefer and mix them in individual salad bowls. Yield 4 generous servings.

Salmon Toastwiches Golden And Crunchy

Salmon Toastwiches offer hearty protein for summer eating without the heaviness of fatter foods. Toastwiches start out like French toast, golden brown and crunchy on the edges, but since they're a double layer with a luscious canned salmon filling, they're more than twice as good.

August is Sandwich Month. It's the month when appetites suffer from heat fatigue and need something as compact and delicious as a sandwich to pick them up.

When canned salmon is used as the filling, a sandwich not only tastes good and looks good; it also supplies calcium, phosphorus and iodine, the valuable minerals which the body requires regularly. It provides a rich source of essential protein and includes protective vitamins as well.

Salmon Toastwiches

1 1-pound can salmon; ⅓ cup mayonnaise; 1 teaspoon lemon juice; ½ teaspoon Tabasco; 3 eggs; ¼teaspoon salt; 12 slices bread; 6 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Drain and flake salmon. Mix together mayonnaise, lemon juice and Tabasco. Add to salmon; mix well. Combine eggs, milk and salt in shallow dish. Spread ⅓ cup of the salmon mixture on 6 slices of the bread; top with remaining slices. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture. Brown on both sides in butter in skillet over low heat.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Summer Menu Tip; Add Canned Salmon To A Tossed Salad

A special for summer menus is a Salmon Tossed Salad, hearty and inviting enough to serve as the entree on days when the heat wilts the appetite. To the traditional tossed green salad, you add a can of salmon and hard cooked eggs. Serve it with a tangy dressing, and watch the appetites respond.

Canned salmon is ready to use the instant you open the can. Every bit is edible—there's not a bit of waste. And it's been brought from the sea direct to you, sealed before cooking and cooked in a way that can't be matched at home.

Salmon Is Nutritious

Canned salmon makes a wonderful main dish not only because of its delicious taste but also because of its abundance of wholesome nourishment. First of all, there's plenty of protein for the replacement of worn out tissues in the body and the building of new tissues in growing children. Canned salmon contains large amount of iron as well as calcium and phosphorus, coming mainly from the bones which are thoroughly softened in the cooking process and should always be eaten. Salmon is also rich in the sunshine vitamin D, as well as vitamin A, niacin and riboflavin. Few single foods are as nutritious and as delicious as the king of food fish, canned salmon.

Make ribbon sandwiches as a surprise for the family on a warm August evening. Buy an unsliced loaf of bread and slice horizontally in three or four slices. Put different spreads between the slices and wrap the whole in waxed paper and store in the refrigerator until just ready to serve. Then slice as you would ordinarily slice the loaf of bread.

Rice With Pork, And Beans Is Topped With Bacon And Tomato Slices

The way to anyone's heart is through the stomach and you will really win them over with this hearty casserole of rice and pork and beans. Happily, this rice dish makes no strain on your budget and almost no demand on your time. A quick stir to mix together the few seasonings and this rice main dish is in the oven and developing out-of-this world flavor.

INGREDIENTS

3 cups cooked rice
1, 16 ounce can pork and beans
1 cup water
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons grated onion
Generous dash of Tabasco sauce
5 or 6 thick tomato slices
5 strips of bacon

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.

2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking.

3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

METHOD: Mix together the rice, pork and beans, water, catsup, onion and Tabasco sauce. Pour into a greased 2-quart baking dish. Top with the tomato slices. Lay the strips of bacon over the tomato slices. Place in a preheated 350° F. oven and bake for 40 minutes or until the bacon is cooked to your favorite degree of doneness.

This recipe makes 7 servings.

Canned Salmon Wonderful Summer Salad

SALAD is more than a salad in this beautiful array of ingredients. The hostess provides the fixings and each guest assembles his own salad by selecting favorites at the buffet table. Some will go for accent of cucumber or green pepper or hard cooked egg, but all will dip into the chilled and inviting canned salmon to highlight their personal creation. The recipe will be found elsewhere on this page.

Canned salmon makes a wonderful summer main dish salad. It's ready to use the instant the can is opened...so hostess-easy. The flavor of this fish is universally liked. It has been packed at the peak of perfection and cooked in a way that can't be matched at home. Ounce for ounce it is one of the most economical of canned fish. It combines well with vegetables. All in all a summer salad treasure.

Salmon Buffet Salad

1 1-pound can salmon; 1 large cucumber, scored and sliced; ½ bunch celery, cut in 2-inch pieces and fringed; 2 small green peppers, cut in rings; 1 bunch radishes, sliced; 1 bunch scallions; 4 hard-cooked eggs, chopped; Barbecue relish; Salad greens; ½ cup mayonnaise; ½ cup chili sauce.

Drain salmon; flake, keeping pieces as large as possible; mound in center of serving platter. Surround salmon with scored cucumber slices, fringed celery and green pepper rings. Arrange radishes, scallions, chopped eggs and relish in separate dishes. Arrange crisp salad greens (lettuce, chicory and endive, or any other desired combination) in salad bowl. Combine mayonnaise and chili sauce, serve as dressing. Guests will select whichever ingredients they prefer and mix them in individual salad bowls. Yield 4 generous servings.

Salmon Toastwiches Golden And Crunchy

Salmon Toastwiches offer hearty protein for summer eating without the heaviness of fatter foods. Toastwiches start out like French toast, golden brown and crunchy on the edges, but since they're a double layer wilth a luscious canned salmon filling, they're more than twice as good.

August is Sandwich Month. It's the month when appetites suffer from heat fatigue and need something as compact and delicious as a sandwich to pick them up.

When canned salmon is used as the filling, a sandwich not only tastes good and looks good; it also supplies calcium, phosphorus and iodine, the valuable minerals which the body requires regularly. It provides a rich source of essential protein and includes protective vitamins as well.

Salmon Toastwiches

1 1-pound can salmon; ⅓ cup mayonnaise; 1 teaspoon lemon juice; ½ teaspoon Tabasco; 3 eggs; ¼teaspoon salt; 12 slices bread; 6 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Drain and flake salmon. Mix together mayonnaise, lemon juice and Tabasco. Add to salmon; mix well. Combine eggs, milk and salt in shallow dish. Spread ⅓ cup of the salmon mixture on 6 slices of the bread; top with remaining slices. Dip each sandwich into egg mixture. Brown on both sides in butter in skillet over low heat.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Summer Menu Tip; Add Canned Salmon To A Tossed Salad

A special for summer menus is a Salmon Tossed Salad, hearty and inviting enough to serve as the entree on days when the heat wilts the appetite. To the traditional tossed green salad, you add a can of salmon and hard cooked eggs. Serve it with a tangy dressing, and watch the appetites respond.

Canned salmon is ready to use the instant you open the can. Every bit is edible—there's not a bit of waste. And it's been brought from the sea direct to you, sealed before cooking and cooked in a way that can't be matched at home.

Salmon Is Nutritious

Canned salmon makes a wonderful main dish not only because of its delicious taste but also because of its abundance of wholesome nourishment. First of all, there's plenty of protein for the replacement of worn out tissues in the body and the building of new tissues in growing children. Canned salmon contains large amount of iron as well as calcium and phosphorus, coming mainly from the bones which are thoroughly softened in the cooking process and should always be eaten. Salmon is also rich in the sunshine vitamin D, as well as vitamin A, niacin and riboflavin. Few single foods are as nutritious and as delicious as the king of food fish, canned salmon.

Salmon Tossed Salad

Mixed salad greens (lettuce, watercress, romaine, escarole)
2 tomatoes
½ medium cucumber
2 hardcooked eggs, chopped
1 7¾-ounce can salmon
*Salmon Salad Dressing

Tear washed crisp greens apart with fingers; put in salad bowl. Cut each tomato in eight wedges; leave green peel on cucumber and cut in thin slices; arrange tomato wedges and cucumber slices over greens around edge of bowl. Sprinkle hard cooked egg in a band next to tomatoes. Drain and flake salmon; put in center of bowl. To serve at table, spoon Salmon Salad Dressing over salad and toss well. Yield: 4 servings.

*Salmon Salad Dressing

½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
¼ teaspoon Tabasco
½ teaspoon paprika
2 tablespoons chili sauce
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 teaspoons minced onion
¼ cup sliced stuffed olives

Add all ingredients to mayonnaise or salad dressing, mix well Yield: 1 cup.

Salami Salad Sandwich Filling

½ cup chopped salami, ¼ pound
2 tablespoons sweet pickle relish
2 tablespoons chopped celery
2 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1 hard-cooked egg, chopped

Combine salami, pickle relish, celery, mayonnaise, mustard and chopped egg.

Yield: 1 cup, or filling for 5 sandwiches.

Make ribbon sandwiches as a surprise for the family on a warm August evening. Buy an unsliced loaf of bread and slice horizontally in three or four slices. Put different spreads between the slices and wrap the whole in waxed paper and store in the refrigerator until just ready to serve. Then slice as you would ordinarily slice the loaf of bread.

Rice With Pork, And Beans Is Topped With Bacon And Tomato Slices

The way to anyone's heart is through the stomach and you will really win them over with this hearty casserole of rice and pork and beans. Happily, this rice dish makes no strain on your budget and almost no demand on your time. A quick stir to mix together the few seasonings and this rice main dish is in the oven and developing out-of-this world flavor.

INGREDIENTS

3 cups cooked rice
1, 16 ounce can pork and beans
1 cup water
½ cup catsup
2 tablespoons grated onion
Generous dash of Tabasco sauce
5 or 6 thick tomato slices
5 strips of bacon

PREPARING THE FLUFFY WHITE RICE: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

1. Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.
2. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking.
3. Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

METHOD: Mix together the rice, pork and beans, water, catsup, onion and Tabasco sauce. Pour into a greased 2-quart baking dish. Top with the tomato slices. Lay the strips of bacon over the tomato slices. Place in a preheated 350° F. oven and bake for 40 minutes or until the bacon is cooked to your favorite degree of doneness.

This recipe makes 7 servings.

Pork-Applesauce Sandwiches

Roast pork and applesauce, summer style, comes by way of the sandwich. The sandwich made with enriched bread and filled with a slice of cold meat is an ideal main food for the porch supper. Spread 12 slices of enriched bread with soft butter or margarine. Place one slice of pork and two tablespoons of applesauce between each two slices.

Summer Buffet Cold Cuts

Here is seasonal hospitality in action! This is the time of the year when sunny blue skies, temperatures and vacation activity cut down on kitchen time. That's why this is a splendid time to serve cold cuts with a new chive cream cheese dressing. Men will especially like this combination. And, it takes just about a minute to make it.

Teach your one-and-only to make this chive cream cheese dressing. From there on, he will make it his very own specialty. A six ounce package of wej-cut chive cream cheese, one-half cup mayonnaise and two to four tablespoons of cream or milk are the only ingredients. They should be blended well with a fork or rotary beater. Spread the dressing on slices of cold meat or wrap the meat around the dressing for easy eating. Presto! That's all there is to it, except the compliments he'll receive at serving time. Incidentally, this is an excellent food idea for "summer bachelors." It will prove most useful on those nights when the boys drop around for a little game.

For a change, bake a quick loaf bread. Add fruit, both dried and candied, nuts and peanut butter to vary the kinds of bread. You'll find the family likes these breads just spread with butter, margarine or cream cheese.

Iced Tea Drinks For 6 Or 60

There's nothing more refreshing, with a promise of relief from the sweltering heat than iced tea—glistening cold and glittering through the transparent walls of a frosty glass pitcher. Just plain iced tea is always welcome at the table or between meals because of all summertime beverages, iced tea holds up its promise to quench your thirst and cool you off.

But iced tea can also be the base of many other summer drinks such as mixed fruit drinks and punches to serve between meals, with meals or for large groups for special occasion parties. Here are several that will come in handy. The yield varies in each recipe—and should be selected to suit the number of people you plan to serve.

TO SERVE 4 TO 8

Frosty Spiced Tea

(Makes about 6 servings)

¾ cup cold water
½ cup sugar
dash of salt
½ teaspoon whole cloves
6 2-inch cinnamon sticks
dash of nutmeg
4 cups boiling water
3 tablespoons tea
6 lemon wedges
ice cubes

To make syrup, combine and simmer water, sugar, salt and spices over low heat for 20 minutes. Strain and set aside. To make tea base, bring 4 cups water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add 3 tablespoons tea. Brew 3-5 minutes. Stir and strain into spiced syrup. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses. Serve with lemon wedge and stick of cinnamon in each glass.

Vermont Iced Tea

(Makes about 4 servings)

2 cups boiling water
3 tablespoons tea
2 cups cold water
2 tablespoons maple-blended syrup
lemon wedges

To make tea base, bring 2 cups water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add 3 tablespoons tea. Brew 3-5 minutes. Stir and strain into pitcher holding 2 cups cold water. Add maple-blended syrup. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses. Garnish with lemon wedges.

Iced Tea Hollywood Style

2 cups boiling water
3 tablespoons tea
2 cups cold water
¼ cup lime juice
2 teaspoons maraschino cherry juice
sugar to taste

Bring 2 cups of water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 3-5 minutes. Stir and strain into pitcher holding 2 cups cold water. Just before serving, add lime and cherry juice and sugar to taste. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses.

While you're trying new and different kinds of sandwiches during "August is Sandwich Month," surprise your family with this pancake sandwich. Brown ½ pound sausage meat in skillet. Drain off excess drippings. Add 1 can of condensed cream of mushroom soup, ¾ cup water and 1 cup shredded American cheese. Mix until well blended and heated thoroughly. Put ¼ cup of hot mixture over 1 pancake. Top with second pancake and ¼ cup more of the sausage-mushroom sauce. These sandwiches will add to your culinary reputation.

Cold Cuts Buffet Tray

Summer entertaining can be casual and effortless when you serve a handsome platter of cold cuts. For an appetizing and attractive arrangement, choose a variety of shapes, colors and textures, such as shown here: jellied corned beef, spiced ham, bologna, head cheese, summer sausage, liver sausage and pimento loaf. For a buffet supper or luncheon serve the cold cut with a colorful and tasy macaroni salad. Here's a favorite, tested recipe for such a salad.

2 cups elbow macaroni (8 oz. package); ¼ cup French dressing; ¼ cup sliced green onions (Scallions); ¼ diced pimiento; ½ cup finely chopped sweet pickles; ½ cup thinly sliced carrots; 2 tablespoonsp repared mustard; mayonnaise, salt and pepper.

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and rinse with cold water. Add French dressing and chill for several hours, if possible. Add remaining ingredients, using about 1 cup mayonnaise and salt and pepper to taste; mix thoroughly but lightly. Chill several hours. Serve in lettuce lined bowl; sprinkle with chopped parsley and top with hard-cooked egg slices, if desired. 8 servings.

Fruit Tea Punch

(Makes about 6 servings.)

2 cups boiling water
1 tablespoon tea
1 can grapefruit juice
1 can pineapple juice
½ cup sugar
1 quart gingerale
1 lemon, thinly sliced

Bring water to full rolling boil in saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 4 minutes. Stir and strain into container holding remaining ingredients, except gingerale and lemon slices. Chill. Just before serving, add gingerale. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses. Garnish with lemon slices.

Rice, Corn Casserole With Meat, Cheese

Everyone likes tender white rice and golden kernels of corn and when these two foods are mixed together the result is doubly good. You will love making this rice oven dish because it is as easy as ABC, and you will take special pride and pleasure in the many compliments you will receive after "your eaters" have had a chance to taste this really colossal rice, corn, meat and cheese combination

Ingredients

3 cups cooked rice; 1, 12 ounce can (1-½ cups) yellow corn (drained); 1 tablespoon finely chopped whole canned pimiento*; 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper;* ⅓ cup catsup; 1 cup liquid (water and juice from corn); ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1, 12 ounce can pork luncheon meat; ⅓ pound American cheese.

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.

Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking.

Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

Method: Mix together the rice, corn, pimiento, green pepper, liquid, catsup, salt and pepper. Cut the luncheon meat into six slices. Cut the cheese into slices the same shape as the luncheon meat slices. Pour the rice and corn mixture into a baking-serving dish which is large enough at the top to make it possible to lay the luncheon meat slices over the top of the rice. Lay the meat slices on the rice. Place the cheese slices on top of the meat. Place in a preheated 350°F. oven for 30 minutes or until the cheese is golden brown and the mixture is heated through.

While the pimiento and green pepper add a touch to this dish, they may be omitted if desired without materially effecting the basic goodness and flavor.

This recipe makes 6 servings.

Look to the future—September is just around the corner and there will be lunch boxes to pack. Let your family be the taste panel for the new sandwich fillings and breads you make.

Asparagus With Cheese Sauce For a Delicious Luncheon Dish

Planning your first fall luncheon? For "something different," try this unique way of combining two old favorites—frozen asparagus and cheese sauce. First, cook the garden-fresh spears of frozen asparagus and wrap them into serving size bundles with strips of cheese biscuit dough. Then bake the bundles 'til the biscuit strips are a beautiful golden brown. Place these individual servings on a platter and top with a creamy smooth sauce piquantly flavored with sliced stuffed olives. The intriguing combination will be a lunch-time favorite—colorfully attractive—with flavor worth raving about.

Frozen Asparagus Bundles

1 package frozen asparagus; ⅔ cup grated sharp cheese; 1 cup biscuit mix; ⅓ cup milk; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 cup milk; ¼ cup sliced stuffed olives; 1 pimiento cut in strips (optional).

Cook asparagus according to directions on package; drain. Mix ⅓ cup cheese with the biscuit mix; add ⅓ cup milk. Pat dough into rectangular shape on floured surface and cut into strips about ¾ inch wide. Divide asparagus spears into 4 or 5 equal servings and wrap biscuit strips around each bunch. Bake on greased cooky sheets. Temperature: 450°. Time: 8 to 10 minutes. Meantime make cheese sauce from butter or margarine, flour, 1 cup milk, and remaining ⅓ cup cheese. Add the olive slices. Arrange asparagus bundles on platter and pour cheese sauce over. Garnish with pimiento strips if desired. Amount: 4 or 5 servings.

Sherbet Tea Punch

(Makes about 12 servings.)

2 cups boiling water
1 tablespoon tea
1 cup sugar
1 cup orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
1 pint gingerale
slices of lemon or lime
1 pint orange sherbet

Bring 2 cups water to full rolling boil in saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 4 minutes. Stir and strain into container holding sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Stir in juices. Chill. Just before serving pour over a block of ice in punch bowl. Stir in gingerale and add fruit slices. When ready to serve, add well-frozen orange sherbet.

Cold Cuts Buffet Tray

Summer entertaining can be casual and effortless when you serve a handsome platter of cold cuts. For an appetizing and attractive arrangement, choose a variety of shapes, colors and textures, such as shown here: jellied corned beef, spiced ham, bologna, head cheese, summer sausage, liver sausage and pimento loaf. For a buffet supper or luncheon serve the cold cut with a colorful and tasy macaroni salad. Here's a favorite, tested recipe for such a salad.

2 cups elbow macaroni (8 oz. package); ¼ cup French dressing; ¼ cup sliced green onions (Scallions); ¼ diced pimiento; ½ cup finely chopped sweet pickles; ½ cup thinly sliced carrots; 2 tablespoonsp repared mustard; mayonnaise, salt and pepper.

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain and rinse with cold water. Add French dressing and chill for several hours, if possible. Add remaining ingredients, using about 1 cup mayonnaise and salt and pepper to taste; mix thoroughly but lightly. Chill several hours. Serve in lettuce lined bowl; sprinkle with chopped parsley and top with hard-cooked egg slices, if desired. 8 servings.

Fruit Tea Punch

(Makes about 6 servings.)

2 cups boiling water
1 tablespoon tea
1 can grapefruit juice
1 can pineapple juice
½ cup sugar
1 quart gingerale
1 lemon, thinly sliced

Bring water to full rolling boil in saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 4 minutes. Stir and strain into container holding remaining ingredients, except gingerale and lemon slices. Chill. Just before serving, add gingerale. Pour over ice cubes in tall glasses. Garnish with lemon slices.

Rice, Corn Casserole With Meat, Cheese

Everyone likes tender white rice and golden kernels of corn and when these two foods are mixed together the result is doubly good. You will love making this rice oven dish because it is as easy as ABC, and you will take special pride and pleasure in the many compliments you will receive after "your eaters" have had a chance to taste this really colossal rice, corn, meat and cheese combination

Ingredients

3 cups cooked rice; 1, 12 ounce can (1-½ cups) yellow corn (drained); 1 tablespoon finely chopped whole canned pimiento*; 1 tablespoon finely chopped green pepper;* ⅓ cup catsup; 1 cup liquid (water and juice from corn); ½ teaspoon salt; ⅛ teaspoon pepper; 1, 12 ounce can pork luncheon meat; ⅓ pound American cheese.

Preparing the fluffy white rice: To make 3 heaping cups of white, fluffy, perfectly cooked rice:

Put 1 cup of uncooked rice, 2 cups of cold water and 1 teaspoon salt into a 2-quart saucepan and bring to a vigorous boil.

Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Do not remove lid nor stir rice while it is cooking.

Leave saucepan over this low heat for 14 minutes. Remove from the heat. The rice is now ready to use.

Method: Mix together the rice, corn, pimiento, green pepper, liquid, catsup, salt and pepper. Cut the luncheon meat into six slices. Cut the cheese into slices the same shape as the luncheon meat slices. Pour the rice and corn mixture into a baking-serving dish which is large enough at the top to make it possible to lay the luncheon meat slices over the top of the rice. Lay the meat slices on the rice. Place the cheese slices on top of the meat. Place in a preheated 350°F. oven for 30 minutes or until the cheese is golden brown and the mixture is heated through.

While the pimiento and green pepper add a touch to this dish, they may be omitted if desired without materially effecting the basic goodness and flavor.

This recipe makes 6 servings.

Look to the future—September is just around the corner and there will be lunch boxes to pack. Let your family be the taste panel for the new sandwich fillings and breads you make.

Asparagus With Cheese Sauce For a Delicious Luncheon Dish

Planning your first fall luncheon? For "something different," try this unique way of combining two old favorites—frozen asparagus and cheese sauce. First, cook the garden-fresh spears of frozen asparagus and wrap them into serving size bundles with strips of cheese biscuit dough. Then bake the bundles 'til the biscuit strips are a beautiful golden brown. Place these individual servings on a platter and top with a creamy smooth sauce piquantly flavored with sliced stuffed olives. The intriguing combination will be a lunch-time favorite—colorfully attractive—with flavor worth raving about.

Frozen Asparagus Bundles

1 package frozen asparagus; ⅔ cup grated sharp cheese; 1 cup biscuit mix; ⅓ cup milk; 2 tablespoons flour; 1 cup milk; ¼ cup sliced stuffed olives; 1 pimiento cut in strips (optional).

Cook asparagus according to directions on package; drain. Mix ⅓ cup cheese with the biscuit mix; add ⅓ cup milk. Pat dough into rectangular shape on floured surface and cut into strips about ¾ inch wide. Divide asparagus spears into 4 or 5 equal servings and wrap biscuit strips around each bunch. Bake on greased cooky sheets. Temperature: 450°. Time: 8 to 10 minutes. Meantime make cheese sauce from butter or margarine, flour, 1 cup milk, and remaining ⅓ cup cheese. Add the olive slices. Arrange asparagus bundles on platter and pour cheese sauce over. Garnish with pimiento strips if desired. Amount: 4 or 5 servings.

Sherbet Tea Punch

(Makes about 12 servings.)

2 cups boiling water
1 tablespoon tea
1 cup sugar
1 cup orange juice
½ cup lemon juice
1 pint gingerale
slices of lemon or lime
1 pint orange sherbet

Bring 2 cups water to full rolling boil in saucepan. Remove from heat. Immediately add tea. Brew 4 minutes. Stir and strain into container holding sugar. Stir until sugar is dissolved. Stir in juices. Chill. Just before serving pour over a block of ice in punch bowl. Stir in gingerale and add fruit slices. When ready to serve, add well-frozen orange sherbet.

Pews Stolen From Church; Cabinet Maker Is Accused

EASTON, Md., Aug. 13 (AP)—Somebody has made off with all the pews from the Ferry Neck Methodist Episcopal Church.

They even took the brass hinges from a front door.

The 22 pews were 12 feet long and of white pine.

Regular services have not been held at the 97-year-old church for a number of years. The removal of the pews may prevent the annual homecoming service from being held this year.

Authorities said some of the pews were found in the shop of a cabinet maker. Others had been made into steps.

The church is in an isolated section of nearby Ferry Neck.

Charged with grand larceny was Leon Kenneth Turner, 24-year-old Negro cabinet maker who lives in Bellevue, about a mile from the church. He has been released on bail.

State's Attorney Harry E. Clark said five of the missing pews, dismantled, were found in Turner's shop.

Regular services have not been held at the church for about 25 years. Instead, there have been annual homecoming services.

Accused Bank Robber Jailed To Await Trial

FREDERICK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Gilbert Littles, one of three men charged in the July 10 holdup of the bank at nearby Libertytown, was returned to Frederick County jail today to await trial following arraignment in Circuit Court.

Associate Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer ordered a blanket plea of innocent entered for the 37-year-old Harrisburg, Pa., Negro when he didn't seem to understand some of the four counts against him.

He is charged with armed robbery, conspiracy to rob, assault with intent to murder and assault and battery.

Knitting Needle Helps Send Man To Prison

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13 (AP) — A knitting needle helped send 23-year-old Roy F. Bryant to prison today for ten years.

Authorities said he used a tool improvised from a needle to open screen doors and rob homes. He pleaded guilty before Judge S. Ralph Warnken to five charges and drew a 10-year sentence in each case, the sentences to run concurrently.

Two Md. Gls Died In Red Captivity

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Army today identified 121 American soldiers reported by the Communists to have died in Red prison camps.

Familes of the men have been notified and told the information is based solely on Communist reports, which may be completely unreliable.

The Communists have listed a total of 1,022 American servicemen who they say died in captivity. They have reported that an additional 147 have escaped. The Communists have disclaimed any knowledge of the fate of the men reported to have escaped, and the Defense Department has said that not one of this latter group has returned to the U. S. military control or been heard from.

All the names on today's list are Army men, and all are reported by the Reds to have died.

The list includes:

MARYLAND

Pfc. Louis A. Damewood, son of Mrs. Myrtle Damewood, Relay.

Sgt. Claude Lanier, son of Mrs. Melvina Lanier, Baltimore.

WEST VIRGINIA

Pfc. Allen T. Maddy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen A. Maddy, 201 Main St., Hinton.

Cpl. James E. Turley, husband of Mrs. Marie E. Turley, 222 River Ave., South Charleston.

Need 17 Teachers

ANNAPOLIS, Aug. 13 (AP) — Anne Arundel County wants 17 more school teachers before the new term opens next month.

Dr. Davis S. Jenkins, superintendent, said the county is that many shy of the 861 needed to teach an expected enrollment of 24,000.

Big Construction Project Disrupted By Grandmother

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13 (AP)—A 57-year-old grandmother disrupted a big construction job today by impounding the contractor's equipment behind a chicken wire fence and standing guard over it with a rifle.

The equipment—an air compressor, a hoist and several other tools—is on the lawn of Mrs. Wanda K. Sienkielewski who says, "I'm really not a bad fellow."

She doesn't object to its being on her lawn. "They have to have room to work," she admits.

But she wants it "in black on white that they (the contractors) "will repair any damage done to my lawn and pay me a rental."

The embattled Mrs. S. is not saying what rental she wants. She'll talk that over with the "enemy" when they show up for "truce negotiations." Earlier, a check for $150 was returned to the firm.

"They haven't even come around yet," she said today.

The job is a three million dollar sewer construction project undertaken by the Leo G. Butler Co. of College Park, Md., for Baltimore County.

Today workers were "just killing time on the job," according to Mrs. Sienkielewski.

"I feel real sorry for that foreman and the men trying to work. That poor foreman is getting ulcers in his stomach out of this," said the grandmother.

And on the job, the foreman admitted, "We sure could use that equipment."

Mrs. Sienkielewski said that for months she has been trying to come to terms with the contractors.

"I just got tired of them saying not to pay any attention to that old woman whenever I complained," she said.

College All-Stars Play Detroit Lions At Chicago Tonight

Soldier Field Scene Of Game Pros Favored

Collegians Are 14½ Point Underdogs; Five Marylanders In Lineup

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP) — The Detroit Lions, champions of the National Football League, and the Colleges' best new graduates tangle in the 20th All-Star game at Soldier Field before 90,000 tomorrow night.

The Lions may not be eating 'em alive in this colorful contest which will be televised (Dumont) and broadcast (Mutual) beginning at 8:30 p.m. EST.

Pros Are Favorites

Although 14½-point underdogs, Bobby Dodd's collegians appear as agile and talented as the 1950 All-Stars who notched the last triumph for the campus heroes in this series which has produced 11 victories for the pros, six for the collegians and two ties.

The 17-7 conquest three years ago over the Philadelphia Eagles came as the pros didn't know what to do about Charlie Justice of North Carolina and Eddie LeBaron of College of the Pacific and a brawny bevy of All-Star linemen who wouldn't be pushed around.

Dodd's coaching staff has admitted the collegiate crew on hand is better than the one, coached last year by the Georgia Tech mentor, that went in a 10-7 loss to the Los Angeles Rams.

Fair weather is predicted tomorrow night.

Five Terps On Squad

The 52-player All-Star squad has representatives from 34 schools, headed by Maryland with five.

Needless to say, the Lions fall into the rock-ribbed category, too. It would do well for the likes of All-Star backs Gib Dawson of Texas, Billy Reynolds of Pittsburgh, Andy Kozar of Tennessee, and Johnny Olszewski of California to avoid winding up beneath the Lion forward wall.

The Detroit pros have such corpulent fellows as 285-pound Les Bingaman, perhaps the biggest middle guard in football anywhere, 262-pound Leon Hart and 220-pound Jim Martin, at ends; and a tackle crew including Augie Cifelli, 240, Lou Creekmur, 245, and Johnny Prchlik and Thurman McGraw, 235 each. These boys just don't take up space. They move, too.

Expect 90,000 To Watch 20th All-Star Game

Dick Modzelewski, All-Stars | Jim Sears, All-Stars | Bobby Dodd, All-Star Coach | Fred Bruney, All-Stars | Pat Harder, Lions

COACHES AND ALL-STAR GAME PLAYERS—With a crowd of 90,000 watching the proceedings, the 20th annual all-star football game will be played in Chicago's Soldier Field tonight. IT WON'T be long now.

Just one month from tonight the scholastic football season opens here with LaSalle opposing Fort Hill for the twenty-first time since their series started in 1936.

LaSalle never has beaten Fort Hill on the gridiron. The Sentinels have won 19 games—the last 17 in a row—and the Explorers were shut out ten times. In 1938 the teams played a scoreless tie. Fort Hill won the 1952 tilt by the score of 32-6.

This is LaSalle's 26th year of football. Since 1928 Explorer elevens have engaged in 223 games, winning 94 and losing 109. Twenty games ended in ties.

Fort Hill made its football debut in 1936 and for 17 seasons owns a record of 116 wins, 30 losses and ten ties in 156 games.

This is Bill Hahn's ninth season as head coach at Fort Hill. His teams have won 64, lost 7 and played four tie games.

Norman F. Geatz, Jr., took over the reins at LaSalle late in the 1951 campaign and his teams have won nine, lost three and tied one.

TOMMY RICHARDS, who accounted for 11 of 12 victories scored by Beall High's co-champions in the Bi-State Scholastic Conference this year, has figured in seven Bi-State League games thus far and has yielded an average of only 2.7 runs per game.

He dropped his first four games to McCoole 3-2, Mt. Savage 5-3, Westvaco 2-0 and the Old Germans 6-2 then turned back Westvaco 6-1, Mt. Savage 4-1 and the Old Germans 6-1.

If earned run averages are being kept the Frostburg youngster's should be about the best in the league.

TO THE FAN who called about the infield-fly rule:

An infield fly is an out called by the umpire on the batter—If, before two are out, while first and second or first, second and third bases are occupied, he hit a fair fly ball, other than a line drive, that in the judgment of the umpire can reasonably caught by an infielder.

Where a defensive player who normally plays in the outfield places himself in the infield, he shall for the purpose of the infield-fly rule be considered an infielder. In such case the umpire shall declare it Infield-Fly. However, the runners may be off their bases or advance at the risk of the ball being caught, the same as on any other fly ball.

If the runner is hit by the ball while standing on base, he shall not be called out, but the ball is dead and the batter shall be called out; but if a base runner is hit while off base, both he and the batter shall be called out and the ball is dead. Provided, that, with first and second bases occupied, or first, second and third bases occupied, before two are out, any attempt to bunt which results in a fair fly ball shall not be regarded as an infield-fly.

PENNSYLVANIA is cracking down on game law violators in earnest.

Anyone shooting a deer out of season will have hunting and trapping privileges revoked for three years and a convicted person will be fined $200.

A five-year revocation and $200 fine will be plastered on anyone for shooting a bear out of season.

RAY TRULLINGER, outdoor editor of the New York World Telegram and Sun, says the easiest big animal to hunt and kill is the moose and he adds they're better eating than deer.

Trullinger opines that the sportiest upland game bird to shoot and by far the most delicious to eat is the ruffed grouse.

"Easiest upland game bird to hit and the poorest eating is the pheasant.

"Smartest of the so-called big animals is the whitetail. When you down a big whitetail buck, either you're pretty smart or loaded with horseshoes.

"Best smells, "Trillinger concludes," are deer liver and onions, burning birch bark and coffee boiling."

PVT. BOB GORDON, the clever right hander, who lost a heartbreaker to the Cumberland Old Germans on Sunday, August 2, while pitching for Charley Doyle's Mt. Savage Braves, came back four days later and tossed a no-hitter as Fort Meade defeated Fort Ritchie by the score of 14-1.

Gordon, who hails from Claysburg, Pa., lost a 3-2 duel to Norman Geatz at Penn Avenue Field through two costly errors by his teammates in the 9th inning.

Turpin-Olson Fight Is Set For New York

Title Match Carded For Garden Oct. 21; No TV For Gotham

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Randy Turpin and Carl (Bobo) Olson today were matched for a 15-round world middleweight title bout, Wednesday, Oct. 21 at Madison Square Garden with New York blacked out on home television.

The huge New York market area has gone without TV of other important fights that were carried only on theater TV but this is the first time the big town will miss a battle that other sections of the nation will watch at home for free.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, and Harry Markson, his managing director, have been negotiating for over two months to land the bout. The dickering involved trips to Europe and San Francisco by Markson.

From the start there have been differences about the site. Sid Flaherty, manager of Olson, held out for San Francisco where the transplanted Hawaiian now lives. George Middleton, Turpin's manager, balked at taking the British champion anywhere except New York.

Markson, announcing the bout for Norris, said the fighters agreed to a 30-30 split of "everything" including the TV receipts, believed to be around $40,000. There is no rematch contract but the I. B. C. certainly has an agreement with the ultimate champion on future title defenses.

Retirement of Sugar Ray Robinson, Dec. 18, 1952 to take up a new career as a song and dance man vacated the championship of the 160-pound division.

Britain recognized Turpin as world champion after he defeated France's Charles Humez at London, June 9 in a 15-rounder. The European boxing union and all U. S. commissions refused to crown a new middle king until the European and American champions met.

A tournament to determine the American titleholder resulted in an Olson-Paddy Young finale at the Garden, June 19, won by the clever Olson.

Browns Defeat Tigers In 11th

Stephens Breaks Up Pitching Duel, 1-0

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13 (AP) — Vern Stephens, who blew three earlier clutch batting opportunities, redeemed himself today by driving in Vic Wertz with an 11th inning single to give the St. Louis Browns a 1-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers before a scant gathering of 980.

Ned Garver held his former Brownie teammates to three hits in the first nine innings but went on to suffer his ninth defeat against eight victories. Ex-Tiger Lou Kretlow held the Browns scoreless for 10 innings on eight scattered hits and then retired for a pinch hitter. Marlin Stuart relieved him and gained credit for the triumph, his seventh.

College All-Stars Play Detroit Lions At Chicago Tonight

Soldier Field Scene Of Game Pros Favored

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP) — The Detroit Lions, champions of the National Football League, and the Colleges' best new graduates tangle in the 20th All-Star game at Soldier Field before 90,000 tomorrow night.

The Lions may not be eating 'em alive in this colorful contest which will be televised (Dumont) and broadcast (Mutual) beginning at 8:30 p.m. EST.

Pros Are Favorites

Although 14½-point underdogs, Bobby Dodd's collegians appear as agile and talented as the 1950 All-Stars who notched the last triumph for the campus heroes in this series which has produced 11 victories for the pros, six for the collegians and two ties.

The 17-7 conquest three years ago over the Philadelphia Eagles came as the pros didn't know what to do about Charlie Justice of North Carolina and Eddie LeBaron of College of the Pacific and a brawny bevy of All-Star linemen who wouldn't be pushed around.

Dodd's coaching staff has admitted the collegiate crew on hand is better than the one, coached last year by the Georgia Tech mentor, that went in a 10-7 loss to the Los Angeles Rams.

Fair weather is predicted tomorrow night.

Five Terps On Squad

The 52-player All-Star squad has representatives from 34 schools, headed by Maryland with five.

Needless to say, the Lions fall into the rock-ribbed category, too. It would do well for the likes of All-Star backs Gib Dawson of Texas, Billy Reynolds of Pittsburgh, Andy Kozar of Tennessee, and Johnny Olszewski of California to avoid winding up beneath the Lion forward wall.

The Detroit pros have such corpulent fellows as 285-pound Les Bingaman, perhaps the biggest middle guard in football anywhere, 262-pound Leon Hart and 220-pound Jim Martin, at ends; and a tackle crew including Augie Cifelli, 240, Lou Creekmur, 245, and Johnny Prchlik and Thurman McGraw, 235 each. These boys just don't take up space. They move, too.

Expect 90,000 To Watch 20th All-Star Game

COACHES AND ALL-STAR GAME PLAYERS—With a crowd of 90,000 watching the proceedings, the 20th annual all-star football game will be played in Chicago's Soldier Field tonight. The Detroit Lions, defending champions, take on an all-star team which is being coached by Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech. The series now stands 11 wins to 6 in favor of the pros. Two games ended in ties. Last year the Los Angeles Rams won by the score of 10 to 7. John Alderton of Cumberland will play with the All-Stars.

Deal For Nestor Off?

By C. V. BURNS

IT WON'T be long now.

Just one month from tonight the scholastic football season opens here with LaSalle opposing Fort Hill for the twenty-first time since their series started in 1936.

LaSalle never has beaten Fort Hill on the gridiron. The Sentinels have won 19 games—the last 17 in a row—and the Explorers were shut out ten times. In 1938 the teams played a scoreless tie. Fort Hill won the 1952 tilt by the score of 32-6.

This is LaSalle's 26th year of football. Since 1928 Explorer elevens have engaged in 223 games, winning 94 and losing 109. Twenty games ended in ties.

Fort Hill made its football debut in 1936 and for 17 seasons owns a record of 116 wins, 30 losses and ten ties in 156 games.

This is Bill Hahn's ninth season as head coach at Fort Hill. His teams have won 64, lost 7 and played four tie games.

Norman F. Geatz, Jr., took over the reins at LaSalle late in the 1951 campaign and his teams have won nine, lost three and tied one.

TOMMY RICHARDS, who accounted for 11 of 12 victories scored by Beall High's co-champions in the Bi-State Scholastic Conference this year, has figured in seven Bi-State League games thus far and has yielded an average of only 2.7 runs per game.

He dropped his first four games to McCoole 3-2, Mt. Savage 5-3, Westvaco 2-0 and the Old Germans 6-2 then t'ned back Westvaco 6-1, Mt. Savage 4-1 and the Old Germans 6-1.

If earned run averages are being kept the Frostburg youngster's should be about the best in the league.

TO THE FAN who called about the infield-fly rule:

An infield fly is an out called by the umpire on the batter—If, before two are out, while first and second or first, second and third bases are occupied, he hit a fair fly ball, other than a line drive, that in the judgment of the umpire can reasonably caught by an infielder.

Where a defensive player who normally plays in the outfield places himself in the infield, he shall for the purpose of the infield-fly rule be considered an infielder. In such case the umpire shall declare it Infield-Fly. However, the runners may be off their bases or advance at the risk of the ball being caught, the same as on any other fly ball.

If the runner is hit by the ball while standing on base, he shall not be called out, but the ball is dead and the batter shall be called out; but if a base runner is hit while off base, both he and the batter shall be called out and the ball is dead. Provided, that, with first and second bases occupied, or first, second and third bases occupied, before two are out, any attempt to bunt which results in a fair fly ball shall not be regarded as an infield-fly.

PENNSYLVANIA is cracking down on game law violators in earnest.

Anyone shooting a deer out of season will have hunting and trapping privileges revoked for three years and a convicted person will be fined $260.

A five-year revocation and $200 fine will be plastered on anyone for shooting a bear out of season.

RAY TRULLINGER, outdoor editor of the New York World Telegram and Sun, says the easiest big animal to hunt and kill is the moose and he adds they're better eating than deer.

Trullinger opines that the sportiest upland game bird to shoot and by far the most delicious to eat is the ruffed grouse.

"Easiest upland game bird to hit and the poorest eating is the pheasant.

"Smartest of the so-called big animals is the whitetail. When you down a big whitetail buck, either you're pretty smart or loaded with horseshoes.

"Best smells, "Trillinger concludes," are deer liver and onions, burning birch bark and coffee boiling."

PVT. BOB GORDON, the clever right hander, who lost a heartbreaker to the Cumberland Old Germans on Sunday, August 2, while pitching for Charley Doyle's Mt. Savage Braves, came back four days later and tossed a no-hitter as Fort Meade defeated Fort Ritchie by the score of 14-1.

Gordon, who hails from Claysburg, Pa., lost a 3-2 duel to Norman Geatz at Penn Avenue Field through two costly errors by his teammates in the 9th inning.

Turpin-Olson Fight Is Set For New York

Title Match Carded For Garden Oct. 21; No TV For Gotham

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Randy Turpin and Carl (Bobo) Olson today were matched for a 15-round world middleweight title bout, Wednesday, Oct. 21 at Madison Square Garden with New York blacked out on home television.

The huge New York market area has gone without TV of other important fights that were carried only on theater TV but this is the first time the big town will miss a battle that other sections of the nation will watch at home for free.

Jim Norris, president of the International Boxing Club, and Harry Markson, his managing director, have been negotiating for over two months to land the bout. The dickering involved trips to Europe and San Francisco by Markson.

From the start there have been differences about the site. Sid Flaherty, manager of Olson, held out for San Francisco where the transplanted Hawaiian now lives. George Middleton, Turpin's manager, balked at taking the British champion anywhere except New York.

Markson, announcing the bout for Norris, said the fighters agreed to a 30-30 split of "everything" including the TV receipts, believed to be around $40,000. There is no rematch contract but the I. B. C. certainly has an agreement with the ultimate champion on future title defenses.

Retirement of Sugar Ray Robinson, Dec. 18, 1952 to take up a new career as a song and dance man vacated the championship of the 160-pound division.

Britain recognized Turpin as world champion after he defeated France's Charles Humez at London, June 9 in a 15-rounder. The European boxing union and all U. S. commissions refused to crown a new middle king until the European and American champions met.

A tournament to determine the American titleholder resulted in an Olson-Paddy Young finale at the Garden, June 19, won by the clever Olson.

Stephens Breaks Up Pitching Duel, 1-0

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13 (AP) — Vern Stephens, who blew three earlier clutch batting opportunities, redeemed himself today by driving in Vic Wertz with an 11th inning single to give the St. Louis Browns a 1-0 triumph over the Detroit Tigers before a scant gathering of 980.

Ned Garver held his former Brownie teammates to three hits in the first nine innings but went on to suffer his ninth defeat against eight victories. Ex-Tiger Lou Kretlow held the Browns scoreless for 10 innings on eight scattered hits and then retired for a pinch hitter. Marlin Stuart relieved him and gained credit for the triumph, his seventh.

Wellersburg Plays Second Tie Contest With Barrelville

Wellersburg and Barrelville have played 18 innings of Pen-Mar League baseball in the past two days and they're still deadlocked.

They battled to a 4-4 draw in nine innings on Wednesday and yesterday the score was 6-6 at the end of nine frames. Both games were halted by darkness

The league president has ordered the teams to play for the third straight day at Barrelville today at 5:30 p. m.

Wellersburg outhit the home team in yesterday's contest, 10-6, and scored the run that tied up the battle in the ninth frame.

Robinette led Wellersburg at the plate with three hits. Bridges rapped a two-bagger and turned in a nice running catch in left field. Cessna played a bangup game in left for Barrelville while Myers paced the hitters with two blows and W. Morgan smacked a two-base hit. The score:

Redlegs Rout Chicago, 10-2

Cubs Blow Up In 7th, Ted Kluszewski Stars

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs made three straight errors in the third inning today as the Cincinnati Redlegs scored five unearned runs to tag the seventh place Bruins for a 10-2 rout.

Shortstop Tommy Brown, third baseman Randy Jackson, and first baseman Dee Fondy made the boots before outfielder Hal Jeffcoat's wide throw to the plate bounced into the box seats for Chicago's fourth error in the seventh inning. The Hapless Cubs have now made 150 errors for the season.

Towering Ted Kluszewski smacked four of the winners' 12 hits and also scored four runs.

NIFTY NAT SHUTOUT ARTIST IN HIGH-CLASS COMPANY

Walter Johnson Grover Alexander Bob Porterfield

WHEN BOB PORTERFIELD, the star Washington righthander, shut out the Red Sox the other night for his eighth blank job of the year, he joined some select company in the whitewash division. Porterfield became the first Nat hurler to record eight shutouts since Walter Johnson turned the trick in 1924. Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the major record with 16 blankings in a season, set in 1916. Porterfield's string of scoreless innings stands at 29. Johnson holds the record, 56. (International)

Ryan Is Musial To Vinegar Bend

AP Newsfeatures

ST. LOUIS—After 10 seasons in the majors, utility infielder Connie Ryan of the Phillies is only a .245 hitter. However, Vinegar Bend Mizell, southpaw speedball pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, must think Ryan is a right-handed Stan Musial.

Ryan recently spoiled Mizell's bid for a shutout when Connie came up as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. Ryan hit a home run with Ted Kazanski on base.

It was not the first time Ryan spoiled a shutout for Mizell. In the spring of 1952 when Ryan faced Mizell for the first time the infielder blasted a home run. Mizell won that game, 3-2, for his first big league victory, allowing four hits, Ryan had two of them.

Snead To Compete In Open Tourney

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 13 (AP) — With Sam Snead in the field, the cup up for grabs in the State Open Golf Tournament which opens here tomorrow appears to be the trophy presented to the amateur with the low net score.

Snead ranks as a top heavy favorite to repeat as champion of the 3-day, 72-hole medal play tourney, and capture the silver trophy and $500 first prize.

About 100 or more of the state's professional and leading amateur golfers are expected to enter the event. Among the top amateur contenders for the low net trophy are State Champion Ed Tutwiler of Charleston and Walker Cupper Bill Campbell of Huntington.

Among the pros are State PGA Champ Joe Taylor of Charleston, George Hoffer of Huntington and Dazzy Vance of Kingwood.

Redlegs Rout Chicago, 10-2

Cubs Blow Up In 7th, Ted Kluszewski Stars

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs made three straight errors in the third inning today as the Cincinnati Redlegs scored five unearned runs to tag the seventh place Bruins for a 10-2 rout.

Shortstop Tommy Brown, third baseman Randy Jackson, and first baseman Dee Fondy made the boots before outfielder Hal Jeffcoat's wide throw to the plate bounced into the box seats for Chicago's fourth error in the seventh inning. The Hapless Cubs have now made 150 errors for the season.

Towering Ted Kluszewski smacked four of the winners' 12 hits and also scored four runs.

NIFTY NAT SHUTOUT ARTIST IN HIGH-CLASS COMPANY

Walter Johnson Grover Alexander Bob Porterfield

WHEN BOB PORTERFIELD, the star Washington righthander, shut out the Red Sox the other night for his eighth blank job of the year, he joined some select company in the whitewash division. Porterfield became the first Nat hurler to record eight shutouts since Walter Johnson turned the trick in 1924. Grover Cleveland Alexander holds the major record with 16 blankings in a season, set in 1916. Porterfield's string of scoreless innings stands at 29. Johnson holds the record, 56. (International)

Ryan Is Musial To Vinegar Bend

AP Newsfeatures

ST. LOUIS—After 10 seasons in the majors, utility infielder Connie Ryan of the Phillies is only a .245 hitter. However, Vinegar Bend Mizell, southpaw speedball pitcher with the St. Louis Cardinals, must think Ryan is a right-handed Stan Musial.

Ryan recently spoiled Mizell's bid for a shutout when Connie came up as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. Ryan hit a home run with Ted Kazanski on base.

It was not the first time Ryan spoiled a shutout for Mizell. In the spring of 1952 when Ryan faced Mizell for the first time the infielder blasted a home run. Mizell won that game, 3-2, for his first big league victory, allowing four hits, Ryan had two of them.

Snead To Compete In Open Tourney

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 13 (AP) — With Sam Snead in the field, the cup up for grabs in the State Open Golf Tournament which opens here tomorrow appears to be the trophy presented to the amateur with the low net score.

Snead ranks as a top heavy favorite to repeat as champion of the 3-day, 72-hole medal play tourney, and capture the silver trophy and $500 first prize.

About 100 or more of the state's professional and leading amateur golfers are expected to enter the event. Among the top amateur contenders for the low net trophy are State Champion Ed Tutwiler of Charleston and Walker Cupper Bill Campbell of Huntington.

Among the pros are State PGA Champ Joe Taylor of Charleston, George Hoffer of Huntington and Dazzy Vance of Kingwood.

Thomas Blasts Two Homers As Bucs Top Phils

Lefty Paul LaPalme Bags Sixth Win, 4-3

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 13 (AP)—Outfielder Frank Thomas blasted his 15th and 16th homers of the season and Hal Rice drove across a pair of tallies with two long fly balls as the Pittsburgh Pirates trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 4-3 today in the concluding contest of a 3-game series.

Southpaw Paul LaPalme scattered seven hits to rack up his sixth victory of the campaign against 13 defeats. Big Bob Miller was charged with his fifth loss. The Pirates committed four errors.

In the game at Fort Meade he struck out seven and no Fort Ritchie batter hit a ball out of the infield.

Gordon was a Pittsburgh Pirate farmhand with Waco (Texas) of the Class C Big State League before going into the service and has scored three straight wins for Fort Meade after losing his first five starts.

Bob is no stranger in these parts as he pitched three good games for Charley Doyle when the latter managed the Old Germans in the Bi-State League early in the 1951 season.

THE 54th GRAND American Trapshooting Tournament opens today at Vandalia, Ohio, and for a solid week gunners from all parts of the U. S. will vie for the titles and cash and trophies that go with them.

Edgar H. McDonald, West Virginia's "triple crown" winner, will head the delegation of shooters from the tri-state area. He will vie with champions from the other states in the "champion of champions" match, one of the featured events next week.

A field of approximately 1,800 is expected to vie in the rich Grand American Handicap, Friday, Aug. 22. The gunner who wins this year will earn a guaranteed purse of $1,500 but can win as much as $10,000.

The smallest field in the "Grand" participated at New York City in 1900. The all-time record field was 1,786 shooters in 1947.

In trapshooting the amateurs receive money while the pros, employes of the ammunition companies, shoot only for trophies.

WHILE on the subject of trapshooting, we might call attention to the fact that the recent West Virginia State Shoot at Ridgeley was the biggest event of its kind ever held in the tri-state area.

A total of 110 different scatter gun artists from six states and the District of Columbia participated in the program.

Pennsylvania had the largest representation at the Ridgeley traps — a total of 39 shooters. Maryland was next with 33, followed by West Virginia with 21, Virginia 8, Ohio and Washington, D. C., four each, and Illinois, one.

Much of the credit for the success of the West Virginia Shoot belongs to Tony Francis of Westernport, who has kept interest alive in trapshooting in this section. Francis has served as chairman at Ridgeley since the inception of the gun club about eight years ago and he spent much time and energy in seeing that the tourney was conducted in big-time style. It was the biggest West Virginia shoot in the 33-year history of the event. Trapshooting's goodwill ambassador from Westernport has been noted as a go-getter since way back in the days of the Keymont Gun Club.

UNLESS something unforseen develops, Paul Nestor, former Parsons High School athlete, who starred as an end at the University of Maryland, won't get away from Dental School to join the Baltimore Colts this year.

According to word from Baltimore, if Nestor, now working in Staunton, Va., does not report at the Colts' camp at Westminster, Md., the deal with the Chicago Bears for the draft choice will be cancelled.

Nestor, no doubt, realizes that the dental course is more important to his future than pro football.

$21,000 WORTH OF SPEED

THESE TWO greyhounds, purchased by C. D. McCarthy, nationally-known Florida greyhound owner, cost him a total of $21,000—$12,000 for Mar Heat (left) and $9,000 for Miss Oakey. Between the two of them they held every record in Australia, where they were bred. They will compete in the $25,000 American Derby at Taunton, Mass., in September, and other top events. (International)

Jones Memorial Trophy Will Go To Net Champion

The annual Allegany County tennis tournament will get underway on local courts Friday, August 21st.

This year the tournament will be open to all players in this section of three states. A Charles Jones Memorial trophy will be inaugurated in the men's singles, which he won on several occasions in previous years, and in memory of a fine sportsman, and an enthusiastic supporter of the game. Jones was killed flying a jet plane over North Korea recently while leading his squadron on his last mission before returning home on leave of absence.

As usual women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles will be played.

Entries are being received on all the local courts.

Sherman Lollar Is Suspended By Will Harridge

Gene Bearden Fined $100 By A. L. Prexy

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (INS) — First-string catcher Sherman Lollar of the Chicago White Sox was suspended indefinitely today by American League President Will Harridge.

The suspension will remain in force, Harridge said, pending receipt of the umpires' report of a heated dispute in the seventh inning of last night's game between Cleveland and the Sox at Cleveland.

Harridge also announced that pitcher Gene Bearden, involved in the dispute, had been fined $100.

The dispute developed when Lollar protested the decision of Umpire Joe Paparella who had called Indian second baseman Bobby Avila safe on a close play at the plate.

Paparella ordered Lollar out of the game. Bearden threw down his cap and kicked it. Bearden, however, was permitted to remain in the game. Moments later, he was given the ejection sign when he bounced the ball past the plate in a warmup pitch with nobody there to catch it. Bearden then tossed his glove onto the top of the Sox dugout.

Electronic Gremlins In Baseball Telecast

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Television baseball fans got a jolt yesterday when a very British voice was heard to ask "What's going on theah?" while the Dodgers were loading the bases against the Giants.

After Ruben Gomez, New York Giant pitcher, walked in a run, another voice, also very British, exclaimed, "What rot!"

TV station officials said the sound track of an English movie somehow managed to get mixed up with the account of the game from the Polo Grounds. Electronic gremlins were blamed.

Sticks To Old Mask

CHICAGO (AP) — Giant catcher Wes Westrum has gone back to his old mask. He tried a new type catcher's mask but it offered no forehead protection In a game here against the Cubs, a foul tip from Ralph Kiner's bat stunned Westrum.

Virgil Trucks Posts 15th Victory Over Indians, 7-3

Chisox Pitcher Wins Own Game In The 10th

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (AP)—Virgil Trucks came up in the tenth inning today with a game-deciding single that propelled the second place Chicago White Sox to a 7-3 win over the Cleveland Indians. It was the rubber game of the three-game series and left the Tribe five lengths behind the Sox.

Winning his 15th victory of the season, against six losses, the righthander also registered his tenth win since joining Chicago, with whom he has lost only two.

Trucks walked the leadoff batter in the bottom of the tenth, and had to have help from Sandy Consuegra, who retired three men in order.

Relief Bob Hooper, who followed starter Mike Garcia, was the mound victim.

Freddie Marsh started the four-run tenth inning with a walk. Chico Carrasquel singled and came home on Trucks' single. But that was not all. Carrasquel scored when the ball went past left fielder Wally Westlake, and Minnie Minoso blasted in two more runs with a triple.

Minnie led Chicago's 12-hit attack with three singles and the climax three-bagger.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 (INS) — First-string catcher Sherman Lollar of the Chicago White Sox was suspended indefinitely today by American League President Will Harridge.

The suspension will remain in force, Harridge said, pending receipt of the umpires' report of a heated dispute in the seventh inning of last night's game between Cleveland and the Sox at Cleveland.

Harridge also announced that pitcher Gene Bearden, involved in the dispute, had been fined $100.

The dispute developed when Lollar protested the decision of Umpire Joe Paparella who had called Indian second baseman Bobby Avila safe on a close play at the plate.

Paparella ordered Lollar out of the game. Bearden threw down his cap and kicked it. Bearden, however, was permitted to remain in the game. Moments later, he was given the ejection sign when he bounced the ball past the plate in a warmup pitch with nobody there to catch it. Bearden then tossed his glove onto the top of the Sox dugout.

Electronic Gremlins In Baseball Telecast

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Television baseball fans got a jolt yesterday when a very British voice was heard to ask "What's going on theah?" while the Dodgers were loading the bases against the Giants.

After Ruben Gomez, New York Giant pitcher, walked in a run, another voice, also very British, exclaimed, "What rot!"

TV station officials said the sound track of an English movie somehow managed to get mixed up with the account of the game from the Polo Grounds. Electronic gremlins were blamed.

Virgil Trucks Posts 15th Victory Over Indians, 7-3

Chisox Pitcher Wins Own Game In The 10th

CLEVELAND, Aug. 13 (AP)—Virgil Trucks came up in the tenth inning today with a game-deciding single that propelled the second place Chicago White Sox to a 7-3 win over the Cleveland Indians. It was the rubber game of the three-game series and left the Tribe five lengths behind the Sox.

Winning his 15th victory of the season, against six losses, the righthander also registered his tenth win since joining Chicago, with whom he has lost only two.

Trucks walked the leadoff batter in the bottom of the tenth, and had to have help from Sandy Consuegra, who retired three men in order.

Relief Bob Hooper, who followed starter Mike Garcia, was the mound victim.

Freddie Marsh started the four-run tenth inning with a walk. Chico Carrasquel singled and came home on Trucks' single. But that was not all. Carrasquel scored when the ball went past left fielder Wally Westlake, and Minnie Minoso blasted in two more runs with a triple.

Minnie led Chicago's 12-hit attack with three singles and the climax three-bagger.

17 Specialized Teaching Posts Unfilled

Considerable difficulty is being experienced in filling 17 high school teaching positions, Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools said yesterday.

Webster noted that all elementary jobs have been filled and that in this field the local situation is better than last year.

In the elementary division the condition existing here is in direct contrast with that in Baltimore County where 50 posts are open and it will be necessary to name substitutes.

Staff Expanded

The superintendent explained the county teaching staff is being expanded from the 589 total of last year to over 600 for the term starting in September.

Public schools open Tuesday, September 8. Principals will meet at the Board of Education office Thursday, September 3 and the following day principals will meet with their faculty members.

Half-day sessions are planned for the first two days of school.

The term will end Friday, June 11.

Richard T. Rizer, assistant superintendent of schools, listed the following vacancies in the high school department:

Girls' physical education, three; music, two; home economics, five; industrial arts, three; guidance, two; commerical, one; and art, one.

Most Difficult Year

"I believe it is more difficult this year than ever before in my experience to fill these specialized teaching positions," declared Rizer.

"There is a dearth of usable applicants," added Rizer. "The situation is nationwide in scope. Of course we hope to fill all positions."

Objectors Get Work Assignments

The assistant superintendent said that business and industrial firms are attracting persons qualified to fill the positions in which vacancies exist mainly because they pay higher salaries. He added not enough persons are training for these fields.

About 160,000 tons of cork are used annually in the United States.

Two conscientious objectors to Selective Service have been assigned to 24-month periods of work in state institutions.

They are Lowell Eugene Tressler of LaVale, who will be 21 years old August 27, and Carolton Abraham Helmick, of Pinto, who was 20 years old July 21, 1953.

The only other conscientious objector since the Selective Service act was changed following World War II has been Nelson Robinson, of this city.

P. Emmett Fahey, clerk-coordinator of the local Selective Service Boards, said Tressler and Helmick have been classed as conscientious objectors who oppose both combat and non-combatant duty in the armed forces.

Under the law, being thus qualified, they were given physical examination. Found fit, they were ordered to do civilian work in some state institution for 24-month period.

They cannot, during this time, be independently or privately employed, Fahey elaborated.

Helmick and Tressler have both reported for work at Spring Grove State Hospital, Catonsville.

Robinson reported on January 20 to Crownsville State Hospital.

Both institutions are mental hospitals.

Father, Son Found Guilty Of Receiving Stolen Whisky

Two Frostburgers, a father and his son, were found guilty yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court in connection with receiving some drinks from a fifth of whisky taken from "Big Lou" Riley in Frostburg.

Lawrence McKee, 19, and James McKee, 58, both of 65 East Main Street, Frostburg, were charged with receiving stolen goods.

A statement by Glenn Whitefield, 16, also of Frostburg, given for county authorities revealed he climbed into a window of "Big Lou's" on July 13 and took a fifth of whisky.

This he took to the McKee home and the three of them drank it, Whitefield revealed.

Frostburg police arrested the McKees on July 14 and placed them in the County Jail where they remained until yesterday.

The father pleaded not guilty to the charge while the son pleaded guilty. Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason found both guilty and gave them 30-day jail terms.

They were paroled for two years on condition they remain of good behavior and refrain from drinking. Their jail term was dated back to the day they were taken in custody.

"Big Lou's" place was broken into later the same morning and Frostburg police made two other arrests in connection with the latter incident.

Egypt Is Willing To Let West Use Suez Canal Base

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 13 (AP)—Vice Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser said tonight Egypt is willing to let the Western Powers use the great Suez Canal defense base if conditions suitable to Egyptian sovereignty are met.

This was the first time Egypt has given any official indication the base would be available to the West after evacuation of British forces.

But this was not interpreted as a commitment for Egypt to join a Middle East defense organization —as proposed by the West—when the British move out.

President Naguib, Nasser and all other Egyptian leaders have publicly reiterated that this will not be discussed with Britain.

However, availability of the base which sprawls along the 104-mile waterway in case of emergency will satisfy the primary United States position in the British-Egyptian dispute.

It was learned from a high authority that Britain was told by the U. S. that whatever the result of the negotiations over the Suez base, the paramount issue is the availability of the base in case of emergency.

Nasser said in an interview tonight that Egypt always considered the base would be available for the Western Allies but it is a question of who shall determine its availability. The British have been wanting a strong say in this, but Egypt claims this is her prerogative.

More Crop Insurance

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP) — An expansion of the federal crop insurance program to 200 additional counties is authorized in a congressional act signed today by President Eisenhower.

The bill allows addition of 100 counties in both 1954 and 1955 to the 922 counties where the experimental program now operates.

Even President Flubs Golf Shot

DENVER, Aug. 13 (AP) — President Eisenhower flubbed a practice golf shot, remarked wryly, "Oh, boy, that's a typical Eisenhower," then re-couped to score a birdie three on the first hole at Cherry Hills Country Club today.

The President slammed his first drive 250 yards down the middle of the fairway and remarked with a grin to a crowd of club members, reporters and photographers who were watching:

"That was shorter than some of the others I've had out here, but I think I'll rest on it."

Eisenhower played with Gov. Dan Thornton of Colorado; Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post; L. M. Pexton, head of the Denver stockyards and James L. Murphy, San Francisco businessman who heads the Citizens for Eisenhower congressional elections committee.

Eisenhower arrived at the course complaining a bit about stiffness in his right arm which developed as result of several hours of casting for trout yesterday.

Sorehead Tar Blamed For Carrier Damage

LONDON, Aug. 13 (AP) — The Admiralty suggested tonight that some sorehead sailor has been carrying out a one-man war of attrition against Britain's big new aircraft carrier Eagle.

It said in a statement that minor damage has been found aboard the huge battlewagon but that there is some individual in the ship who is making himself unpleasant for presumably some personal reason. The matter is of no great significance."

Petition Is Denied

FREDERICK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Associate Judge Patrick M. Schnauffer of Frederick Circuit Court today denied a petition by Frank Marshall Presbury to gain freedom from a 15-year-prison sentence for assault with intent to kill.

Presbury was sentenced to the state penitentiary from Harford County last December. Court officials said his habeas corpus petition acted on today was his seventh attempt to break the sentence.

Garage Test Proves Tough For "Roadeo" Contestants

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13 (AP)—Getting in and out of the family garage, long a fearsome task for mom and dad, proved a tough assignment for junior today.

The 48 top teen-age drivers of America, Hawaii and Canada, here for a 3-day "roadeo," found a simulated garage a part of an obstacle course for them to travel in the National Guard Armory.

The youngsters face a written test on driving tomorrow morning. Tomorrow night the top teen-age driver in America will be chosen on points registered the past three days.

Getting in and out of the family garage was just a part of the obstacle course but it was the dilly of them all. Of the first 20 drivers only three came near perfect scores.

The test was to show the ability of a driver to enter and leave a garage under conditions of "minimum" clearance.

The layout was supposed to simulate a typical family garage at the end of a narrow driveway, which is offset around the corner of the house due to property line limitations.

Of the few backing in and out successfully were Martin Burley, 18, of Fargo, N. D., and David Cassida, 18, of Belfast, Me.

Burley thought his family garage back home was just as tough to get in and out of. But sweat was rolling down his back when he finished the test.

"I made up my mind I would be calm and take it slow," he said, "but whew!"

Cassida hadn't had any practice with such a garage. "But I drive a Model A truck in and out among the cottages of our tourist court back home," he said, "and that helped a lot."

Actor Donald O'Connor Is "Pretty Sick Boy"

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (AP)—Actor Donald O'Connor is "a pretty sick boy," his physician said today.

The comedian has been in Cedars of Lebanon Hospital since Saturday, suffering from an infectious disease of unknown type, said Dr. Irving Lasky. O'Connor was admitted to the hospital after running a high fever for three days.

His condition was somewhat improved today, and he is under "extremely intensive medication," Lasky reported.

"I can't say when he will be better, but I think it's going to be soon," the doctor added.

Westernport Will Open Parking Center Sept. 8

WESTERNPORT—The new parking lot adjoining Main and Washington streets is expected to be officially opened on Tuesday, September 8, Mayor Okey E. Michael stated at a special meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners Wednesday evening.

The lot will be operated around the clock will not charge fees on Sundays and holidays.

The parking meters that were ordered have arrived and are ready for installation. Ralph Cahill, of the Cincinnati firm, conferred with the council who will instruct town employes on the mechanism so they can make their own repairs of the meters.

The Liller Brothers Company has been notified that it can begin blacktopping the lot Monday.

Mayor Michael also announced that the Potomac Fire Company will hold a carnival on the lot September 2 to 5 inclusive, preceding the opening of the lot for parking purposes.

A letter was received from G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Road Commission, acknowledging the receipt of a letter relative to the improvement of Maryland State Route 135 between Westernport and McCoole.

It also stated that the project has been approved by commission for immediate advertising, however there will certainly be a lot of surveying, engineering and other preliminary activities before any work can be started.

The route is at the top of the list in Allegany County.

A bid of the Prichard Corporation for 1,000 feet of sewer pipes was accepted.

It was ordered that a meeting be held next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. with the mayor and commissioners and those owning property abutting bank alley, located off of Main Street relative to improving the alley.

Commissioner William LaFon announced that the Dixon Estate had agreed to replace the brick pavement with concrete sidewalk a distance of 90 feet from the Sanitary Meat Market to the Hughes alley. The pavement will be 18 inches less in width, making Main Street 18 inches wider at that point. Work has already begun.

The next regular meeting of the commissioners has been postponed from August 19 to the 26.

WESTERNPORT—The new parking lot adjoining Main and Washington streets is expected to be officially opened on Tuesday, September 8, Mayor Okey E. Michael stated at a special meeting of the Mayor and Commissioners Wednesday evening.

The lot will be operated around the clock will not charge fees on Sundays and holidays.

The parking meters that were ordered have arrived and are ready for installation. Ralph Cahill, of the Cincinnati firm, conferred with the council who will instruct town employes on the mechanism so they can make their own repairs of the meters.

The Liller Brothers Company has been notified that it can begin blacktopping the lot Monday.

Mayor Michael also announced that the Potomac Fire Company will hold a carnival on the lot September 2 to 5 inclusive, preceding the opening of the lot for parking purposes.

A letter was received from G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Road Commission, acknowledging the receipt of a letter relative to the improvement of Maryland State Route 135 between Westernport and McCoole.

It also stated that the project has been approved by commission for immediate advertising, however there will certainly be a lot of surveying, engineering and other preliminary activities before any work can be started.

The route is at the top of the list in Allegany County.

A bid of the Prichard Corporation for 1,000 feet of sewer pipes was accepted.

It was ordered that a meeting be held next Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. with the mayor and commissioners and those owning property abutting bank alley, located off of Main Street relative to improving the alley.

Commissioner William LaFon announced that the Dixon Estate had agreed to replace the brick pavement with concrete sidewalk a distance of 90 feet from the Sanitary Meat Market to the Hughes alley. The pavement will be 18 inches less in width, making Main Street 18 inches wider at that point. Work has already begun.

The next regular meeting of the commissioners has been postponed from August 19 to the 26.

Keyser Kiwanis Club To Mark Third Birthday

Program Planned September 9

KEYSER — Keyser Kiwanis Club will celebrate its third anniversary Wednesday evening, September 9, with a dinner-meeting and program for members and their wives.

At the regular weekly meeting of the club Wednesday evening, President Harrison Fuller named two additional members to the program committee to make final plans for the observance of the anniversary. The new committeemen are Frederick Dayton and Robert Whitlach, to act with the general committee of Ross W. Prysock, W. E. Michael and James T. Handlan Jr.

Whitlach, member of the faculty of Potomac State, who returned this week from an auto trip to the Pacific Coast with his wife and family, was the speaker of the evening. He told of his trip that took his party through 15 states in reaching the west coast, referred to the travel conditions, which he said were exceptionally good, and made particular reference to some of the unusual things seen and encountered on the journey.

He said that in the Bakerfield, Calif. "potato country," the crop was so large and extensive, that potatoes were selling at the rate of 10 pounds for 13 cents, and that there were so many potatoes in this year's harvest, that it was an impossibility to dispose of them. Farmers were plowing the crop under in many instances to be used as fertilizer.

He spoke of the heat in the far west and of plans to provide comfort within his car, which brought very favorable results. He said they put a large bucket in the front of the car, on the floor, the bucket being filled with ice and with the cowl ventilator open, the wind passed over the ice and kept the temperature within the car down to a pleasant mark. This is a practice of the westerners who travel through the area during the hot summer months and added that it provides wholesome comfort in the cars.

Rev. Charles W. Paskel, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Keyser, was received into membership in the club at the Wednesday meeting.

Bradford Swecker, new member of the faculty at Potomac State College, as teacher in agriculture, and John Minnich, local business man, were visitors at the meeting. Gerould Klinestiver, member of the club, was presented with a two-year perfect attendance pin at the meeting.

Delegates will be named to attend the annual West Virginia Kiwanis Convention to be held in Williamson, on the Kentucky border, on October 2, 3 and 4. The local president will be one of the representatives of the Keyser Club, and three other delegates will be named to accompany him.

MISS PENNSYLVANIA—Chosen Miss Pennsylvania of 1953, Evelyn Ay, 20, of Ephrata, Pa., smiles as she is crowned in Philadelphia. She will represent the Keystone State at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, N. J., next month. (International)

Keyser Church To Mark 50th Anniversary

Lutherans To Hear Their First Pastor

KEYSER — Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Keyser, will observe its 50th anniversary of formal organization, Sunday, with Rev. William C. Ney, D. D., organizer and first pastor, preaching the anniversary sermon at the morning worship service.

Prior to the organization of the Lutheran Church in Keyser, those of the Lutheran faith had to journey five miles to Westernport, which in those days was a tiresome drive by horse and buggy or train.

Through efforts of Miss Anna Carl, Miss Martha Watson, Miss Margaret Koelz and Mrs. P. M. Spangler, who made a canvass of Keyser in the year 1903, an organization of Lutherans in the area was begun. On June 1, 1903, Rev. William Ney, then a student in the Theological seminary at Gettysburg, Pa., was called to organize the group. The first preaching service was held in the Odd Fellows Hall on June 14, 1903 with services being held later in Carskadon's Hall and still later in Johnson's Hall.

The formal organization of the church took place on August 16, 1903 with 40 adherents of the Lutheran faith being received as charter members. Four of those members are still living, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Sliger, W. C. Pifer and Mrs. Nanny Gull.

Sunday afternoon at 3 p. m. the King's Daughters class of the congregation will hold a reception in honor of Rev. Ney and the four living charter members. Mrs. R. T. Coffman is chairman of arrangements for the reception.

Keyser Kiwanis Club To Mark Third Birthday

Program Planned September 9

KEYSER — Keyser Kiwanis Club will celebrate its third anniversary Wednesday evening, September 9, with a dinner-meeting and program for members and their wives.

At the regular weekly meeting of the club Wednesday evening, President Harrison Fuller named two additional members to the program committee to make final plans for the observance of the anniversary. The new committeemen are Frederick Dayton and Robert Whitlach, to act with the general committee of Ross W. Prysock, W. E. Michael and James T. Handlan Jr.

Whitlach, member of the faculty of Potomac State, who returned this week from an auto trip to the Pacific Coast with his wife and family, was the speaker of the evening. He told of his trip that took his party through 15 states in reaching the west coast, referred to the travel conditions, which he said were exceptionally good, and made particular reference to some of the unusual things seen and encountered on the journey.

He said that in the Bakerfield, Calif. "potato country," the crop was so large and extensive, that potatoes were selling at the rate of 10 pounds for 13 cents, and that there were so many potatoes in this year's harvest, that it was an impossibility to dispose of them. Farmers were plowing the crop under in many instances to be used as fertilizer.

He spoke of the heat in the far west and of plans to provide comfort within his car, which brought very favorable results. He said they put a large bucket in the front of the car, on the floor, the bucket being filled with ice and with the cowl ventilator open, the wind passed over the ice and kept the temperature within the car down to a pleasant mark. This is a practice of the westerners who travel through the area during the hot summer months and added that it provides wholesome comfort in the cars.

Rev. Charles W. Paskel, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Keyser, was received into membership in the club at the Wednesday meeting.

Bradford Swecker, new member of the faculty at Potomac State College, as teacher in agriculture, and John Minnich, local business man, were visitors at the meeting. Gerould Klinestiver, member of the club, was presented with a two-year perfect attendance pin at the meeting.

Delegates will be named to attend the annual West Virginia Kiwanis Convention to be held in Williamson, on the Kentucky border, on October 2, 3 and 4. The local president will be one of the representatives of the Keyser Club, and three other delegates will be named to accompany him.

MISS PENNSYLVANIA—Chosen Miss Pennsylvania of 1953, Evelyn Ay, 20, of Ephrata, Pa., smiles as she is crowned in Philadelphia. She will represent the Keystone State at the Miss America pageant in Atlantic City, N. J., next month. (International)

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (INS)—ust as I originally tipped you it ould happen — Musical Comedy tar Dolores Gray belongs body, oice and bright pink hair to MGM.

Her first on the contract signed ust today is "The New Orleans tory" with Fred Astaire. Her ests made with Vincent Minnelli nd Arthur Freed did the trick.

Dolores came to the coast in Carnival in Flanders" and immediately became the sweetheart of ne West Coast reviewers—and no onder. When that girl sings, he sells a song as only Ethel Merman and Judy Garland can.

Head man of MGM, Dore Schary irst became interested in her hen she was with Bert Lahr in Two on the Aisle" in New York nd has just been waiting to get er for MGM.

One of the hottest young singers, Eddie Fisher, is just about to put is valued name on a Paramount ontract. Won't the kids—as well s the grown ups—throughout the ountry love that? I have practially worn out his record of "I'm n the Mood for Love."

I tracked down Don Hartman to ell him I'd heard from New York hat he'd been talking business to Eddie.

"I cannot tell a lie," said Don, although I must say the deal is ot actually signed. We want Eddie or 'Away We Go,' a musical with Rosemary Clooney and Joanne Dilbert."

Now could anything be better han that!

Chatter in Hollywood:

Very few people know that Dick Haymes flew in from Las Vegas to ee Rita Hayworth as soon as he eard that she was sick.

Although Rita was not able to ttend his opening last night (doctor's orders) she's going to the ands to see him as soon as she ecovers from her illness.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected t random:

Ruth Warrick, 'tis said, was married in New York two days ago to very wealthy man. This information was given by her ex-husband, Carl Neubert, who was with Maria Palmer at Lindamor Lodge.

Mrs. Bill Lundigan is flying 6,000 miles to celebrate her 8th wedding anniversary, Aug. 18, in London with Bill. He's there making a picture.

At another table, same place, Marguerite Piazza was with a party of friends. Her bridegroom had to return east. She was intrigued with the Marquis act and with the chimps, as were all of us. These chimps are uncanny—they are so human and so well trained.

At the Luau, Johnny (Pick up the check) Meyer and Ilsa Bey were a new twosome.

Met Peggy and Louis Sobol as we were returning Radie Harris to the Beverly Hills Hotel. Louis made one of the best pictures of me in color that I've ever had with his stero realist 3-D camera. He and Peggy are returning east, I'm sorry to say.

Irving Foy, youngest of the Foy clan and brother of Eddie, Jr., and Charlie, is critically ill following an operation for a perforated ulcer.

Sam Goldwyn returns to this country the latter part of this month, and one of the very first things he'll do is to re-issue "The Best Years of Our Lives."

The Bill Perlbergs have sold their beautiful Beverly Hills manse to Harry Rothschild, oil man. That's because Bobbe and Bill spend so much time in Palm Springs.

Pleasant news for Farley Granger when he arrives in Rome. Anna Magnani is giving him a welcoming party and Farley's girl is to be Nicole Francois, French actress.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Few fashions have done as much as the new tulip and princess styles to accent a lovely upper-torso line. Curving up and outward from a slender, flat midriff, they blossom out at the bosom with a rounded, softly curving line.

An important factor in achieving the bust line best suited to these fashions is to make sure that there is no unnecessary figure fullness just below the bust. There are large and powerful muscles in the chest and upper abdominal regions which can be toned up to give you both a flatter abdomen and a higher, more rounded bustline. If you will carry them out faithfully every day, by the time the fall party swing gets under way, you'll be wearing the new fashions with more aplomb and pride than you ever expected!

Breast stroke Routine

1. Lie across the bed with arms and head extended beyond the bed's edge. Extend your arms straight out ahead with palms touching. Now, putting as much force as you can into all motions, turn your hands so backs are together and then bring your arms as far back as possible. Perform the motion rhythmically and slowly as though you were working against tremendous countering force. Perform this routine 25 times daily.

2. Kneel on the floor with thighs together. Keeping your back erect and your chin parallel to the floor, stretch your neck muscles to make your neck as long as possible. Now stretch your arms toward the ceiling. Next lower them to your waist level, slowly yet exerting as much force as you can. Repeat the action from ten to twenty times daily depending on your fatigue span.

Essential Suuport

To maintain a high bustline, it is essential that a well-fitted support be worn at all times to prevent the stretching and sagging of the delicate, supporting connective tissue. Particularly is this important in performing tasks such as housework or office work. Prevention of a sagging bustline is necessary to preserve attractive contours.

Many a poor bustline can be corrected immediately by the simple expedient of learning to carry the shoulders in a relaxed manner while raising the chest up to its normal position. Take a deep breath. Hold your chest as high as you can and you'll see immediate improvement in your figures's line of grace! It's easier to breathe correctly when you hold that line, too!

On the U. N. agenda on the corkscrew spindle we have new faces staring at the facts.

It's a world criminal court designed to try absconding delinquents in absentia.

When you are in or out of absentia it means your lawyer has warned you not to pass the grandstand more than once on your diminishing hegira.

It means more police action for our far-flung diplomatic attaches. If the constitution follows the flag it should be home-sick now.

Somewhere in a Congo jungle a ring-tailed anthropoid will sagway down a tree and ring three wild alarums on a castanet of coconuts. The peristaltic vibrations will register on a sensitive file index high up in the agenda attic of the U.N. chatter-stack on the East River.

Ever eager to adjust the affairs of the great apes we will screen the emergency through the filter of procrastination. If an injustice has been done to any living thing anywhere in the world we insist on it in triplicate.

The Marines are printing new travel folders. The halls of Montezuma and the shores of Tripoli are local stops now.

The police action on the Yalu lasted three years. All we wanted to find out was how many aerials you could put on a nine-roof pagoda.

Yessir, we packed a big lunch for that one.

The next police action will be in Terra Del Fuego, the land of the midnight snack or Upper Tasmania.

The boys over at the 27th Precinct never open their orders until they have been at sea three days.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 13 (INS)—ust as I originally tipped you it ould happen — Musical Comedy tar Dolores Gray belongs body, oice and bright pink hair to MGM.

Her first on the contract signed ust today is "The New Orleans tory" with Fred Astaire. Her ests made with Vincent Minnelli nd Arthur Freed did the trick.

Dolores came to the coast in Carnival in Flanders" and immeiately became the sweetheart of ne West Coast reviewers—and no ronder. When that girl sings, he sells a song as only Ethel Mernan and Judy Garland can.

Head man of MGM, Dore Schary irst became interested in her hen she was with Bert Lahr in Two on the Aisle" in New York nd has just been waiting to get er for MGM.

One of the hottest young singers, Eddie Fisher, is just about to put is valued name on a Paramount ontract. Won't the kids—as well s the grown ups—throughout the ountry love that? I have practially worn out his record of "I'm n the Mood for Love."

I tracked down Don Hartman to ell him I'd heard from New York hat he'd been talking business to Eddie.

"I cannot tell a lie," said Don, 'although I must say the deal is ot actually signed. We want Eddie or 'Away We Go,' a musical with Rosemary Clooney and Joanne Gilbert."

Now could anything be better han that!

Chatter in Hollywood:

Very few people know that Dick Haymes flew in from Las Vegas to ee Rita Hayworth as soon as he eard that she was sick.

Although Rita was not able to ttend his opening last night (doctor's orders) she's going to the lands to see him as soon as she ecovers from her illness.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected t random:

Ruth Warrick, 'tis said, was married in New York two days ago to very wealthy man. This information was given by her ex-husband, Carl Neubert, who was with Maria Palmer at Lindamor Lodge.

Mrs. Bill Lundigan is flying 6,000 miles to celebrate her 8th wedding anniversary, Aug. 18, in London with Bill. He's there making a picture.

At another table, same place, Marguerite Piazza was with a party of friends. Her bridegroom had to return east. She was intrigued with the Marquis act and with the chimps, as were all of us. These chimps are uncanny—they are so human and so well trained.

At the Luau, Johnny (Pick up the check) Meyer and Ilsa Bey were a new twosome.

Met Peggy and Louis Sobol as we were returning Radie Harris to the Beverly Hills Hotel. Louis made one of the best pictures of me in color that I've ever had with his stero realist 3-D camera. He and Peggy are returning east, I'm sorry to say.

Marilyn Maxwell, famed for her blonde hair, has gone auburn—but why?

Irving Foy, youngest of the Foy clan and brother of Eddie, Jr., and Charlie, is critically ill following an operation for a perforated ulcer.

Sam Goldwyn returns to this country the latter part of this month, and one of the very first things he'll do is to re-issue "The Best Years of Our Lives."

The Bill Perlbergs have sold their beautiful Beverly Hills manse to Harry Rothschild, oil man. That's because Bobbe and Bill spend so much time in Palm Springs.

Pleasant news for Farley Granger when he arrives in Rome. Anna Magnani is giving him a welcoming party and Farley's girl is to be Nicole Francois, French actress.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Tulip styles emphasize the upper torso. Here are contouring exercises for accenting curves.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Few fashions have done as much as the new tulip and princess styles to accent a lovely upper-torso line. Curving up and outward from a slender, flat midriff, they blossom out at the bosom with a rounded, softly curving line.

An important factor in achieving the bust line best suited to these fashions is to make sure that there is no unnecessary figure fullness just below the bust. There are large and powerful muscles in the chest and upper abdominal regions which can be toned up to give you both a flatter abdomen and a higher, more rounded bustline. If you will carry them out faithfully every day, by the time the fall party swing gets under way, you'll be wearing the new fashions with more aplomb and pride than you ever expected!

Breast stroke Routine

1. Lie across the bed with arms and head extended beyond the bed's edge. Extend your arms straight out ahead with palms touching. Now, putting as much force as you can into all motions, turn your hands so backs are together and then bring your arms as far back as possible. Perform the motion rhythmically and slowly as though you were working against tremendous countering force. Perform this routine 25 times daily.

2. Kneel on the floor with thighs together. Keeping your back erect and your chin parallel to the floor, stretch your neck muscles to make your neck as long as possible. Now stretch your arms toward the ceiling. Next lower them to your waist level, slowly yet exerting as much force as you can. Repeat the action from ten to twenty times daily depending on your fatigue span.

Essential Suuport

To maintain a high bustline, it is essential that a well-fitted support be worn at all times to prevent the stretching and sagging of the delicate, supporting connective tissue. Particularly is this important in performing tasks such as housework or office work. Prevention of a sagging bustline is necessary to preserve attractive contours.

Many a poor bustline can be corrected immediately by the simple expedient of learning to carry the shoulders in a relaxed manner while raising the chest up to its normal position. Take a deep breath. Hold your chest as high as you can and you'll see immediate improvement in your figures's line of grace! It's easier to breathe correctly when you hold that line, too!

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

Next They'll Be Doing Rope Tricks

The other night on "Masquerade Party," I got a bit of a shock. "Masquerade Party," in case you haven't seen this bit of delectable idiocy, is a quiz program featuring celebrities like Mickey Mantle or Ha Ha Ginzberg. (If there weren't a Ha Ha Ginzberg — and there isn't — sooner or later someone would have to invent her. And someone has. Ha Ha Ginzberg is the imaginary friend of a girl I know, age 10.)

John Crosby

Well, anyhow, these celebrities — Mickey or Ha Ha or whoever — are taken in tow by the makeup department, a real zealous outfit over at CBS, and disguised as pirates or chimpanzees or one thing and another and the task of the panelists is to find out who they are. When they do — and they always get it right — off comes the putty nose and the wig and the man stands revealed in his true colors.

Well, sir, the other night after the putty and the hair had been removed from a man done up as Andrew Jackson the gentleman came forth nakedly as no other than Senator Estes Kefauver. A nasty jar. Here, I said to myself, is the guy who was the big television star of 1951, a man who (a phrase I picked up somewhere) had us all neglecting our work for about a month, the man who may have been the biggest celebrity in the country for awhile.

And here he was playing bit parts on a quiz show! It just goes to show how the mighty can fall on television, doesn't it? It also goes to show what politicians will do to get on television. They'll do anything. Anything at all. Just wait till the next campaign. They'll be doing rope tricks or toe dancing with the chorus on the Ed Sullivan show.

Last fall, if you happened to watch the great big (and real dull) show that opened the CBS Television City in Hollywood, you would have seen two of the biggest hams in the political fold. Mayor Fletcher Bowron, of Los Angeles, who — by the oldest coincidence — happened to be in a red hot race for mayor, suddenly hove on to the screen, bandied wisecracks with Jack Benny and wound up helping Benny push his Maxwell off the stage. Governor Warren on the same show did a comedy skit with Gracie Allen.

Both men got pretty good notices and, of course, that's like waving Jose Ferrer in front of a bull. Mayor Bowron charged right back in front of the cameras, pawing and snorting, on the Burns and Allen show. Did the dishes in the Burns kitchen and exchanged gags with Gracie with the assurance of a man who has already been on the Jack Benny show and hasn't much else to look forward to, except possibly the governorship. Instead he was defeated for mayor a) in spite of b) because of (choice of one) these appearances.

Well, sir, you can easily see where all this is going to lead us. In the last election, the candidates first became aware of television, largely because it had propelled Senator Kefauver into national prominence and Rudolph Hally into the presidency of the New York City Council. Politicos started boning up. They learned to wear blue shirts and—some of them—to brush their teeth. CBS ran a TV school for politicians in which Walter Cronkite taught the boys how to sit, stand, walk, talk, and read a script. It was after one of these sessions that Senator Irving Ives declared—one of the more memorable political utterances of our time—that he had learned to look the audience in the eye, something politicians have been avoiding for years.

But that was last year, when the boys contented themselves with panel "think" shows, before they discovered comedy. Wait till the next election. Then this bit about learning how to read and to walk will be considered kid's stuff. Your candidate will be on the telephone, screeching at the makeup department that the eye shadow was all wrong. I can just hear some senator belting his writers around:

"Jackie Gleason got all the laughs! What am I—a straight man? Now in this scene with Milton Berle, he gets three pratfalls, I only get two. How do you suppose that will go down with the voters in Idaho? Wait a minute! There's the phone—my agent. No, Mannie, I positively will not appear on the Sid Caesar show! Follow Senator Kefauver! Are you crazy? He catches me on the Burns and Allen show, steals all my best lines and then uses them a week ahead of me on the Saturday night crowd.

"Either I precede Kefauver or I don't play. Say, did you catch him on Red Buttons last night? That bit about 'Pay the two dollars'. I discarded that when I was running for dogcatcher in Pocatello" . . .

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

BID AND PLAY CONTRAST

WHAT a terrific difference there is between the results attained by fine players and duffers in contract bridge. The gap is undoubtedly wider between the two grades of skill than in any other game yet invented. It manifests itself sometimes in both the bidding and the play, with the better players reaching a high contract and making it, whereas the others get to a relatively low one and fail to make it.

At Table 1. North's 2-Diamonds confirmed South's heart suit for trumps and, since it was followed by his Blackwood 4-No Trumps, it indicated a blank in the hostile suit, South's Blackwood responses being therefore limited to his honors in the other three suits. When he showed all three of those kings with 6-Spades, the grand slam was North's obligatory call.

The diamond A lead was ruffed and East was played for all missing honors, since he made the first overcall. So the heart A was scored, the J was finessed and the K felled the Q. The club K and A won. South intended next to ruff up clubs, but the drop of the Q on the A made all of the tricks solid for him, so he merely had to score his established winners.

He was then amazed to learn that at the other table South had not even made his 4-Hearts, let alone extra tricks. Here's the way that was botched. The diamond A lead was ruffed, the spade A and K scored, also the heart A and K, and a heart was led to the Q. East's diamond K return was ruffed by dummy's last trump. The club K was won and the club J finessed to the Q. East thereupon raked in three diamond honors to give his side five tricks and beat the game two. The total swing between the two tables was five tricks.

Next They'll Be Doing Rope Tricks

The other night on "Masquerade Party," I got a bit of a shock. "Masquerade Party," in case you haven't seen this bit of delectable idiocy, is a quiz program featuring celebrities like Mickey Mantle or Ha Ha Ginzberg. (If there weren't a Ha Ha Ginzberg — and there isn't — sooner or later someone would have to invent her. And someone has. Ha Ha Ginzberg is the imaginary friend of a girl I know, age 10.)

John Crosby

Well, anyhow, these celebrities — Mickey or Ha Ha or whoever — are taken in tow by the makeup department, a real zealous outfit over at CBS, and disguised as pirates or chimpanzees or one thing and another and the task of the panelists is to find out who they are. When they do — and they always get it right — off comes the putty nose and the wig and the man stands revealed in his true colors.

Well, sir, the other night after the putty and the hair had been removed from a man done up as Andrew Jackson the gentleman came forth nakedly as no other than Senator Estes Kefauver. A nasty jar. Here, I said to myself, is the guy who was the big television star of 1951, a man who (a phrase I picked up somewhere) had us all neglecting our work for about a month, the man who may have been the biggest celebrity in the country for awhile.

And here he was playing bit parts on a quiz show! It just goes to show how the mighty can fall on television, doesn't it? It also goes to show what politicians will do to get on television. They'll do anything. Anything at all. Just wait till the next campaign. They'll be doing rope tricks or toe dancing with the chorus on the Ed Sullivan show.

Last fall, if you happened to watch the great big (and real dull) show that opened the CBS Television City in Hollywood, you would have seen two of the biggest hams in the political fold. Mayor Fletcher Bowron, of Los Angeles, who — by the oldest coincidence — happened to be in a red hot race for mayor, suddenly hove on to the screen, bandied wisecracks with Jack Benny and wound up helping Benny push his Maxwell off the stage. Governor Warren on the same show did a comedy skit with Gracie Allen.

Both men got pretty good notices and, of course, that's like waving Jose Ferrer in front of a bull. Mayor Bowron charged right back in front of the cameras, pawing and snorting, on the Burns and Allen show. Did the dishes in the Burns kitchen and exchanged gags with Gracie with the assurance of a man who has already been on the Jack Benny show and hasn't much else to look forward to, except possibly the governorship. Instead he was defeated for mayor a) in spite of b) because of (choice of one) these appearances.

Well, sir, you can easily see where all this is going to lead us. In the last election, the candidates first became aware of television, largely because it had propelled Senator Kefauver into national prominence and Rudolph Hally into the presidency of the New York City Council. Politicos started boning up. They learned to wear blue shirts and—some of them—to brush their teeth. CBS ran a TV school for politicians in which Walter Cronkite taught the boys how to sit, stand, walk, talk, and read a script. It was after one of these sessions that Senator Irving Ives declared—one of the more memorable political utterances of our time—that he had learned to look the audience in the eye, something politicians have been avoiding for years.

But that was last year, when the boys contented themselves with panel "think" shows, before they discovered comedy. Wait till the next election. Then this bit about learning how to read and to walk will be considered kid's stuff. Your candidate will be on the telephone, screeching at the makeup department that the eye shadow was all wrong. I can just hear some senator belting his writers around:

"Jackie Gleason got all the laughs! What am I—a straight man? Now in this scene with Milton Berle, he gets three pratfalls, I only get two. How do you suppose that will go down with the voters in Idaho? Wait a minute! There's the phone—my agent. No, Mannie, I positively will not appear on the Sid Caesar show! Follow Senator Kefauver! Are you crazy? He catches me on the Burns and Allen show, steals all my best lines and then uses them a week ahead of me on the Saturday night crowd.

"Either I precede Kefauver or I don't play. Say, did you catch him on Red Buttons last night? That bit about 'Pay the two dollars'. I discarded that when I was running for dogcatcher in Pocatello" . . .

Daily Bridge Lesson

by Shepard Barclay

BID AND PLAY CONTRAST

WHAT a terrific difference there is between the results attained by fine players and duffers in contract bridge. The gap is undoubtedly wider between the two grades of skill than in any other game yet invented. It manifests itself sometimes in both the bidding and the play, with the better players reaching a high contract and making it, whereas the others get to a relatively low one and fail to make it.

At Table 1. North's 2-Diamonds confirmed South's heart suit for trumps and, since it was followed by his Blackwood 4-No Trumps, it indicated a blank in the hostile suit, South's Blackwood responses being therefore limited to his honors in the other three suits. When he showed all three of those kings with 6-Spades, the grand slam was North's obligatory call.

The diamond A lead was ruffed and East was played for all missing honors, since he made the first overcall. So the heart A was scored, the J was finessed and the K felled the Q. The club K and A won. South intended next to ruff up clubs, but the drop of the Q on the A made all of the tricks solid for him, so he merely had to score his established winners.

He was then amazed to learn that at the other table South had not even made his 4-Hearts, let alone extra tricks. Here's the way that was botched. The diamond A lead was ruffed, the spade A and K scored, also the heart A and K, and a heart was led to the Q. East's diamond K return was ruffed by dummy's last trump. The club K was won and the club J finessed to the Q. East thereupon raked in three diamond honors to give his side five tricks and beat the game two. The total swing between the two tables was five tricks.

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. Virginia Kinser, on her birthday, August 17 and who passed away August 14, 1950.
Thinking today, thinking.
Longing dear Mother for you.
Wishing the sky would open,
Just for a glimpse of you.
Watch over me from above, dear Mother.
Protect me here below.
Guide me always in the path
As you would want me to go.
Take my hands when days are dark,
Comfort me when I cry.
Walk with me in this weary life,
Always by my side.
Written by,
MRS. DAVIS FIELDS, SISTERS and BROTHERS

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere appreciation to our friends, neighbors and relatives for their acts of kindness at the time of the death of our beloved husband and father, Merl N. Hivick. We also wish to thank the Pallbearers and all those who sent floral tributes, messages of condolence, or donated the use of their automobiles.

His wife and daughter

In Memoriam

In memory of my dear Mother, Mrs. Virginia Kinser, on her birthday, August 17 and who passed away August 14, 1950.

Thinking today, thinking.
Longing dear Mother for you.
Wishing the sky would open,
Just for a glimpse of you.
Watch over me from above, dear Mother,
Protect me here below.
Guide me always in the path
As you would want me to go.
Take my hands when days are dark,
Comfort me when I cry.
Walk with me in this weary life,
Always by my side.

Written by,
MRS. DAVIS FIELDS, SISTERS and BROTHERS

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Philip Jenkins Downton, Ethel Mae Hall and George Hall, her husband, James V. Downton and Vera Downton, his wife, Flora E. Clark and John Clark, her husband, and Ellen V. Stewart and Lawrence Stewart, her husband, Plaintiffs, vs. William Harold Downton, Jr., and Phyllis Mae Downton, Defendants. No. 23303 Equity in The Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill of Complaint filed in the above entitled cause sets forth that William H. Downton, Sr., departed this life intestate and unmarried in February of 1951, at which time he owned a piece of property known as Lot No. 9 of Block 13 in Beall's First Addition to Frostburg, Allegany County, Maryland; that said William H. Downton, Sr., left surviving him as his only heirs at law a son, Philip J. Downton, who is an unmarried adult, a daughter, Ethel Mae Hall, an adult who is married to George Hall; a son, James V. Downton, an adult who is married to Vera Downton; a daughter, Flora E. Clark, an adult who is married to John Clark; a daughter, Ellen V. Stewart, an adult who is married to Lawrence Stewart; a grandson, William H. Downton, Jr., an adult who is unmarried; and a granddaughter, Phyllis Mae Downton, an unmarried infant who is now about 19 years of age, which grandchildren are the only children of William H. Downton, Jr., a son of the said William H. Downton, Sr., which son departed this life on January 18, 1947. The Bill further recites that each of the aforementioned children own an undivided one-sixth interest in said property and each of said grandchildren own an undivided one-twelfth interest in said property; that there has been no administration upon the estate of William H. Downton, Sr. in the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, and that the complainants have been advised that under and by virtue of Section 119 of Article 93 of the Public General Laws of Maryland, a notice to creditors of the said William H. Downton, Sr., can be ordered by this Court in order to dispose of any cloud on the title to said property which may be caused by a lack of any administration on the estate of William H. Downton, Sr., and that the decree in this cause should provide for the foregoing notice to any possible creditors of the said William H. Downton, Sr.; that said property is improved by a dwelling known as 123 Wood Street and a garage which said improvements, together with said lot, are not susceptible of partition in kind without material loss or injury to the parties having an interest therein, and that it is necessary to sell said real estate and the improvements thereon and divide the proceeds thereof among the parties according to their respective interests and that said sale would be to the best interest of all the parties in this cause; that the said William H. Downton, Jr., and Phyllis Mae Downton are non-residents of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon ordered this 23" day of July, 1953, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the complainants by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 24" day of August, 1953, give notice of the object and substance of this Bill to the said absent non-resident defendants warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 10" day of September, 1953, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be granted as prayed.

Stock Prices Close Mixed As Buying Support Fades

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Buying support faded away today in the stock market, leaving a thoroughly mixed list of prices.

The day started with a brisk rally that had carried over from the previous session. That didn't last very long, and prices began a lower drift all around.

Ending lower were railroads, steels, motors, oils, rubbers, farm implements, and air lines. Higher were coppers, aircrafts, building materials, chemicals, and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held unchanged at the close at $109.50. (At noon it was up 20 cents). The industrial component of the average was unchanged, while the railroads were down 10 cents, and the utilities were 10 cents higher.

The list contained 1,066 individual issues, 12 more than yesterday, of which 434 advanced and 366 declined. New highs came to 29 and new lows for the year to 13. Volume was 1,040,000 shares as compared with 990,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Motors, faced with shutdowns because of the disastrous fire at its Livonia, Mich., plant making hydramatic automatic transmissions, lost a point at 59. It was the sixth most active issue with 8,800 shares traded.

The most active issue of the day was Decca Records up ¼ at 9½ with 13,100 shares traded.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Philip Jenkins Downton, Ethel Mae Hall and George Hall, her husband, James V. Downton and Vera Downton, his wife, Flora E. Clark and John Clark, her husband, and Ellen V. Stewart and Lawrence Stewart, her husband, Plaintiffs, vs. William Harold Downton, Jr., and Phyllis Mae Downton, Defendants. No. 23303 Equity in The Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

The Bill of Complaint filed in the above entitled cause sets forth that William H. Downton, Sr., departed this life intestate and unmarried in February of 1951, at which time he owned a piece of property known as Lot No. 9 of Block 13 in Beall's First Addition to Frostburg, Allegany County, Maryland; that said William H. Downton, Sr., left surviving him as his only heirs at law a son, Philip J. Downton, who is an unmarried adult, a daughter, Ethel Mae Hall, an adult who is married to George Hall; a son, James V. Downton, an adult who is married to Vera Downton; a daughter, Flora E. Clark, an adult who is married to John Clark; a daughter, Ellen V. Stewart, an adult who is married to Lawrence Stewart; a grandson, William H. Downton, Jr., an adult who is unmarried; and a granddaughter, Phyllis Mae Downton, an unmarried infant who is now about 19 years of age, which grandchildren are the only children of William H. Downton, Jr., a son of the said William H. Downton, Sr., which son departed this life on January 18, 1947. The Bill further recites that each of the aforementioned children own an undivided one-sixth interest in said property and each of said grandchildren own an undivided one-twelfth interest in said property; that there has been no administration upon the estate of William H. Downton, Sr. in the Orphans' Court for Allegany County, Maryland, and that the complainants have been advised that under and by virtue of Section 119 of Article 93 of the Public General Laws of Maryland, a notice to creditors of the said William H. Downton, Sr., can be ordered by this Court in order to dispose of any cloud on the title to said property which may be caused by a lack of any administration on the estate of William H. Downton, Sr., and that the decree in this cause should provide for the foregoing notice to any possible creditors of the said William H. Downton, Sr.; that said property is improved by a dwelling known as 123 Wood Street and a garage which said improvements, together with said lot, are not susceptible of partition in kind without material loss or injury to the parties having an interest therein, and that it is necessary to sell said real estate and the improvements thereon and divide the proceeds thereof among the parties according to their respective interests and that said sale would be to the best interest of all the parties in this cause; that the said William H. Downton, Jr., and Phyllis Mae Downton are non-residents of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon ordered this 23" day of July, 1953, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland, that the complainants by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in the City of Cumberland, Allegany County, Maryland, once a week for four successive weeks before the 24" day of August, 1953, give notice of the object and substance of this Bill to the said absent non-resident defendants warning them to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the 10" day of September, 1953, to show cause, if any they have, why a decree should not be granted as prayed.

Stock Prices Close Mixed As Buying Support Fades

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (AP)—Buying support faded away today in the stock market, leaving a thoroughly mixed list of prices.

The day started with a brisk rally that had carried over from the previous session. That didn't last very long, and prices began a lower drift all around.

Ending lower were railroads, steels, motors, oils, rubbers, farm implements, and air lines. Higher were coppers, aircrafts, building materials, chemicals, and utilities.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks held unchanged at the close at $109.50. (At noon it was up 20 cents). The industrial component of the average was unchanged, while the railroads were down 10 cents, and the utilities were 10 cents higher.

The list contained 1,066 individual issues, 12 more than yesterday, of which 434 advanced and 366 declined. New highs came to 29 and new lows for the year to 13. Volume was 1,040,000 shares as compared with 990,000 shares traded yesterday.

General Motors, faced with shutdowns because of the disastrous fire at its Livonia, Mich., plant making hydramatic automatic transmissions, lost a point at 59. It was the sixth most active issue with 8,800 shares traded.

The most active issue of the day was Decca Records up ¼ at 9⅛ with 13,100 shares traded.

Miss Meta R. Justice Wins Title Of Miss Maryland

Crisfield Girl Tops Six State Entries In Beauty Revue

"Miss Eastern Shore," Miss Meta Ruth Justice, 19, of Crisfield, last night was crowned "Miss Maryland of 1953" at the state beauty pageant held in the Maryland Theatre.

Runners-up were "Miss Baltimore City," Miss Anna Mae DaVinci, 25, of Baltimore, and "Miss Civil Defense," Miss Marilyn Jane Stern, 22, of Overlea.

Miss Shirley Harrison, "Miss Maryland of 1952," presented trophies to the three finalists, and Mayor Roy W. Eves presented flowers to the three winners.

For her talent number, Miss Justice sang "Ave Maria." Miss DaVinci sang the "Marietta Waltz," while the second runner-up demonstrated the new system of artificial respiration as her talent portion of the revue.

The new "Miss Maryland" will go to Atlantic City to represent the state in the "Miss America" contest where she will vie for the $5,000 scholarship award and numerous other prizes to be presented the winner.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Justice of Cristfield, and has had special training in voice and piano. She is five feet, four inches tall, has a 36 inch bust, 24 inch waist, 36 inch hips, dark brown hai rand hazel eyes.

Also last night, an award was given to a fourth contestant who was chosen by the six entries as the most congenial member of the pageant. They named her "Miss Congenial" and the title went to "Miss Silver Spring," Miss Mary Lou Vernon, 20, of Silver Spring.

Miss Vernon was presented with a gold compact by Miss Harrison.

Judges of the contest were Herman Bashore, Meyersdale, Pa., director of the Somerset County Maple Festival; South C. Bevins, manager of WKYR, Keyser; Mrs. Jane B. Daniels, of Capital Airlines, Washington, D. C.; William B. Rannells, of Romney, W. Va., and Mrs. Ralph Roseberger, piano and music teacher of Meyersdale, Pa.

Other contestants in the pageant were "Miss Baltimore County," Miss Virginia Elliott, 18, of Kenwood Park, who sang a song from Sampson and Delilah for her part in the talent section of the pageant, and "Miss Western Maryland," Miss Carolyn Deck, 18, of Cumberland, who sang "One Kiss."

"Miss Silver Spring" sang "My Hero" from the "Chocolate Soldier."

For the intellectual portion of the competition the contestants were asked three questions by the master of ceremonies, Winfield H. Adam.

Adam was introduced by Mayor Eves at the beginning of the contest shortly after a street parade in which the six beauties participated. Organist for the show was Miss Shirley Lee Brinkman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert E. Brinkman, 1005 Virginia Avenue.

Four different area talent groups presented entertainment during the three-hour contest viewed by a near capacity crowd.

They included the "Rythmettes," under the director of Mary Ord; the "Elkettes," under the direction of Harry Tracy; the "Harmonettes," under the direction of Mary Ord, and Mary Kay Poland, accompanied by Mary Ord.

The Weather

Just in case the recent mild weather had lulled anyone into believing summer wasn't still in charge of the weather situation, the mercury climbed back up into the hot range yesterday and chalked up an official high of 89 degrees, four above Wednesday's. The low was 62, and humidity at 6 p. m. was a dampish 64 per cent. Today is expected to be partly cloudy and milder with a chance of scattered showers.

Library Remembers VJ Day With Display Of War Books

VJ Day, almost forgotten in the eight years that have passed since the end of World War II, will be remembered today by the Cumberland Free Public Library, which is presenting a display of books written about World War II by men and women who lived through it.

It was on August 14, 1945, eight years ago today, that President Harry S. Truman announced the surrender of the Japanese.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, local librarian, believes that the books on World War II which the library has available for borrowing take on new importance in the light of present events.

Captain Harry G. Butcher's "My Three Years With Eisenhower," is one of these library volumes which offers an on-the-spot view of the general who later was to become President of the United States, as he was seen by his own Naval aide. Eisenhower's own account of the war is given in his "Crusade In Europe." Also available at the library are "War As I Knew It" by General George S. Patton and the war chronicle of General Omar Bradley.

Not all of these books tell of decisive battles. W. Stanley Moss, author of "Ill Met By Moonlight," tells of the activities of some of the allied undercover agents. "Paris Underground" by Etta Shiber is the story of an American woman who was part of an organization which aided British soldiers to escape from occupied France. Ernie Pyle accurately describes the GI in "Brave Men" and "Here Is Your War." Joe E. Brown pays tribute to "Your Kids and Mine."

Other books of interest are "Three Came Home" by Agnes N. Keith, "Last Flight From Singapore" by Arthur Donahue, an R.A.F. pilot; "Our Share Of Night" by Drew Middleton; "Hiroshima" by John Hersey and "They Shall Not Sleep," a book by Leland Stowe about the time he spent with the Soviet army.

Although the Japanese ceased fighting August 14, 1945, it was not until Sept. 2 of the same year that the armistice was formally signed aboard the battleship Missouri. The latter date since has been recognized officially as VJ Day.

City Will Check Plan To Lease Big Equipment

Right-Of-Way Costs To Be Spread Out

The City of Cumberland will look into the possibilities of leasing expensive equipment in order to lessen the impact of such purchases upon the tax rate.

Mayor Roy W. Eves asked Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, and Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, to investigate the subject.

The idea was broached Monday afternoon as the Mayor and Council began to work on the current budget which includes a $15,354.18 fire engine for the South End Fire Company.

The equipment was ordered last year but not included in the budget, with the understanding it would be included this year.

Mayor Eves explained investment bankers do not like the idea of using bonds for municipal equipment, and the Mayor and Council cannot arrange payments over long periods of time, since they cannot obligate future administrations.

If payments could be arranged over a period of years, the tax rate would not be greatly affected any one year, and the equipment could be paid for as it is used.

The leasing of equipment has gained favor in the railroad industry in recent years.

Divided payments will be arranged for one item included in the City Airport budget.

When the Cumberland Municipal Airport was built, the Potomac Edison Company relinquished its right of way across the property, with the understanding that the city would pay for an alternate right of way when it was needed.

Officials said the firm has advised that the right of way has been arranged and will cost about $7,000.

However, in order to reduce the impact of the expenditure this year, officials will arrange to spread the payments over several years, and plan to pay $2,500 in the current budget.

Phone Workers Agree To Forego Report Meetings

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13 (AP) — The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. resumed contract negotiations today with the union of its clerical and maintenance employes.

The bargaining resumed after the CIO Communications Workers promised not to call the workers away from work any more to attend meetings.

The union had summoned workers in Baltimore, Silver Spring and Hughesville yesterday to hear "lack of progress reports" on the negotiations.

The company countered by declaring a recess in negotiations "in the face of intermittent work stoppages."

The telephone workers' contract expired July 22. Later they authorized their union to call a strike when officials saw fit.

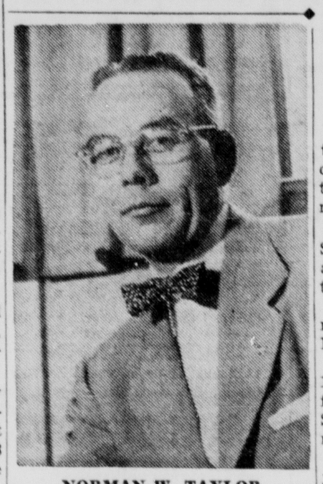

The telephone operators belong to a different union. Their contract expired July 26 and they agreed to extend it for 30 days while bargaining.

Two Amcelle Officials Promoted

NORMAN W. TAYLOR

Norman Taylor Succeeds Loud

Promotions for two officials at the Celanese Corporation's Amcelle Plant were announced yesterday by R. F. Thompson, plant manager.

Norman W. Taylor, 771 Fayette Street, has been named special assistant to the plant manager, to replace John P. Loud.

Loud has been promoted to plant manager at the Celriver Plant at Rock Hill, S. C.

Taylor joined Amcelle in April, 1940. Previously, he graduated from Lehigh University with a B. S. and M. S. in chemical engineering.

Following this he worked for a year for Catalin Corporation of America, plastics firm, before joining Celanese.

Since starting in the Cellulose Acetate Division of Department 10 & 39 Laboratory, he became successively supervising shift chemist in Department 39 in 1941, assistant departmental supervisor of Departments 6, 8 and 8A in 1943, and supervisor of those departments in 1949. He was named divisional superintendent of Cellulose Acetate in 1953.

Well known in local bridge circles, Taylor is a charter member of the Western Maryland Duplicate Bridge Club. He is also a member of the American Chemical Society and the Cumberland Rotary Club. Taylor is married and the father of one daughter.

Worked In Amcelle

In 1938, Loud joined the Amcelle staff to supervise the installation of a new process involving the manufacture of acetic anhydride. In 1939, he was sent to Drummondville, Canada, where he duplicated the installation at the Canadian Celanese plant. In 1941, he returned to Cumberland, where he was named assistant superintendent of Cellulose Acetate Department. In 1945, he assisted in starting up the Celanese Chemical plant at Bishop, Texas.

In 1948, he left Cumberland when he became superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Department at the company's newest plant at Rock Hill.

In April of this year, he was assigned to Amcelle as special assistant to the plant manager to administer the installation of the continuous acetylation unit being introduced here.

Loud was educated at the University of Birmingham, where in 1924 he earned a B. S. C. degree in pure science.

Interested in tennis, golf and badminton, he was a member of the Cumberland Country Club and was one of the founders of the Cumberland Badminton Club.

Alex Rose Advanced

Thompson also announced that Alex Rose, former Rock Hill Plant Manager, has been promoted to the newly created position of director of engineering of the company's Textile Division.

Rose joined Celanese in 1941, performing various engineering duties at the Narrows, Va., plant until 1946. In that year he was transferred to the Central Engineering Department in New York as project engineer in charge of construction of the Rock Hill plant.

Upon completion of the Rock Hill plant, Rose was named plant engineer in 1948, and successively became assistant plant manager in 1951 and plant manager in 1952.

1954 Elections May Boost City Registration

City registration, which has been dropping steadily as the death rate here, is expected to increase soon as plans for the 1954 municipal elections progress.

The registration rolls dropped 16, to 14,491 during July as the names of 11 deceased men and five women voters were stricken off the books.

There were no registrations and only one transfer during the month.

The primary election will be held on Tuesday, June 1, 1954, and the general election on June 15.

Spirited contests are expected as a result of two changes made by this year's General Assembly.

The first is that the Mayor and Council will be elected for four year terms, instead of the present two years.

The installation of the officials is scheduled on the first Monday in July, but may be deferred a day due to the Fourth of July holiday, which falls on Sunday, and may be observed Monday.

The second factor is that the jobs will pay more. The Legislature increased the salary of the mayor from $1,950 to $3,600 a year.

The salaries of commissioners will be boosted from $1,560 to $2,400.

17 Dwellings Are Inspected, Six Condemned

Six of 17 homes inspected by city officials last month were listed as substandard.

The July report of the Sanitation section of the Health Department lists 17 homes inspected by J. B. Dowling, state sanitarian, Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker and officials of the City Engineer's office.

Six of the dwellings were condemned and three have already been torn down, Dowling said. Final action on several more is pending, he explained.

Sanitarians last month checked on 692 calls from citizens and made 585 field trips investigating health problems.

The work included 181 trips on sewage problems, 23 on mosquito control, visited 18 food tablishments, 101 dairy farms and four milk plants.

A total of 23 septic tanks were installed.

Five Youths Held After Auto Trip

Five young men and girls — including a girl of 15—were lodged in City Jail last night after detectives said they admitted having taken an all-night automobile tour of the Tri-State area.

Detective Lt. James E. Van and Detective Roy C. Hawse identified the driver of the car in which the quintet was riding as Norman Miller of Buffalo Mills, Pa.

Miller, now on re-enlistment leave from Camp Gordon, Ga., was charged with driving without a license. Van and Hawse said he and another youth and three girls will be taken to Juvenile Court today.

The quintet was arrested at about 5 p. m. yesterday after someone spotted their car, bearing Georgia plates, on the Cumberland Country Club road.

The group included a 19-year-old Frostburg girl, a 17-year-old Virginia Avenue boy, and two girls, 15 and 18, from near Mt. Savage. Van and Hawse said all five said they had been "riding around" in Miller's car all Wednesday night and all day yesterday. They said they had been as far as Romney, W. Va., and Bedford, Pa.

Chest Approves $104,992 Budget For Agencies

1953-54 Campaign Begins In October

A budget of $104,992.75 was approved for the 1953-54 operations of the Cumberland Community Chest's nine agencies last night at a meeting of the Chest's executive committee.

Individual budgets approved include:

Associated charities, $26,100; Baby Welfare Society, $2,700; Boy Scouts, $8,000; Girl Scouts, $8,200; Jewish Welfare Society, $1; Keating Day Nursery, $5,700; Salvation Army, $14,000; Travelers Aid Society, $1,600, and YMCA, $22,000.

The committee okayed $5,123.74 for administrative expenses, $5,160 for campaign expenses and $6,408.01 for shrinkage account.

The executive committee approved the total budget last night following a report of the budget committee headed by Arthur Gibson. Gibson said the requests of the agencies were carefully considered by his committee, and that although the group felt that all monies requested, with minor exceptions, could have been used wisely for the general welfare of the community, the committee was able to give only minor increases over the awards of the preceding year.

Gibson pointed out this was done to keep within the limitation of $105,000 which had been set as a ceiling by the board of directors. The 1953-54 budget exceeds the 1952-53 awards by $4,000.

During its meeting the budget group was faced with the necessity of dropping requests totaling $119,274.56 to the $105,000 which the Chest Board felt was the maximum allowed and which could be raised in the Community Chest Campaign which will open here in October.

Members of the budget committee were Gibson, chairman; Mrs. Emma M. Everstine, F. Patrick Allender, Albert E. Beckman, Melvin Harris, A. F. Peach, Jr., William Plummer and T. Donald Shires.

At the meeting headed by Lynn C. Lashley, Chest president, regular monthly reports of the agencies were heard and approved.

The treasurers report showed a balance of $14,161.69 on August 1, with receipts during July totaling $3,194.91. Total receipts from 1952-53 pledges to August 1 amount to $80,775.47 or 79 per cent of the $102,000 raised in the Chest campaign last fall.

School Buses To Be Inspected August 24, 25

The annual pre-school bus inspections in Allegany County will be held Monday and Tuesday, August 24 and 25, according to Arthur G. Ramey, supervisor of transportation and physical education for the county public schools.

Ramey has suggested to all bus contractors that they have their buses checked for necessary repairs before the inspection.

The transportation supervisor will direct the inspections and will be assisted by David Davis, a Frostburg mechanic, and inspectors from the State Department of Motor Vehicles.

The inspection schedule:

Monday, August 24, Flintstone, 8:30 a. m.; Piney Plains, 10:30 a. m.; Oldtown, 1 p. m.; Midlothian, 3:30 p. m.; Tuesday, August 25, Fort Hill, 8:30 a. m.; Rawlings (Collins Garage), 11:30 a. m.; Dawson, (Cook's Garage), 12:30 p. m.; Westernport (Bruce High), 1:15 p. m.; Lonaconing (Valley High), 1:45 p. m.; Frostburg (Beall High), 2:45 p. m.; Mt. Savage (Bus Station), 3:15 p. m.

Ramey stressed that after the inspection all major defects will have to be corrected before school starts Sept. 8.

Survey States Trees Can Grow On Coal Spoil Banks

A survey conducted by the West Virginia University Agricultural Experiment Station and summarized in a new 64-page bulletin has conclusions which might be of interest to owners of land in Allegany County from which coal has been strip mined.

"Development of Vegetation on Century-Old Iron-Ore Spoil Banks" is the title of the bulletin which is now available for any resident of West Virginia. The bulletin contains 23 photographs and numerous illustrations showing development of vegetation on old iron-ore spoil banks located in Monongalia and Preston counties.

The bulletin was written by E. H. Tryon, silviculturist at the West Virginia Station, and Rudolph Markus, formerly visiting professor of forestry at the university. The spoils areas discussed are located in Coopers Rock State Forest, Monongalia County, and Gladesville, Preston County.

Tryon and Markus emphasize that the study was undertaken to determine the ability of iron-ore spoil banks to produce stands of timber and grasses. Results of the study should be of particular importance in helping to determine the future growth of trees and grasses on the present-day coal-stripped spoil banks, as both types of banks are similar in nature.

"The majority of the coal spoils, even after their first formation, will support stands of trees which grow satisfactorily for at least 10 years," the bulletin states. "The information obtained from the growth of trees on the iron-ore spoils suggests that growth on coal spoils will continue to be satisfactory for many years if other factors of site are adequate for tree development."

In the last paragraph of the bulletin the authors state "Trees and herbaceous vegetation are growing satisfactorily on old iron-ore spoil banks. Since most of the spoil banks formed by stripping for coal are quite similar to the iron-ore spoil banks studied, it is believed that most of these younger spoils also are capable of supporting stands of timber or forage crops adequate for grazing."

Several of the photographs in the publication show comparisons of timber and other vegetation growth on spoil banks and adjacent undisturbed areas. The bulletin also contains a brief history and description of the areas selected for study.

Library Remembers VJ Day With Display Of War Books

VJ Day, almost forgotten in the eight years that have passed since the end of World War II, will be remembered today by the Cumberland Free Public Library, which is presenting a display of books written about World War II by men and women who lived through it.

It was on August 14, 1945, eight years ago today, that President Harry S. Truman announced the surrender of the Japanese.

Miss Mary G. Walsh, local librarian, believes that the books on World War II which the library has available for borrowing take on new importance in the light of present events.

Captain Harry G. Butcher's "My Three Years With Eisenhower," is one of these library volumes which offers an on-the-spot view of the general who later was to become President of the United States, as he was seen by his own Naval aide. Eisenhower's own account of the war is given in his "Crusade In Europe." Also available at the library are "War As I Knew It" by General George S. Patton and the war chronicle of General Omar Bradley.

Not all of these books tell of decisive battles. W. Stanley Moss, author of "Ill Met By Moonlight," tells of the activities of some of the allied undercover agents. "Paris Underground" by Etta Shiber is the story of an American woman who was part of an organization which aided British soldiers to escape from occupied France. Ernie Pyle accurately describes the GI in "Brave Men" and "Here Is Your War." Joe E. Brown pays tribute to "Your Kids and Mine."

Other books of interest are "Three Came Home" by Agnes N. Keith, "Last Flight From Singapore" by Arthur Donahue, an R.A.F. pilot; "Our Share Of Night" by Drew Middleton; "Hiroshima" by John Hersey and "They Shall Not Sleep," a book by Leland Stowe about the time he spent with the Soviet army.

Although the Japanese ceased fighting August 14, 1945, it was not until Sept. 2 of the same year that the armistice was formally signed aboard the battleship Missouri. The latter date since has been recognized officially as VJ Day.

City Will Check Plan To Lease Big Equipment

Right-Of-Way Costs To Be Spread Out

The City of Cumberland will look into the possibilities of leasing expensive equipment in order to lessen the impact of such purchases upon the tax rate.

Mayor Roy W. Eves asked Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, and Arthur B. Gibson, city auditor, to investigate the subject.

The idea was broached Monday afternoon as the Mayor and Council began to work on the current budget which includes a $15,354.18 fire engine for the South End Fire Company.

The equipment was ordered last year but not included in the budget, with the understanding it would be included this year.

Mayor Eves explained investment bankers do not like the idea of using bonds for municipal equipment, and the Mayor and Council cannot arrange payments over long periods of time, since they cannot obligate future administrations.

If payments could be arranged over a period of years, the tax rate would not be greatly affected any one year, and the equipment could be paid for as it is used.

The leasing of equipment has gained favor in the railroad industry in recent years.

Divided payments will be arranged for one item included in the City Airport budget.

When the Cumberland Municipal Airport was built, the Potomac Edison Company relinquished its right of way across the property, with the understanding that the city would pay for an alternate right of way when it was needed.

Officials said the firm has advised that the right of way has been arranged and will cost about $7,000.

However, in order to reduce the impact of the expenditure this year, officials will arrange to spread the payments over several years, and plan to pay $2,500 in the current budget.

Phone Workers Agree To Forego Report Meetings

BALTIMORE, Aug. 13 (AP) — The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. resumed contract negotiations today with the union of its clerical and maintenance employes.

The bargaining resumed after the CIO Communications Workers promised not to call the workers away from work any more to attend meetings.

The union had summoned workers in Baltimore, Silver Spring and Hughesville yesterday to hear "lack of progress reports" on the negotiations.

The company countered by declaring a recess in negotiations "in the face of intermittent work stoppages."

The telephone workers' contract expired July 22. Later they authorized their union to call a strike when officials saw fit.

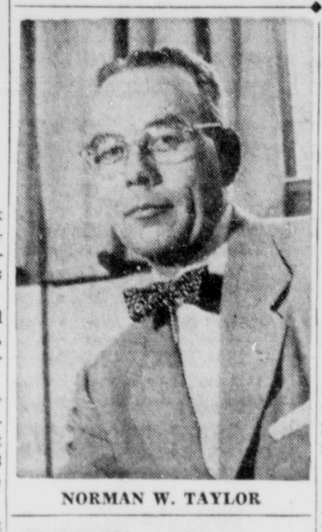

The telephone operators belong to a different union. Their contract expired July 26 and they agreed to extend it for 30 days while bargaining.

Two Amcelle Officials Promoted

Norman Taylor Succeeds Loud

Promotions for two officials at the Celanese Corporation's Amcelle Plant were announced yesterday by R. F. Thompson, plant manager.

Norman W. Taylor, 771 Fayette Street, has been named special assistant to the plant manager, to replace John P. Loud.

Loud has been promoted to plant manager at the Celriver Plant at Rock Hill, S. C.

Taylor joined Amcelle in April, 1940. Previously, he graduated from Lehigh University with a B. S. and M. S. in chemical engineering.

Following this he worked for a year for Catalin Corporation of America, plastics firm, before joining Celanese.

Since starting in the Cellulose Acetate Division of Department 10 & 39 Laboratory, he became successively supervising shift chemist in Department 39 in 1941, assistant departmental supervisor of Departments 6, 8 and 8A in 1943, and supervisor of those departments in 1949. He was named divisional superintendent of Cellulose Acetate in 1953.

Well known in local bridge circles, Taylor is a charter member of the Western Maryland Duplicate Bridge Club. He is also a member of the American Chemical Society and the Cumberland Rotary Club. Taylor is married and the father of one daughter.

Worked In Amcelle

In 1938, Loud joined the Amcelle staff to supervise the installation of a new process involving the manufacture of acetic anhydride. In 1939, he was sent to Drummondville, Canada, where he duplicated the installation at the Canadian Celanese plant. In 1941, he returned to Cumberland, where he was named assistant superintendent of Cellulose Acetate Department. In 1945, he assisted in starting up the Celanese Chemical plant at Bishop, Texas.

In 1948, he left Cumberland when he became superintendent of the Cellulose Acetate Department at the company's newest plant at Rock Hill.

In April of this year, he was assigned to Amcelle as special assistant to the plant manager to administer the installation of the continuous acetylation unit being introduced here.

Loud was educated at the University of Birmingham, where in 1924 he earned a B. S. C. degree in pure science.

Interested in tennis, golf and badminton, he was a member of the Cumberland Country Club and was one of the founders of the Cumberland Badminton Club.

Alex Rose Advanced

Thompson also announced that Alex Rose, former Rock Hill Plant Manager, has been promoted to the newly created position of director of engineering of the company's Textile Division.

Rose joined Celanese in 1941, performing various engineering duties at the Narrows, Va., plant until 1946. In that year he was transferred to the Central Engineering Department in New York as project engineer in charge of construction of the Rock Hill plant.

Upon completion of the Rock Hill plant, Rose was named plant engineer in 1948, and successively became assistant plant manager in 1951 and plant manager in 1952.

1954 Elections May Boost City Registration

City registration, which has been dropping steadily as the death rate here, is expected to increase soon as plans for the 1954 municipal elections progress.

The registration rolls dropped 16, to 14,491 during July as the names of 11 deceased men and five women voters were stricken off the books.

There were no registrations and only one transfer during the month.

The primary election will be held on Tuesday, June 1, 1954, and the general election on June 15.

Spirited contests are expected as a result of two changes made by this year's General Assembly.

The first is that the Mayor and Council will be elected for four year terms, instead of the present two years.

The installation of the officials is scheduled on the first Monday in July, but may be deferred a day due to the Fourth of July holiday, which falls on Sunday, and may be observed Monday.

The second factor is that the jobs will pay more. The Legislature increased the salary of the mayor from $1,950 to $3,600 a year.

The salaries of commissioners will be boosted from $1,560 to $2,400.
